Florida State will plot a roadmap for success.

The New Seminole Golf Clubhouse

This new state-of-the-art facility will be built on the newly renamed Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course.

Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course

The Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course is named for Dr. Veller in recognition of his fifty years of dedication to Florida State Athletics and the Seminole golf program.

After excelling in Indiana Athletics, both as a coach and a player, Dr. Don Veller came to Tallahassee in 1948 as Florida State University's first full-time head football coach. Veller propelled his Seminole football team to their first bowl game in 1949 and their first undefeated season in 1950.

In 1953, his career and passion turned to golf and he became the Seminoles' head golf coach until his retirement in 1982. During his reign, Veller's teams were routinely among the country's best and went undefeated in 1957. Many from Veller's teams became PGA tour players such as Hubert Green, Paul Azinger, Jeff Sluman, Kenny Knox and Brian Kamm.

In addition to coaching, Dr. Veller has written golf columns and poems about golf for over fifty years, being published in Golf Digest, the Tallahassee Democrat and his own book "Fluffs, Muffs and Really Deep Rough."

Don and Fran Veller, who have already endowed scholarships for golf and football, have made plans to leave an additional $2 million to those programs.

"We don't have any children, so we wanted to give it to a great cause like scholarships and facilities for Florida State golf and football," Don said. The Seminole golf team and the entire Florida State community would like to thank Dr. Veller for his generous contribution to the golf program.

The Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course was dedicated by Director of Athletics Dave Hart, Jr., head women's coach Debbie Dillman and head men's coach Nicky Goetze.

Outlook

Coach Goetze

Leads the Semi 2001 Season.

Head Coach Nicky Goetze has high hopes for his first Florida State squad as it begins the spring season. He inherited a veteran team when named head coach in July of 2000 and feels the team is on the cusp of being able to perform well both in the Atlantic Coast Conference and nationally.

"Our team continues to improve each day," said Goetze. "The players have all been receptive to the new training strategies and ideas I have implemented as their new head coach. I have been pleased with their effort and I feel it will be just a matter of time before success comes our way. We need to be focused each day we are on the golf course and victories and championships will become a reality for us."

Returning senior Mark Donaldson will help provide the maturity the team needs as a handful of talented underclassmen come into the lineup this season.

A pair of upperclassmen, Rick Westbrook and Mark Donaldson, are expected to lead the Seminoles. Westbrook and Donaldson were the team's most consistent golfers during the fall season and are expected to lead the team through a tough spring schedule and into post-season play for the first time since 1996.

Junior Rick Westbrook, who earned the team's top stroke average during the fall season, enters the spring season as the Seminoles' top golfer and team leader. Westbrook earned a seventh place finish at the Kiawah Island Invitational and crafted a 73.75 average during four tournaments. He led the team with four rounds of par or better during the fall.

"I see Rick continuing to be a team leader throughout the season," said Goetze. "He worked extremely hard during the off-season to correct some mechanical flaws in his swing, and with these improvements, has improved his overall game. He is hungry to earn medalist honors this season and I can see his scores consistently approaching the 72-73 range."

Senior Mark Donaldson is another player who Goetze will count on to help lead the Seminoles. Donaldson, too, enjoyed a strong fall season and finished with the team's second best stroke average of 73.91. He led the team with nine rounds under 75 and shot a low-round score of 68 in the second round of the Coca-Cola Tournament of Champions.

"For our team to be successful, we need to be able to count on Mark for consistent scores each week," said Goetze. "Mark plays very smart golf and rarely shoots a score above 75.

Senior Kris Hannah, another seasoned veteran, continues to improve as his confidence continues to grow. In nine rounds during the fall season, Hannah completed five with scores at 75 or below. He shot his career-best round of 71 at the Coca-Cola Tournament of Champions while helping the Seminoles to a tenth place finish in the team standings.

"We need to be focused each day we are on the golf course and victories and championships will become a reality for us."

noles into the

"Kris Hannah has a great attitude, and his intelligence on the golf course continues to serve him well," said Goetze. "He has the chance to finish out his collegiate career at Florida State with a strong season."

Jason Lopez, the third senior who will be asked to contribute to the Seminoles this spring, possesses a solid golf swing and strong short-game. He has begun to show his ability in providing low scores in tournament play as evidenced by his shooting six rounds of 75 or lower during the fall season. He averaged 75.50 strokes per round and carded a career-low 71 in the second round of the Cleveland Golf Intercollegiate.

"Jason should develop a comfort level in his starting role and be able to produce lower scores as the spring progresses," said Goetze. "We are excited about the progress he is making in tournament play."

The biggest surprise player of the fall season was freshman Rusty Mosely. He participated in all four tournaments, averaged 75.50 strokes per round and shot a sensational 69 in the second round of the Coca-Cola Tournament of Champions. Three of his 12 rounds during the fall were 75 or below and two were par or better.

"Rusty Mosley has the potential to have a great spring season," said Goetze. He is capable of shooting sub-par scores at any time and has an excellent chance to win an event this season. He has the ability to improve as much, or more, than all of the golfers on our squad this season."

A host of juniors and sophomores including Peter Mitchell, Al Giebler, Brian Hawver, Matt Ackley and Brad Lusenhop will have the chance to compete for playing time this spring. Each has played strong golf during their careers and could contribute to the Seminoles' starting lineup this spring. Mark Sestillio, the lone freshman on the roster, will also be given a chance to compete for playing time.

Giebler and Ackley are both juniors who have performed well throughout their careers at Florida State. Giebler was a member of the Seminoles' lineup during last fall's Gary Koch/Cleveland Golf Intercollegiate where he averaged 78.00 during the three round tournament. Ackley finished tied for 27th at the Louisiana State Invitational as a sophomore and shot a career-low 71 during the Keswick Cavalier Classic as a freshman.

Mitchell, Hawver and Lusenhop are all sophomores who will make their mark on the program during the remainder of their careers.

Mitchell competed in two tournaments during the fall season and averaged 76.00 strokes in six rounds during two tournaments. He shot a career-best 74 in the first round of the Coca-Cola Tournament of Champions. Hawver played in five tournaments as a sophomore and shot a low round of 75 at the Coca-Cola Tournament of Champions. Lusenhop also played in five tournaments as a sophomore and was the third highest finisher in the Seminole Classic.

"Our sophomores and juniors have been working hard to make the difficult step of earning a spot in the starting lineup," said Goetze. "I have been very encouraged by their play during the fall and spring seasons."

Florida State plays six tournaments leading up to the Atlantic Coast Conference and NCAA Championship events. The schedule offers the Seminoles a chance to compete among the nation's top teams from both the ACC and SEC on a weekly basis. The spring season includes one of the toughest Seminole Invitational fields in recent memory and appearances in the Beau Rivage College Classic in Gulfport, Miss., and the Augusta State Invitational in Augusta, Ga.

"The competition we will face from the ACC and SEC schools will place a tremendous amount of pressure on our team each and every week," said Goetze. "I believe a couple of high finishes will allow us to build on our confidence each time we play. Sometimes, confidence is all it takes for a team to take its level of play up a notch or two."

Senior Kris Hannah played well last fall and is among the hardest workers on the Seminole squad.

Nicky Goetze Head Coach

On August 16, 2000, Florida State Men's Golf entered a new era. Nicky Goetze, who guided the Mississippi State men's golf team to a 19th place finish at the 2000 NCAA Regional Championship in just his second year of coaching, was named head coach for the men's golf team. Goetze inherited a program with eager young men ready to become nationally dominant.

"I am excited that Dave Hart has chosen me to lead the Seminoles to the forefront of collegiate golf," Goetze said. "I feel that I can combine my talents as a golf coach with the reputation and backing of such a dominant university to create a golf program with unlimited national potential."

Goetze, who was head coach at Mississippi State for 2 years, is ready to get the program into contention for the national title. Athletic Director Dave Hart, comments on appointing Goetze.

"We are very pleased that Nicky has accepted our offer to lead our men's golf program," said Hart. "His energy and expertise, coupled with our plans for a new teaching facility, makes for an exciting time in the growth of our program."

Nicky Goetze
Head Coach

Goetze achieved success at collegiate and professional levels. He was a three-time NCAA All-American selection and a four-time All-ACC selection.

In his rather new coaching career, Goetze has made a significant impact on all the programs he has worked with. Goetze began his coaching career at the University of Florida as an assistant to Buddy Alexander. At Florida he assisted with recruiting and team instruction. He was also responsible for coordinating the Gator Golf Camps for young golfers.

Senior Kris Hannah receives instruction by Coach Goetze. Coach Goetze has accomplished the goals his players are striving for and his continual instruction aids in the process of improvement.

C Coaches

Following his time at UF, Goetze went to University of Texas-El Paso, where the Miners claimed one tournament championship and did not finish lower than fifth during the fall season.

In 1998, Goetze was hired as the head coach at Mississippi State University. In Goetze's first tournament as head coach, Mississippi State claimed the team title at the G. Gunby Jordan Intercollegiate. Individually, the Bulldogs claimed 14 top-15 finishes, and the team placed fourth at the SEC Championships. Combined with the SEC Championship performance and a first-place finish two weeks later at the Furman Intercollegiate, the Bulldogs received a bid in the NCAA East Regional. Mississippi State finished tied for 10th.

Although Goetze has proven to be a successful coach, most of Goetze's golf success has been as a player.

Dave Beck Assistant Coach

In his second year as assistant coach, David Beck helps the Florida State Men's Golf team with instruction and guidance, but he also serves as a connection to the local community. Coach Beck, who graduated from Leon High School here in Tallahassee, serves as a bridge to the loyal Seminole fans and boosters. Beck continued his education and his golf career at Florida State University from 1986 to 1989. Beck played in two NCAA golf championships and was a medalist in the 1989 East Regional while at Florida State.

Coach Beck graduated in 1989 with a bachelors of science in Clemson, he competed in more tournaments and more rounds than any other player in Clemson history. He was a three-time NCAA All-American selection and a four-time All-ACC selection. He earned MVP honors three times, and was an NCAA Academic All-American in 1992. Goetze graduated with a degree in financial management in December of 1993.

Following college, Goetze played on the Canadian Tour for three years and the Asian Tour for two seasons. In 1995 while playing on the Canadian Tour, he won the British Columbia Tel Pacific Open, and he finished 8th on the Order of Merit Canadian Tour, qualifying for the Canadian Open, a PGA tour event. His stroke average that summer was 70.22.

Golf obviously runs in the Goetze family. Coach Goetze's sister, Vicki economics. After his collegiate career, Beck went on to win at 25 mini-tournament events, and to play on the Nike Tour. Then he decided to return to his alma mater.

Coach Beck currently serves under newly appointed Head Coach, Nicky Goetze.

As an assistant coach, Beck provides supervision and leadership in Coach Goetze's absence. He is vital in the instruction and training of the team.

Goetze-Ackerman, has played on the LPGA since 1994.

Coach Nicky Goetze brings more than just talent to the Florida State Men's Golf Team, he brings knowledge, guidance and experience of the game. With a new coach and a new golf facility, the Seminole Golf Team is equipped with the right weapons to make this season a success.

"Dave Beck has been invaluable to me. He is a graduate of Florida State and was a dominant player during his career. He is a tremendous source of knowledge for our student-athletes and a great assistant coach for me. His extensive ties with the supporters of the Florida State golf program and his dedication to the program have made my transition very easy. He is a huge asset to our program".

1999-00 Meeting The

Despite the tough 1999-00 schedule, the Seminoles wrapped up their season with an impressive finish.

The Seminoles wrapped up the season with two top-10 finishes and six top-15 finishes. Entering the 1999-00 season with only two seniors, the Seminoles knew that many challenges were ahead. However, seniors Guy Bradley and Ryan Felty were determined to lead the tribe through. And that is what they did.

Going into the season, the team knew that the talent was there and how successful they were was only a matter of experience, composure, and of course, the schedule.

"The schedule will be very difficult, but we definitely have the talent," Head Coach Ernie Lanford said. And that was the theme of last year's season.

The talented tribe, lead by seniors Bradley and Felty consistently placed at the tournaments for the Seminoles. Bradley led the team to a 13th place finish at the Bridges All-American Intercollegiate Tournament in Bay St. Louis, Missouri. He shot a low of 73 on the third round to tie with four others. Bradley and Felty led the Tribe at the Mercedes-Benz Collegiate in Jacksonville, Fla., finishing 33rd and 37th, respectively.

Coach Lanford relied heavily on his talented underclassman – juniors Kris Hannah, Jason Lopez and Mark Donaldson. Hannah, Lopez and Donaldson had two years of experience, and Lanford was ready for them to heavily contribute to the team.

Kris Hannah helped lead the Seminoles to six top-15 finishes in eight tournaments during the 1999-00 season.

Kris Hannah led the Seminoles to six top-15 finishes in eight tournaments during the 1999-2000 season.

Challenge

Kris Hannah, a Tallahassee native, placed 10th at the Louisiana State University Intercollegiate Tournament. This was the highest individual finish for a Florida State Seminole last year. His impressive play didn't stop there; he shot a low of 73 at the Bridges All-American and ended up with a total score of 230. The weather in Puerto Rico agreed with Hannah as he shot a low of 68 on the first round at the San Juan Shootout. He finished up the tournament at five over.

Mark Donaldson, who has proven to be capable of handling the pressure of competition, did just that last year. Donaldson led the Seminoles at their own Seminole Classic at Killlearn Country Club in Tallahassee. He finished the tournament tied for 12th place, helping the team grab an 11th place finish.

Jason Lopez came into the season with considerable tournament experience. His leadership was seen in all of his tournament appearances, placing in all five, including the ACC Championship.

Sophomore Matt Ackley had a remarkable year, also. He made an immediate impact at the Louisiana State University Intercollegiate Tournament. Ackley tied with senior Guy Bradley, shooting a low of 70 on the first round. Coach Lanford had high expectations for Ackley, and he successfully met the challenge. Ackley appeared in 5 tournaments and had solid finishes in all of them.

Freshmen Brad Lusenhop and Pete Mitchell made a few impressive showings, with glimpses of a brighter future for the Seminoles. Lusenhop tied for 34th with senior Guy Bradley at the Bridges All-American, finished with a total score of 226 at the Seminole Classic at Killlearn Country Club and tied for 42nd at Auburn's Billy Hitchcock Intercollegiate.

Pete Mitchell, who hails from London, England, made an impressive showing as a Seminole. He played in just three tournaments last year, but finished up his season by placing 36th at the Billy Hitchcock Intercollegiate.

The Seminoles knew that the 1999-2000 schedule would be difficult, but not impossible. The Seminoles used the season to grow as a team and as individuals. Although the season didn't unfold as planned, the Seminoles held their own among their competi-

This is Tallahassee

Near, but far from the glaring strips of neon amusement and the castles and crowds of Disney, lies another magical place in the Sunshine State – one of pow-wows, plantations, politics and great pride. Often described as “The Other Florida” with its deep-rooted history, rolling hills, canopy roads of moss-draped oaks, cool climate and Southern-style hospitality, it is a Florida few have seen. It is Tallahassee – Florida with a Southern accent.

Best known as Florida’s capital, Tallahassee is an intimate neo-metropolitan city where the power of state government, the academic and the artistic are complemented by subtle, old-fashioned charm. It is the perfect two or three-day diversion for the more than 41 million annual visitors to Florida and 13 million residents.

Tallahassee touts a menagerie of sights including one of the world’s deepest freshwater springs, site of America’s first Christmas, a wildlife habitat, Capitol buildings, fascinating museums of history, sprawling plantations, highly acclaimed fishing and hunting adventures and nearby beaches. Spirited area festivals range from celebrations of Tallahassee’s spectacular spring and swamp stomps to genuine rattlesnake roundups and seafood festivals.

With the Gulf of Mexico just 20 miles south and the Georgia border only 14 miles north, Tallahassee rests between the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and the juncture of Florida’s panhandle and peninsula. Nearer in miles to Atlanta than to Miami, Tallahassee more closely resembles its Southern neighbors than Florida in topography, climate and lifestyle.

Accentuating Tallahassee’s Southern persona are lush rolling hills, likened to the seven hills of Rome, and five “official” canopy roads of patriarch oaks. The fertile, rich soil and four distinct, yet pleasant, seasons breed floral brilliance and natural vitality year-round.

Like the city itself, the story of how Tallahassee was chosen as the state capital is rich in history. In 1823, two explorers set out – one on horseback from St. Augustine and the other by boat from Pensacola – to find a permanent, central location for the legislature to convene. The two met at a beautiful site that the Creek and Seminole Indians called “tallahassee” – derived from the words “talwa” meaning “town” and “ahasee” meaning “old.” The rendezvous point remains Florida’s capital.

The “old town” has undergone many changes, but one thing remains the same – it is still a government town fiercely proud and dedicated to preserving its heritage. The Capitol buildings, both old and new, epitomize Tallahassee’s perseverance.

The 22nd floor of the New Capitol provides a panoramic scope of a sophisticated Southern city awash in a sea of flowering azaleas, snowy dogwoods, towering pines, fragrant magnolias, and hundreds of shimmering lakes, springs, swamps, rivers and sink holes. Special legislative viewing galleries are open during the legislative session.

Below, in the shade of giant live oaks, proudly stands the Old Capitol, originally constructed in 1845 and restored to its 1902 splendor complete with red-and-white candy-striped awnings, a dome adorned with stained glass, antique furnishings and political memorabilia.

Across from the Old Capitol are the 40-foot twin granite towers of the Vietnam Veteran’s Memorial, and the blue stone Union Bank, Florida’s oldest surviving financial institution. The nostalgic Old Town Trolley, a replica turn-of-the-century street car, carries passengers through restored Adams Street Commons to numerous other “Tarzan” movies with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O’Sullivan. Safaris aboard glass-bottomed and jungle cruise boats whisk visitors within arm’s length of “The Other Florida.”

Outdoor enthusiasts enjoy adventures including boating and fishing on area lakes, rivers, ponds and the Gulf – just 30 minutes away. Lakes Seminole, Jackson and Talquin are two regional malls and many specialty centers offer many “playing options” – from popular chains to curiosity and antique shops.

Cultural interests are sparked by widely-acclaimed museums and galleries and elaborate entertainment at the 14,000-seat Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center.

Tallahassee is a collaboration of power-play politics and classical character splashed with a twist of Southern beauty and charm. Tallahassee is Florida with a Southern accent.

A perfect example is its famous “canopy roads” streets and thoroughfares lined with 200-year-old oaks draped with Spanish moss.

historical downtown shops for free – unheard of even 100 years ago.

Minutes from downtown lies the Governor’s Mansion – which resembles the home of Florida’s military hero Andrew Jackson – and the 52-acre natural animal habitat and 1880s farm of the Tallahassee Museum of History and Natural Science, which provide the rare chance to walk and talk with native Florida animals.

Tallahassee remains firmly linked with the past as evidenced by the unearthed 1539 winter encampment of Spanish Hernando de Soto, the site of the first Christmas celebration in America. Visitors travel back through time as they stand in the shadow of a giant 12,000-year-old American Mastodon at the Museum of Florida History or explore other historical spots including The Knott House that Rhymes, The Columns, San Luis Mission, Lake Jackson State Archaeological Site, Natural Bridge Battlefield, First Presbyterian Church, Brokaw-McDougall House, Goodwood Plantation and Adams Street Commons. Nearby, alligators lazing in the sunshine and anhinga “snake birds” perched on twisted cypress branches are seen at Wakulla Springs, one of the world’s deepest freshwater springs and site of many underwater scenes in the renowned in the bass fishing world for yielding the “big ones,” and dense forests offer an abundance of prize-winning game. Local wildlife areas such as the Florida National Scenic Trail, St. Marks National Wildlife Refuge and Apalachicola National Forest are among many spots for camping, picnicking, swimming, biking and exploring.

Appealing to the strokes of different folks, Tallahassee also features 99 holes of golf on six courses and a proliferation of tennis centers. Sideline athletes cheer the nationally-ranked Florida State Seminoles, Florida A&M Rattlers and the Tallahassee Tiger Sharks, of the East Coast Hockey League. And always a sure bet are the nearby greyhound races.

WE WON!

Tallahassee’s an All-America City! On June 26, judges from the National Civic League named Tallahassee as one of 10 cities to win the prestigious All-America City (AAC) award from the 1999 All-America City conference in Philadelphia. The All-America City award is the most prestigious and coveted award a community can win. The annual award recognizes exemplary grassroots and problem-solving efforts of communities that cooperatively tackle challenges and achieve measurable results. Judging is based on the overall level of community involvement in solving critical local problems, including public-private partnerships.

“This is clearly one of the most exciting things to ever happen to Tallahassee,” said a jubilant Mayor Scott Maddox. “For those of us who call Tallahassee home, the All-America City award verifies what we’ve known for so long – that we have one of the greatest cities in all of America!”

This is Florida State

Florida State University, a coeducational graduate research institution, stands among the nation's elite in both academics and athletics.

Located on the oldest continuous site of higher education in Florida and building rapidly on the framework of a highly regarded liberal arts college for women, the university has emerged over the past 52 years as an institution of national and international esteem. Its stature is evidenced by a number of additions to its record of excellence in the 1990s:

- In 1994, Florida State was classified a "Research University I" by the Carnegie Foundation, placing it among the nation's top research universities.

- In 1999, FSU was ranked as the most wired university in Florida, and 44th in the nation, in the "100 Most Wired Colleges" ranking by Yahoo! Internet Life magazine.

- FSU established the Bryan Hall Living-Learning Community in fall 1994, a unique academic residential program for freshmen designed to create a close-knit learning environment that benefits from the assets of a large research university. Building on the success of the Bryan Hall program, the Broward Hall Social Sciences Residential Program in Public and International Affairs was launched in fall 1999.

- Former Vice President of the United States Al Gore spoke at the dedication of the National High Magnetic Field Laboratory at FSU in 1994. The National Science Foundation established the $100 million magnet lab in 1990 at FSU, which runs the facility in partnership with the Los Alamos National Laboratory and the University of Florida. A Nobel laureate in physics and a top Russian physicist were among the first scholars drawn to the faculty. The world's largest magnet – two stories high and capable of generating 45 tesla or 1 million times the Earth's magnetic field – was installed in 1995 at the NHMFL, located in Innovation Park, an off-campus research complex.

- FSU created the first multipurpose student identification/banking card. The Card Application Technology Center is a national leader in "smart card" systems.

- In fall 1994, the first tenants moved into the east side of the $85 million University Center, a classroom and office facility at Doak Campbell Stadium. With the completion of the west side in 1996, University Center now provides 550,000 square feet of much needed academic space and a centralized location for student services.

- In 1998, the FSU School of Motion Picture, Television and Recording Arts' graduate film program was ranked in the top 10 in the nation and third among public university film programs. Offering training for one of Florida's fastest growing industries, FSU conferred its first master's degrees in film in 1991 and its first bachelor's in film in 1993. The Film School's students have produced numerous national and international award-winning films.

- The Center for Civic Education and Service was established in 1994, aimed at promoting community involvement and civic responsibility as integral elements of the liberal arts education at FSU. The center supports such service-learning programs as Into the Streets, a one-day community service project for freshmen, and Gadsden ESL (English as a Second Language), which provides educational services to migrant farmworkers. Through ServScript, students' service may be recorded on their official academic transcript.

- Florida State ranked eighth in popularity nationwide among all prospective students, fifth among prospective African-American students and fourth among prospective Hispanic/Latino students, based on the number of students who request that their Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores be sent to an institution. FSU was the only institution listed among the top 10 choices of all three prospective student categories.

- FSU ranked 7th in the nation among public universities for 1993-97 in the number of African-American Ph.D. students it graduated.

- To better understand the world's cultural diversity, FSU undergraduate students are required to complete at least two courses that focus on diverse traditions beyond Western civilization. The multicultural study requirement, in effect since 1991, complements a long-established liberal studies program at FSU.

- In 1999, FSU created the Institute on War World II and the Human Experience to "save the memories of those who saved the world" by collecting letters, diaries, memoirs and photos from participants in the war effort, in order to preserve the materials for classroom teaching, scholarly research and public viewing.

- Capping more than a decade of national prominence in inter-collegiate athletics, Florida State's athletic teams, nicknamed "Seminoles," joined the Atlantic Coast Conference as its ninth member in 1990. The FSU football team won the 1993 National Championship and its quarterback, Charlie Ward, won the university's first Heisman Trophy.

- The Dr. Bobby E. Leach Center, a state-of-the-art student recreation facility, with weight-training facilities, a pool, saunas, basketball and racket-sport courts, was completed in 1991.

- The Appleton Museum of Art in Ocala, its vast art collection and an eminent scholar chair were donated to FSU and Central Florida Community College in 1990.

- FSU acquired the Asolo Performing Arts Center in Sarasota, home to the graduate theater program, the FSU/Asolo Conservatory of Professional Actor Training.

As this list of highlights attests, Florida State has excelled in the 1990s with exceptional strength, energy and vision for the future. Under the leadership of the university's 12th president, Talbot "Sandy" D'Alemberte, who took office in January 1994, FSU will continue to build on the foundation of its history of excellence in scholarship, research and service.

A senior member of the 10-member State University System, FSU was founded as an institution of higher learning in 1851 by legislative act and began in Tallahassee with its first students in 1857.

Today, FSU's operating budget is $525 million. Faculty and administrators generate more than $112 million annually in external funding to supplement state-sponsored research. Three direct-support organizations serve to bolster the university: the FSU Foundation, which raised $301 million in private gifts during the university's first capital campaign, Seminole Boosters and the FSU Alumni Association.

For years, FSU has reached far beyond Florida through international programs in Switzerland, France, Panama, Costa Rica, Spain, Russia and the Caribbean.

The main campus is spread over 455.5 acres in Tallahassee; FSU, which has one of the smallest campuses in the SUS, has been actively acquiring land in the 1990s after years of being land-locked at 347 acres. FSU owns 1,308 acres in Leon, Bay, Franklin and Sarasota counties.

Within the state, the university maintains facilities at its 25-acre campus in Panama City, its Marine Laboratory in the Gulf of Mexico, the Appleton Museum in Ocala and the Asolo Performing Arts Center in Sarasota. The Center for Professional Development and Public Service, housed in the Augustus B. Turnbull III Florida Conference Center on the edge of the campus, provides extensive credit and non-credit continuing education programs statewide.

For years, FSU has reached far beyond Florida through international programs in Switzerland, France, Panama, Costa Rica, Spain, Russia and the Caribbean. FSU's student centers in Florence, Italy, and London, England, are considered by many to be the nation's best in Europe.

Florida State offers 289 graduate and undergraduate degree programs through its eight colleges – Arts and Sciences; Business; Communication; Education, Engineering (operated jointly with Florida A&M University, a historically black institution); Human Sciences, Law, and Social Sciences (which also incorporates the Reubin Askew School of Public Administration and Policy) – and eight schools – Criminology and Criminal Justice; Information Studies; Motion Picture, Television and Recording Arts; Music; Nursing; Social Work; Theatre; and Visual Arts and Dance.

With 1,731 members, the FSU faculty has included nine National Academy of Sciences elected members, nine American Academy of Arts and Sciences fellows and five Nobel laureates. It is backed by 3,002 administrative/professional and support staff.

Library holdings at Florida State include 2.2 million book titles, 16,384 serials and 4.7 million microforms. The main library facility, the Robert M. Strozier Library, is linked by computer to other state university and national research libraries. The Paul A.M. Dirac Science Center Library is located at the heart of the university's science research complex. FSU also maintains extensive music, library science and law libraries. Also providing research opportunities is the tandem Van de Graaff Superconducting Accelerator Laboratory, which houses two powerful atom smashers.

Graduate students, who number more than 5,685, pursue advanced degrees in fields as diverse as business administration and theoretical particle physics. A majority of research done at FSU is the direct result of student effort, culminating in numerous books, monographs and journal articles relating to the whole spectrum of intellectual interests and the practical needs of society.

FSU, a residential campus, places a high priority on its 31,193 students and their needs and interests (of the student population 45 percent are male, 55 percent are female, 21.7 percent are minorities, 2.6 percent are foreign students). The University Honors Program, Disabled Student Services, International Student and Scholar Center, Student Government Association, Flying High Circus and intramural sports are among more than 200 organizations and activities in which students may participate. Situated in the heart of the state's thriving capital city, Florida State's main campus blends Jacobean Revival and modern styles of architecture with the oaks, pines, dogwoods, palms and azaleas of North Florida. Florida State continues to progress and grow – from its pre-Civil War foundation as the Seminary West of the Suwannee, through the early 20th century as the academically respected Florida State College for Women, (returning to coeducational status as a university in 1947) to its modern development as an acclaimed research institution, a top-ranked competitor in intercollegiate athletics and as a standard-setter in the basic sciences and the performing arts.

Florida State University enters the 21st century with excellence in all areas of its mission – teaching, research and public service.

The picturesque Florida State University campus is one of the most beautiful in the nation.

NCAA Information

The following information is provided by the Florida State Office of Compliance for prospective student athletes. It is intended as a guideline to introduce some of the rules governing NCAA athletic involvement.

Who is permitted to recruit for FSU?

Only Florida State University coaches who have successfully completed the NCAA Recruiting Rules Examination on an annual basis may be involved in the recruitment process. Representatives of our athletics interests may not make any recruiting contacts. This includes letters, telephone calls or face-to-face contact on or off campus with a prospect or the prospect's parents.

Key terms you should know

You become a prospective student-athlete if you have started classes for the ninth grade. Before the ninth grade, you become a prospective student-athlete if the college provides you (or your relatives or friends) any financial aid or other benefits that the college does not provide to prospective students generally.

A contact is any face-to-face encounter between a prospect or the prospect's legal guardian and an institutional staff member or athletic representative during which any dialogue occurs in excess of an exchange of greeting. NOTE: At the Division I level, athletic representatives (boosters) may not contact you for the purpose of recruiting. A college coach may contact you in person off the college campus beginning July 1 after completion of your junior year in high school.

An evaluation is any off-campus activity designed to assess your academic qualifications or athletic ability, including any visit to your high school (during which no contact occurs) or the observation of any practice or competition in which you participate.

During your senior year, you can have one expense-paid official visit to a particular campus. You may receive no more than five visits. During your official visit, which may not exceed 48 hours, you may receive round-trip transportation between your home and the campus, and you (and your parents) may receive meals, lodging and complimentary admission to campus athletics events.

Phone calls and letters

Phone calls from faculty members and coaches (but not boosters) are permitted beginning July 1 after completion of your junior year. A college coach or faculty member is limited to one telephone call per week except when it is:

- During the five days immediately before your official visit to the university
- On the day of a coach's off-campus contact with you
- During the time beginning with the initial National Letter of Intent signing date in your sport through the two days after signing date
- Letters from coaches and faculty members (but not boosters) are not permitted until September 1 at the beginning of your junior year in high school. A Division I university may provide you with the following printed materials:
 - General correspondence, including letters, U.S. Postal Service postcards and institutional note cards
 - Game programs which may not include posters and one Student Athlete Handbook can be provided only during official or unofficial visits to the university's campus
 - NCAA educational information
 - Pre-enrollment information subsequent to signing a National Letter of Intent with the university

Alumni and boosters do's and don'ts

You may forward information about prospective student-athletes to the appropriate coaches.

You may have contact with a prospect regarding permissible pre-enrollment activities such as summer employment, provided the prospect has already signed a National Letter of Intent and the Compliance Office is aware that you are making these contacts in regard to employment.

You may have a telephone conversation with a prospect only if the prospect initiates the call. Such a call may not be prearranged by an institutional staff member and you are not permitted to have a recruiting conversation, but may exhibit normal civility. You must refer any questions about our athletics programs to an athletics department staff member/coach.

You may view a prospect's contest at your own initiative provided you do not contact the prospect or his/her parents. In addition, you may not contact a prospect's coach, principal, or counselor in an attempt to evaluate the prospect.

You may continue established family relationships with friends and neighbors. Contacts with sons and daughters of these families are permitted as long as they are not made for recruiting purposes or encouraged by Florida State University coaches.

You may not become involved in making arrangements to receive money or financial aid of any kind for a prospect or the prospect's family and friends.

You may not make contact with a prospective student-athlete and his/her parents when the prospect is on campus for an official or unofficial recruiting visit.

You may not transport, pay or arrange for payment of transportation costs for a prospect, and his/her relatives or friends to visit campus (or elsewhere).

You may not pay or arrange for payment of summer camp registration fees for a prospect.

You may not provide anything to a prospect, the prospect's family or friends without prior approval from the athletics' Compliance Office.

Life Skills Program

Student Development/Life Skills

The N.O.L.E.S. Program New Opportunities for Leadership, Education and Service

Developed by the Florida State University Department of Athletics, the NOLES program represents a commitment to the total growth and development of the student-athlete. This program establishes an administrative commitment to academic and athletic excellence. Those efforts will be supported with programs and services in personal development, career development and community service.

Personal Development

Fostering the development of personal growth is a fundamental component of the NOLES program. These support programs ensure that the student-athlete will be provided opportunities to focus on personal growth issues such as values clarification, goal setting, fiscal planning, decision making and personal responsibility. Programming focuses on helping student-athletes develop a healthy lifestyle while they are at Florida State and habits that will benefit them for life.

Career Development

Preparing for life after college sports is a major focus of the NOLES Career Development program. The program is designed to work cooperatively with the University's Career Services to acquaint students with the job search process, provide networking opportunities and ultimately assist with job placement. This program places a priority on the development of the total person, with the goal of developing individuals who will have rewarding careers and productive lifestyles after they leave Florida State.

Community Service

Serving the community is the focus of our Seminole Spirit program. Student-athletes are challenged to give service to our community and individuals who are in need. With a clearly defined program of service, student-athletes are given the opportunity to develop the foundation for a lifelong commitment to volunteerism. The Seminole Spirit Student-Athlete Speakers' Bureau enables student-athletes to improve their speaking skills, develop effective communication and impact the lives of others through their service as role models in our community.

Leadership Development

The Florida State University Department of Athletics is committed to developing programs of excellence that foster leadership development. The foundation of the leadership development program will be the two councils that represent the student-athletes at the University.

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC) serves as the advisory board to the NOLES program and the athletics administration. The prestigious board, comprised of two representatives of each athletic team at FSU, also recommends programming and serves as a liaison between student-athletes and the athletics administration. The Advisory Council plans and implements various events for student-athletes and serves as the department's most visible ambassadors. The SAAC planned and hosted the annual Golden Nole banquet for the first time last year and recently planned such events as orientation for incoming student-athletes and the back to school picnic.

Florida State's Associate Athletic Director for Student Development, Pam Overton, received the prestigious Gene Hooks Award, given to the nation's premier student development program.

The Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course

The Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course is located approximately two miles west of the university campus. The course was designed by William W. Amick. The first nine holes were completed in 1963 and the completion of the additional nine in 1968.

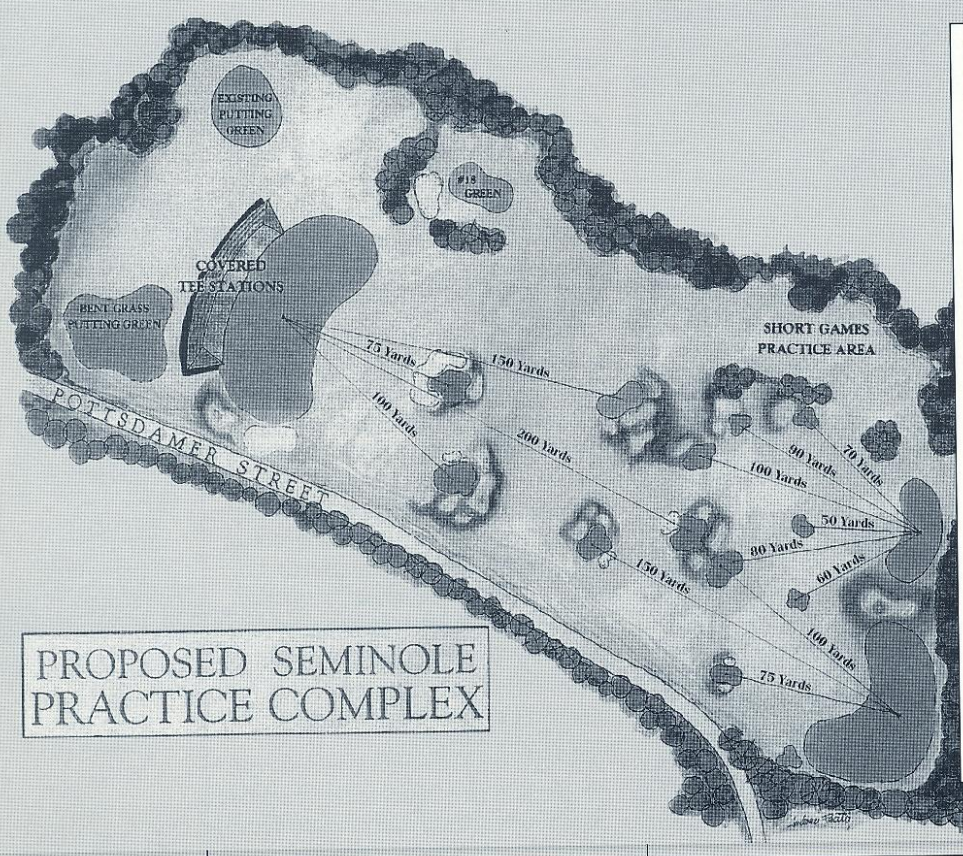

The golf course measures 7,033 yards from the championship tees and is considered an excellent test of golf. The greens, TIFTON 328 (bermuda) are of medium size, approximately 6,200 square feet each. The course rating is 72.0.

The course and practice facilities are considered to be among the best in the country. The Don A. Veller Seminole Golf Course is operated by Club Consultation and Management, a private golf course management firm. There have been many improvements made and within the next five years should prove to be one of the finest courses in the area.

The Seminole golf team also has the luxury to play at many other courses in the Tallahassee area. The majority of Seminole practices take place at the Killearn Country Club, Golden Eagle Country Club and Seminole Golf Course. The team also practices at the Capital City Country Club. Killearn Country Club will host this year's Seminole Classic in March.

Academic Support

Academic, personal and professional support are essential to college success. At Florida State University, we have developed an outstanding support program which enables student-athletes to reach their full potential.

FSU's academic support philosophy is "to offer an academic support program integrated with the total university that will assess all student-athletes with the transition into college and provide continued support in all phases of academic and professional development culminating with graduation, job placement or graduate school."

To accomplish this goal we have developed an academic environment

At Florida State, our academic staff does not wait for an academic crisis to occur. We gather important background information and build an academic profile on all student-athletes to assess their needs in advance.

which facilitates the academic success of student-athletes. Student success is encouraged through competent academic counseling, career exploration, planning and placement and academic assistance through tutorial programs.

Our program operates on a "proactive" rather "reactive" approach. At Florida State, our academic staff does not wait for an academic crisis to occur. We gather important background information and build an academic profile on all student-athletes to assess their needs in advance. We also stay informed on the daily progress of each student-athlete.

The academic programs have moved to the state-of-the-art University Center and is located on the sixth floor of the $126 million facility. It includes private study carrels, a tutorial study area and a computer lab outfitted with 16 new IBM computers and laser printers. In addition, athletic sky boxes are utilized for group and individual tutorial instruction.

FSU offers 16 Schools and Colleges with 99 undergraduate degrees and 75 post-baccalaureate degrees.

The Florida State golf program has been blessed to have excellent student-athletes in recent years. The Seminoles have had four Academic All-Americans in the last 10 years. Steve Greek received the prestigious honor as a member of the golf team in 1986. Roger Winchester and Christian Williams also received the honor in 1989 and '90 respectively.

Christian Raynor is the lone two-time winner of the award, receiving the award in '94 and '95. Raynor maintained a very high GPA while performing exceptionally on the golf course. While at Florida State, Raynor was named to the ACC Honor Roll as a sophomore, junior, and senior. Raynor was also the recipient of the Hubert Green Endowment Scholarship.

Seminoles in the Pros

Paul Azinger

Touched the entire sporting world with his miraculous comeback from lymphoma in his right shoulder blade in 1996. Azinger is the biggest name ever to play golf for the Seminoles. Was inducted into the Florida State Sports Hall of Fame in 1988. He came to FSU from Brevard Junior College. Azinger is considered a very late bloomer, in fact, he had trouble breaking 40 for nine holes as a senior in high school. Azinger holds the PGA's longest active years-with-a-win streak at seven and has a total of 11 tour victories. His career earnings are approaching $8.0 million. He has recorded 10 top-25 finishes in 14 tournaments in the 1998 season. Azinger has represented our country three times in the Ryder Cup ('89, '91, '93) and once at the World Cup in 1989.

All-Americans

The Florida State golf program is rich in tradition that dates back to the early 1970's. The Seminoles have been blessed to have a number of All-Americans pass through the clubhouse doors at Seminole Golf Course. A total of 16 All-Americans have played for Florida State in the last 26 years.

The most prolific golfer in Florida State history is current PGA Tour member Nolan Henke. Henke, who played at Florida State from 1983-87, was a three-time All-American in 1985, '86, '87. Henke, in his final year of play for the Seminoles, finished second in the NCAA Championships, six strokes behind winner Brian Watts of Oklahoma State. Henke was inducted into the FSU Golf Hall of Fame at the conclusion of his illustrious career at FSU. Christian Raynor, a graduate of Florida State in 1994, led the Seminoles to their best year ever and a 7th place finish in the NCAA Championships. Raynor, a two-time All-American in 1994 and '95, won three individual medalist honors in the 1994-95 campaign, including a first place finish in the NCAA East Regional. Raynor, during his career at Florida State, was very effective in amateur play. Raynor qualified for match play in the US Amateur of 1994. With that impressive performance, Raynor put his name on the golf map and among the elite golfers in the country. Raynor is currently playing selective NIKE Tour and Tommy Armour Tour

A Closer Look at the ACC

The ACC, a Tradition of Excellence

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor. However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 47th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 75 national championships, including 38 in men's competition and 37 in women's. In addition, 115 men and 26 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA Champion.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981, Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990 while the Florida State Seminoles pocketed national title No. 4 and 5 in 1993 and 1999.

THE HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members – Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest – drawing up the conference bylaws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws were adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971 when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school withdrew from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.

THE SCHOOLS

CLEMSON – Charter member of the SIAA in 1894, charter member of the SC in 1921, charter member of the ACC in 1953.

Mark Donaldson had developed into one of the ACC's top golfers.

DUKE – Joined the SC in December, 1928; charter member of the ACC in 1953.

FLORIDA STATE – Charter member of the Dixie Conference in 1948, joined the Metro Conference in July, 1976; joined the ACC September 15, 1990.

GEORGIA TECH – Charter member of the SIAA in 1894, charter member of SC in 1921, charter member of the SEC in 1932, joined the ACC in July, 1979.

MARYLAND – Charter member of the SC in 1921, charter member of the ACC in 1953.

NORTH CAROLINA – Charter member of the SIAA in 1894, charter member of the SC in 1921, charter member of the ACC in 1953.

N.C. STATE – Charter member of the SC in 1921, charter member of the ACC in 1953.

VIRGINIA – Charter member of the SIAA in 1894, charter member of the SC in 1921, resigned from SC in December 1936, joined the ACC in December, 1953.

WAKE FOREST – Joined the SC in February, 1936, charter member of the ACC in 1953.

Strength & Conditioning

Eric Johnson, member of the NSCA, is the strength and conditioning coach for the Florida State men's golf team.

A little bit about Eric ...

Eric attended Western Illinois University before arriving at Florida State. In college, he wrestled for two years, and then went on to compete in boxing at the amateur level for another two years. Eric is currently training for the Tough Man Contest, and works part-time at Gold's Gym.

Eric came to Florida State because he feels it is the best program in the nation. Eric has the opportunity to work with several different teams and organizations, such as the Golden Girls, tennis, golf and football teams.

He regularly reviews each player's journal to make sure they are eating right.

Florida State golfer, junior Al Giebler, says, "The food journals are a great idea. Keeping track of what you eat is very important if you want to stay healthy."

Some may think that golfers don't need the same strength and conditioning as other athletes, particularly those in more contact sports, need. Contrary to popular belief, golfers do need to be strong and flexible to be focused and successful.

"If your body is at its best that helps you maintain your focus and confidence. In turn, your game will be at its best."

Eric Johnson
Strength &
Conditioning Coach

The Seminole Strength Complex is a state-of-the-art facility covering 7,200 square feet and is located in the Moore Athletic Center.

Eric on strength and conditioning for golf ...

Eric's main focus in training the golf team is to keep them healthy and flexible as to avoid injury. One way to avoid injury and to stay healthy is to eat right. Eric has the golf team keeping a daily food journal. He regularly reviews each player's journal to make sure they are eating right.

"Strength and conditioning should be a part of every athletes routine, even golfers." Johnson said, "The conception that golfers don't need conditioning is wrong. If your body is at it's best that helps you

NCAA Championships

The Florida State Seminoles, under the coaching of Dr. Ernie Lanford, have been well represented at the NCAA Championships in recent years. The Tribe has placed in the top 20 two of the last six years and the team has qualified for the NCAA Championships four of the last seven years and Seminole individuals have qualified the last five of the eight years under Lanford.

In the 1998-1999 season, the Florida State Seminoles qualified for the NCAA East Regional as the District 3S #5 seed. The Seminoles fell one spot short of qualifying for the NCAA Championships, missing 11th place by seven strokes. Junior Mark Monroe led the Seminoles, finishing tied for 29th with a three-round total of 217. Three seniors finished their careers with FSU at the Melrose Golf Course in Hilton Head, SC. Jason Pool, Barry Dyche and George McNeill all played in their last tournament as Seminoles.

In their last appearance in 1996, the Florida State Seminoles struggled to a 27th place finish in the NCAA Championships at the Honors Course in Chattanooga, TN. Coming off the best finish ever in Regional competition, the Tribe was looking to improve on the seventh place finish the year before. Junior Richard Fulford led the Seminoles, finishing the tournament tied for 47th with a two-round total of 152. Sophomore George McNeill ended the tournament with a tied for 70th place effort. Steve Carrington,

In the 1998-1999 season, the Florida State Seminoles qualified for the NCAA East Regional as the District 3S #5 seed. The Seminoles fell one spot short of qualifying for the NCAA Championships, missing 11th place by seven strokes.

Jason Pool, and Barry Dyche all participated in the 99th Annual event.

The 1995 NCAA Championships tied the best finish ever for a Seminole golf team. Florida State finished seventh in the NCAA Championships held at the Ohio State Scarlet Course in Columbus, OH. The team total of 1168 was two strokes behind sixth-place California. The Seminoles were led by All-American Honorable Mention Ken Staton, who finished tied for 14th with a four round total of 289. George McNeill and Richard Fulford finished tied for 29th with four-round totals of 293. Second-team All-American Christian Raynor finished tied for 35th, while Dennis Tymosko finished 78th.

The Seminole golf team also finished 7th in the 1987 Championships, also held at the Ohio State Scarlet Course. That year, the Seminoles were led by three-time All-American Nolan Henke, who finished tied for second. Henke finished six strokes behind the winner, Brian Watts of Oklahoma State. The final four-day score of the Seminoles was 1191, four strokes behind sixth-place Arkansas.

The 2000 NCAA tournament, hosted by Duke University, will take place May 30 through June 2.

Nathan Bertsch was a member of the 1999 Seminole squad that participated in the NCAA Tournament.

A Word From

Nicky Goetze

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
DEPARTMENT OF ATHLETICS

THE ROADMAP TO ACHIEVEMENT

A Letter to Future Seminole Golfers-

Throughout my development as a player, I have been influenced by a variety of coaches that helped me achieve success in the game of golf. Becoming an all-american, a scholar-athlete or a champion in the professional ranks required desire and dedication, yet the one ingredient that made all the difference was quality instruction.

As the new coach of the Seminoles, my players have an opportunity to draw upon the experience of a leader who has accomplished the same goals and dreams they are striving for. Navigating the challenges of collegiate golf can be a daunting task, and I play a very active role in showing the members of our team how to get better. I provide them with a "roadmap for success."

In order to recapture the dominance that Florida State Golf deserves, I must stress the importance of having a strategy for improvement. Throughout the season, I periodically evaluate each individual's performance and help him design and adhere to a structured training plan. In this way, I am able to utilize the insights I have accumulated from my career to help my players reach their ultimate potential.

Entering college golf with aspirations of playing on the PGA Tour is a common vision among many of today's junior golfers. In some cases talent alone may position them to attain this goal. However, the combination of ability with the know-how of a coach that can facilitate a player's maturity is a complete recipe for success. Surrounding yourself with a coach that understands what it takes to be the best is a wise decision and should be a crucial factor in finding the proper golf program for you.

Sincerely,

Nicky Goetze
Head Men's Golf Coach
