

SEMINOLE GOLF COURSE

Florida State University boasts one of the best all-round collegiate golf facilities in the nation. The university-owned Seminole Golf Course is tough, long and interesting.

The 18-hole, par 72, course measures 7,015 yards.

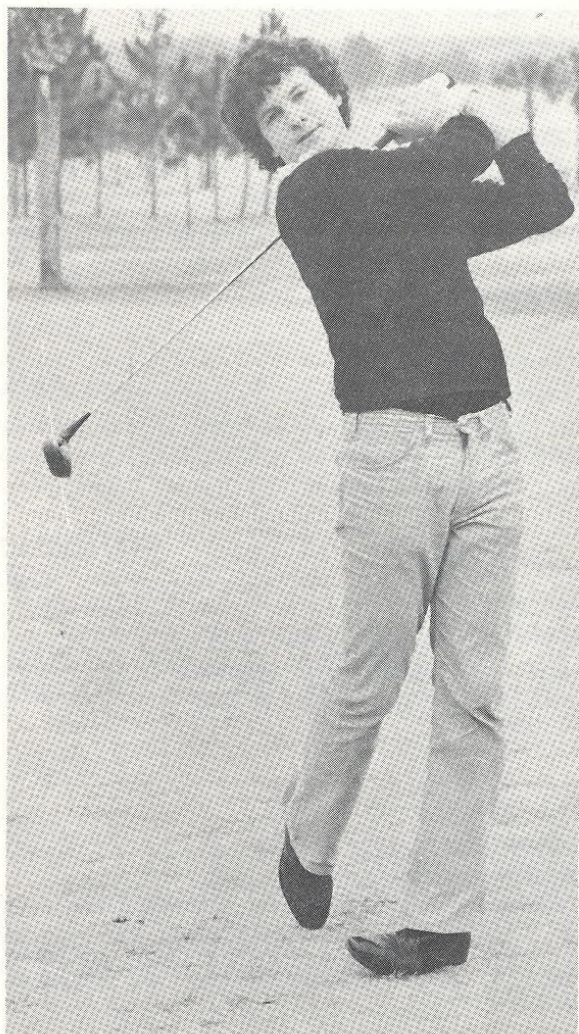

Perhaps even more important, however, are the adjacent practice facilities with their superb surfaces. The practice driving range has 2,800 square feet of hitting area.

The Seminole course is available year-round for play largely because of Tallahassee's moderate north Florida climate. The 80,000 square foot facility is for the exclusive use of students, course members and FSU golf team members.

DON VELLER Golf Coach

When Dr. Don Veller took over the reigns of Florida State's golf team in the fall of 1974, it marked the beginning of the third tenure for the veteran Seminole coach.

The personable and well-liked former FSU football coach first led the Seminoles golf team from 1953 to 1958. His second tenure lasted two seasons beginning in 1967. He guided the 1956 and 1957 teams to a fourth and fifth place finish in the NCAA championships.

Veller holds a bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree from the University of Indiana and maintains the rank of professor emeritus at FSU. His football teams (1948-52) won 30 of 42 games including the Tribe's only unbeaten season of 1950.

Veller, married to the former Frances Brinkley, is a five handicapper, holds a high position in Tallahassee golf circles and writes a weekly golf column for the Tallahassee Democrat.

SEMINOLE OUTLOOK

The success of the 1979 Florida State golf team will depend heavily upon the improvements made by several returnees and the merits of the highly-touted newcomers.

"We play in a very competitive region for college golf," says veteran Seminole coach Don Veller. "Our returnees will have to play well as will our freshmen and transfers to have a good season."

Much of the responsibilities will fall upon the shoulders of Grant Turner, Allan Manne, Jeff Sluman, Mike Grant and Paul Downes.

Turner, a native of London, England, played well last spring winning the 1978 Seminole Classic and placed third in two other tournaments. He competed in the British Open last summer and is a previous winner of the Belgium Amateur Championship and the French junior crown.

Menne, the younger brother of tour pro Bob Menne, has earned quite a reputation around Florida golf circles. The Lantana native captured the Tallahassee City Championship last May, the Palm Beach County crown in June and the Florida Intercollegiate title last fall.

Menne was also selected Florida College Golfer of the Year by Golfweek magazine. He is the second consecutive Seminole to win the honor as Kenny Knox, who is now on the mini-tour, was tabbed in 1977.

Sluman won the prestigious New York State Amateur championship during the summer and Grant finished two shots out of first in the Future Masters.

Several of the new faces around the FSU golf course are Paul Downes, who followed Turner from England only after winning the English Amateur Championship, Florida PGA junior champ Keymont and David Pesacov, who represented Florida in the National USGA Junior Championship last summer.

Among the highlights of the 1977-78 season were a first place finish in FSU's own Seminole Classic, second place finishes in the Cape Coral Invitational and Florida Intercollegiate and a sixth place finish in the prestigious Chris Schenkel tournament. The Seminoles also captured their second Metro Conference golf title.

The 1978-79 schedule includes two fall tournaments in addition to seven tournaments this spring. Florida State will once again host the 10th annual Seminole Classic March 2-4 and the third annual Metro Conference Championship May 11-13. The demanding schedule guarantees Florida State golfers the opportunity to compete against the nation's best.

Florida State has maintained a proud golf tradition through the years. Many top pros and amateurs, including 1977 U.S. Open champion Hubert Green, spent their collegiate years on the FSU campus.
