Outlook

After two consecutive third place national finishes, Florida State has found a place among the top powers in the track and field world. A look at the 1983 team will indicate that the program is there to stay. The Seminoles lost just one NCAA point scorer from 1982's squad.

Graduation claimed 400 meter hurdle NCAA champion Tonja Brown, who scored in the 100 hurdles as well. "We'll be hurting in the hurdles a bit this year," says head coach Gary Winckler, in his third year at Florida State and his second as head coach after serving there on an interim basis last year. "But I'm pretty confident that we have improved enough in other events to keep us able to compete."

Winckler's losses elsewhere were zero and a good recruiting year filled in some of the weaker spots to give the team a new look depth-wise. The most impressive credentials of the newcomers belong to Brenda Cliette, a Georgia native, whose abilities will allow Winckler to putter with his lineup in the relays and short sprints.

"I think we had about the same kind of recruiting success as the other powers — Nebraska, Tennessee, UCLA," says Winckler. "It was pretty even across the board. But I think we have more room to improve. With our recruiting year, we have more options available."

The sprinting events, of course, are where Florida State excels. The 100 meters is led by 10-time All-American Randy Givens, who finished seventh in the country in 1982 and 13-time All-American Marita Payne. Both athletes have a list of honors that trail far behind them. Freshman Cliette, the 1981 Junior Olympics champion in the event, should turn in some outstanding times while junior Kim Parrish adds depth.

The 200 meters is as strong as any event in the FSU lineup. This is Givens' specialty; she finished third in the nation in 1982 and has run a PR of 22.3 while Payne picked up an NCAA fourth place finish and broke 23 seconds with a 22.91 clocking. Cliette also runs here as will 400 meter specialist and 200 NCAA qualifier Angie Wright. Parrish again adds depth.

The 400 meters could very well equal the 200 in terms of strength. Payne returns as the NCAA champion with a PR of 51.99 after beating UTEP's Charmaine Crooks to the finish line last June to earn the title. Wright was a top 10 national finisher in both '81 and '82 while Cliette showed in the 1981 Junior Olympics that she could run the 400 too, finishing second. Junior Ovrill Brown, an 800 specialist, runs here and Givens can if she's needed. Senior Scooby Golden concentrates on this race and adds depth.

The 800 boasts of three proven runners and a pair of freshmen. School record holder Brown (2:04.6) finished first in last year's NCAA consolation round while 31-year old Margaret Coomber really began to come on a year ago after concentrating on the 1,500 as a freshman. The biggest improvement may come from junior Janette Wood, who couldn't compete last year because of a foot stress fracture. Wood previously owned the school record. Freshmen Colleen Curran and Kelley Hackler have plenty of time to reach their potential.

Coomber is the leader in the 1,500, finishing seventh in the NCAA finals last year. Wood and Curran will also be used plus junior Carla Borovicka who has found her niche in the event.

Borovicka, who has improved "bunches" according to Winckler, will be the leader in the 3,000 while Coomber has also run this distance in the past.

The 5,000 and 10,000 events have just one entry, senior Janet Bassford. Bassford showed promise last year and turned in some good times.

Winckler is searching for a 100 meter hurdler but he feels secure in the 400 hurdles. NCAA qualifier Chris McKay returns to improve on her freshman season and two experiments — Ovrill Brown and Angie Wright — may prove to be successful.

Florida State's relays, after second place finishes a year ago, may be the most versatile area of the squad.

The 400 meter relay of Wright, Payne, third year runner Alice Bennett and Givens is as good as any; last June it was touched out by one-hundredth of a second by champion Nebraska in the NCAA finals. Add Cliette to that team and Winckler can possibly save Payne or Wright for another race. Parrish also has run a leg on the 400 relay in the past.

The 1,600 meter relay has an equal amount of depth. Wright, Brown, Givens and Payne make up this one. Again, Cliette adds depth and Golden ran on the NCAA semi-final team, in place of Givens, to qualify it for the finals.

Florida State's field team, weak over the past two years, should be stronger in 1983. The long jump has NCAA eighth place finisher Bennett back. Her outdoor best of 20-2½ came in the semi-finals in Provo last year. Cliette also has some experience as a long jumper and could end up competing here too.

The high jump, virtually a non-existent event for FSU before 1982, looks to be well set with NCAA fifth place finisher Wendy Markham and freshman newcomer Cathy Hill ready to go. Markham is a legitimate 6-0 jumper while Hill has potential to jump that high.

Rena Antanelis, hoping to recover from the injuries that plagued her a year ago, will be the leader in the javelin and discus. Her throws last year did not equal her high school PRs but, even so, she recorded the fifth best FSU throw ever (143-7) in the javelin. Carolyn Darville, a freshman walk-on, threw the discus farther in high school than the current FSU record.

Darville will also be the main shot putter with Antanelis the only other squad member with experience there.

Florida State's schedule continues to improve each year. Many of the big meets remain the same; the Lady Gator Relays, the Penn Relays, the Cavalier Classic and the Tom Black Classic. The FSU-Florida dual meet is still there. But several meets are new. Florida State will host a five-way meet with Florida, Michigan State, Kentucky and Georgia in attendance. FSU will also travel to a nine-way meet at LSU and a four-way meet at Tennessee that includes Penn State and Wisconsin in addition to the Volunteers and Seminoles.

The season will culminate with the NCAA Championships, held in June in Houston, Texas.

"It's a good schedule for us," says Winckler. "The five-way meet at home will be a good one. In scheduling the other meets, we've tried to get the best competition we can from the Eastern United States. I think it will prepare us for the most important meet of the year — the NCAA Championships."

Gary Winckler

Head Coach

Gary Winckler is in his third campaign with Florida State's track and field and cross country programs and his first as head coach.

Winckler first joined the Florida State athletic staff in 1980 as assistant coach and after a year and a half in that capacity, he became interim head coach when then-coach Roger Smith took a leave of absence.

Now, Winckler has full reins of one of the top programs in the South. The track and field team has finished third in the nation the past two seasons and Florida State's cross country program is generally considered to be in the top 30.

Winckler was assistant women's track and field coach at Oregon State prior to joining the Seminole staff. Over three seasons, he helped build the program from 10 athletes to a roster of 45 when he left. During that period, the track and field team climbed from the bottom of its 37-school region to a second place finish in 1980.

Winckler has other coaching experience at Lynnwood (Wash.) High School and Seattle Pacific University. He also attended the latter as an undergraduate student and competed in the high jump in the 1974 NCAA finals. While he was at Pacific, the program was consistently ranked among the nation's top five teams. Winckler held the school's high jump record (6-10).

Also an accomplished writer, he has had several articles published, including Perspective on the Back-Layout High Jump which appeared in the 1980 May/June issue of Scholastic Coach Magazine.

In the summer of 1981, Winckler was co-director of the U.S. Southeastern Olympic Development Track and Field camp hosted by Florida State. He is also the southeast region hurdles coordinator for the Olympic Development program.

Winckler received his master's degree in mathematics from Oregon State in 1980.

Al Schmidt

Assistant Coach

Al Schmidt became Florida State's women's assistant track coach and head cross country coach in August. He joined the Seminole staff from the University of Kansas where he was the assistant men's track coach for the past year.

During his stay at Kansas, the Jayhawks were indoor and outdoor Big Eight champs. Schmidt worked on a master's degree at the Midwest school while coaching the KU distance runners in both cross country and track.

Prior to his tenure at Kansas, Schmidt became familiar with Florida State's track and field program while he was head men's track coach at St. Louis University from 1975-80. His cross country team was Metro Conference champion in 1977 and earned the runner-up position in 1978 while St. Louis was still a member of the conference.

Schmidt first attended college at Missouri where he ran on the Tiger track and cross country teams for two seasons. He then transferred back to his native city of St. Louis to attend St. Louis University where he received a bachelor's degree in marketing in 1973. During his senior year, he served as an assistant track coach at the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Schmidt represented the U.S. in Brazil in 1979 where he helped conduct coaching clinics for the State Department.

As assistant to Gary Winckler at FSU, Schmidt coaches the middle distance and distance areas in track as well as serving as the head coach for the cross country team. He is also FSU's recruiting coordinator.

Malcolm Coomber

Assistant Coach

Malcolm Coomber is entering his second season on the Florida State track and field and cross country staff. During the fall, Coomber is involved with administrative duties and assisting the coaching of the cross country team.

When springtime nears, his specialty becomes the throwing events, the multi-events and some of the FSU relays in the track and field program.

When Coomber joined the staff a year ago, he brought 10 years of coaching experience to the staff. The England native has coached international teams and Olympians throughout Europe. He has also served on the British Amateur Athletic Board and has coached the sprinting events for the British and English national teams.

Considered an authority on the physical development of the athlete, Coomber has lectured throughout Britain and Europe and his work has been published by many leading track and field journals.

Coomber, whose wife Margaret is an FSU junior on the cross country team and an outstanding half-miler, holds a teaching diploma and advanced certificate in Physical Education from the University of London. He taught physical education in Britain high schools for 12 years.

He is presently pursuing a master's degree in motor learning at Florida State.

Florida State Athletic Leaders

C. W. "Hootie" Ingram
Athletic Director

C. W. "Hootie" Ingram is in his second year as Florida State's athletic director. He came to the post in 1981 after serving as associate commissioner of the Southeastern Conference.

Since coming to Florida State, Ingram has initiated a $10 million dollar building program for athletic facilities that will include a new athletic administration building and improvements to the football stadium, baseball complex and swimming pool area.

Ingram had been associated with the SEC office for eight years. He was first an assistant commissioner before being named associate commissioner (1978).

A native of Tuscaloosa, Al., the home of the University of Alabama, Ingram played football for the Crimson Tide from 1951 through 1954. He was All-SEC as a sophomore when he led the nation in pass interceptions.

After an Army stint, Ingram turned to coaching. He started as an assistant at Bradenton (Fl.) Manatee High School and was later head coach at Tuscaloosa High School for three years.

He later moved into college coaching and had stops at Wake Forest, Virginia Tech, Georgia and Arkansas as an assistant. His only college football head coaching assignment began in 1970 when he succeeded the veteran Frank Howard as head coach at Clemson. Three years later he joined the SEC as assistant commissioner.

Barbara Palmer
Associate Athletic Director

Barbara Palmer has been with the Florida State athletic program since 1977. As associate athletic director, Palmer is in charge of the women's athletic program.

Since her arrival on campus, the FSU women's program has grown to the point where it is now considered among the top five programs in the country.

All eight women's sports have turned in winning records over the past three years. There have been three national championships won, including back-to-back titles by the softball team in 1981 and 1982. And finally, last season Florida State sent every team to a national tournament, a feat accomplished by only one other school in the nation.

Simply put, Barbara Palmer has been the energy behind that climb toward national excellence. She was directly responsible for the funding FSU women's athletics receives from the state legislature each year. It was Palmer's lobbying that pushed Title IX legislation through the state government in 1980.

So great has been Palmer's impact on the growth of women's athletics in the state of Florida that she was chosen to the inaugural Women's Florida Hall of Fame by Governor Bob Graham last summer. She was one of just six women elected from a field of 226 candidates.

Palmer joined Florida State after serving four years as executive director of a private leisure and recreation services organization. A long-time resident of Tallahassee, Palmer graduated from FSU in 1970 and earned a master's degree in leisure services in 1974.

This is Florida State

Florida State University, nestled in the center of Florida's capital city, is home to more than 22,000 students from all over the nation and from 115 foreign countries. FSU was founded in 1857 as the Seminary West of the Suwannee. Today, the main campus, with more than 340 green acres, is one of the prettiest in the South. Camellias, azaleas and dogwoods blossom under towering moss-draped oaks. From the stately Gothic-styled structures on the eastern end of the campus to the contemporary science complex on the west, FSU has grown and changed with the times. Enrollment has quadrupled since the school became coeducational in 1947, following nearly half a century as FSCW—Florida State College for Women.

Today, students at Florida State can choose from more than 100 career options made available by 14 schools and colleges including arts and sciences, business, communication, criminology, education, home economics, law, library science, music, nursing, social sciences, social work, theatre and visual arts. Also the FAMU/FSU Institute for Engineering began this fall.

The University's location in the capital city of Florida affords excellent study and research opportunities in the areas of government, social sciences and policy sciences. Additionally, the presence of state government provides widespread opportunities for internships and on-the-job study.

In terms of scientific research, FSU excels as a basic research-oriented university. The nuclear physics laboratory is ranked by the National Science Foundation as one of the top four in the nation. FSU also maintains a large marine laboratory on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico.

Florida State counts among its faculty six members of the National Academy of Sciences, including Paul Dirac, a Nobel Prize winner in physics. Kurt Waldheim, former secretary general of the United Nations, recently joined the University faculty as a distinguished visiting lecturer in international relations and law.

When it comes to the performing arts, Florida State ranks among the best schools in the nation.

The School of Theatre is recognized nationally for its leadership and training of talented young people. Burt Reynolds, acclaimed for his work with aspiring theatre professionals at the Reynolds Institute for Theatre Training in Jupiter, Florida, is an adjunct professor of professional and regional theatre at FSU.

The Department of Dance is ranked as one of the top five in the country.

Florida State also offers many varied activities outside the classroom. The Union Program Office presents concerts, movies, lectures, flea markets and other activities throughout the year. For those with more classical tastes, the University annually presents the Fine Arts Festival, featuring the University's best artists and performers, and the Artist Series, which brings big name entertainment to campus. The intramural office also has much to offer, with year-round sports activities available to students and faculty.

The University is home to the only collegiate circus in the country. The Flying High Circus carries a reputation of quality, professional aerial and stage entertainment for children of all ages.

When it comes to intercollegiate athletics, Florida State has established a winning tradition. The athletic program, including both men's and women's athletics, is among the top 20 in the nation.

But it's not just good programs that make the University great. As President Bernard Sliger proclaims, it is the people who make Florida State the successful monument to learning that it is. And he takes special pride in the people—students, faculty, administrators and staff—who are Florida State University.
