Tribe Tonight

by Mark Carlson, Florida State SPORTS INFORMATION DIRECTOR

Florida State's senior class closes its home career tonight. Yes, you fans of David Cappelen, Walter Carter, Gator Cherry, Jackie Flowers, Mike Good, Hector Gray, Ivory Joe Hunter, Jimmy Jordan, Keith Kennedy, Grady King, Mark Lyles, Jeremy Mindlin, Greg Ramsey, Ed Richardson, Wade Wallace, Scott Warren, Gil Wesley, and Wally Woodham this is Norman. That was wide receiver Kurt Unglaub. Kurt broke his foot early this season and will receive a medical red-shirt season which will make him eligible to wear the Garnet and Gold next fall.

Much of the individual publicity for the Seminoles in the last two seasons has belonged to quarterbacks Jimmy Jordan and Wally Woodham. This duo

Although they haven't received as much publicity as some of the other seniors, tight end Grady King, defensive tackle Jeremy Mindlin, defensive end Edenbur Richardson, and cornerback Hector Gray have also made very valuable contributions to this Seminole squad in their own sort of way.

Mindlin has been alternating as a starter with Walter Carter for much of the last two seasons. It has been a situation very similar to the one at quarterback but because of the position, which is not as glamorous, the publicity has not been the same.

Richardson is the backup for Warren. But, Edenbur, who watched his brother, Louis, perform a valuable role at defensive tackle with the 1977 team, is an invaluable member of the special teams.

Gary has been at the cornerback slot, but he can play nearly everywhere in the very competitive secondary. A backup this season he was a starter last year when several starters were felled by injuries.

Not to be forgotten are two players who had their careers cut short by injuries. Gil Wesley started 29 straight games for FSU at center before he was felled by a knee injury vs. Mississippi State. And, tailback Greg Ramsey was performing well this season before a knee injury at Virginia Tech shortened his career.

Our hats go off to these young men, who have been such vital instruments in shaping the destiny of this year's Seminole football team and providing nothing but hope for the future. Their deeds and accomplishments will certainly never be forgotten here.

"And this is a defensive back named Keith Jones. You really gotta watch him."

your last chance to watch them frolic on the Doak Campbell Stadium turf.

"I can't remember ever having the pleasure of coaching a better group of seniors," says Seminole head coach Bobby Bowden. "Much of the reason for our success this season must be placed with our senior ball players. Each one of them, in his own special way, has been a leader for us ever since he arrived at Florida State."

Five of those seniors have been leaders ever since they drew their first starting assignment at Norman, Okla., for the third game of the 1976 season. FSU lost that game by a 24-9 count, but the performances of those five showed the coaching staff they intended to be part of the rebuilding process.

Those five included two of this season's four captains. Mike Good, the offensive guard, and Scott Warren, the defensive end, each drew the starting call at Norman. Also making their first collegiate starts that afternoon were fullback Mark Lyles, wide receiver Jackie Flowers and defensive end Walter Carter.

Another of this year's seniors has been a starter since the first game of that '76 campaign. That is placekicker Davey Cappelen, who leaves Florida State with the knowledge that he has become the all-time leading scorer in Seminole history.

One other freshman also started in has brought the Tribe unprecedented media attention. They were featured on the cover of a pre-season football magazine and also were the subject of a SPORTS ILLUSTRATED story last season. Together Wally and Jimmy have probably drawn as much "ink" as any individual ever to play for FSU.

Ivory Joe Hunter, like Woodham, is a fifth-year player (he was red-shirted one season). Hunter received the opportunity to become part of this season's fine team when he sustained a broken leg in the second game of the '78 campaign. He never played again that season and thus qualified for the medical red-shirt.

Seminole Seniors Say Good-bye ...and FSU Football will surely miss them.

by Elgin White, FSU SPORTS INFORMATION

It is extremely difficult to determine exactly what ingredients mesh together to form a winning or a championship football team . . . there are so many. The difficulty is determining which ingredient plays the more important role in that development.

Perhaps it begins at the top with coaching. Then comes recruiting. Then comes ability, followed closely by desire and determination.

But the one ingredient that seems to be overlooked by the average fan is the condiment that coaches look for first on any football team . . . leadership.

And leadership on a football team in the main comes from the seniors . . . the men who have been through four years of gridiron wars . . . the men who know where it is at and what it takes to be winners.

Sometimes strong leadership comes from underclassmen . . . this has happened on the Florida State football team many times . . . examples being former quarterback Gary Huff when he was a junior . . . present quarterback Wally Woodham when he was a junior . . . present nose guard Ron Simmons in this his junior year . . . and the roll call could go on and on, but in the main the leadership must come from the men with experience.

Perhaps that is why it is doubly satisfying to a coaching staff to have the senior leadership that makes a highly successful season.

This year's Seminole team has had the best. Starting with the four co-captains, Mike Good, Scott Warren, Wally Woodham and Ivory Joe Hunter . . . the list of seniors playing their final home game today for the Seminoles is a roster of leadership and all around team spirit.

"It is always great to have the senior leadership we coaches all need on a team," Bobby Bowden said. "But you hate to see players like we have finishing up their careers here and moving on to what we all know will be bigger and better things. I cannot say enough about our senior leadership this year. It has meant so much to our squad, especially in the tight games where we had to come from behind and show the poise of a good football team. This poise and determination came from our senior players, as it does with seniors on almost every football team.

"I have never been associated with a group of senior players who have shown the experience of four-year men coupled with the enthusiasm of a fuzzy-cheeked freshman."

It is easy to assess the value of certain players on the team, simply by bringing out the statistics. You can do this both offensively and defensively, but they are only figures on a piece of paper. They in no way can describe the four years of anguish, joy, depression, elation, pain, humility, glory, and plain old good times that the seniors have had as members of this football team.

But measurement has to start somewhere, so we will go with statistics as a barometer, of sorts, of what these seniors have meant to the 1979 Seminoles.

It is only natural, either by press coverage, the positions they play, or the attention they receive, that we start with the quarterbacks.

Wally Woodham and Jimmy Jordan have been the field generals . . . the big ingredient that determined whether or not the team could move it. Coach Bowden was fortunate in that he has had senior leadership from Woodham and Jordan for TWO years . . . they provided it as juniors last season. And they both certainly fulfilled that role to the hilt this season.

Woodham, nicknamed "The Surgeon" for his ability to slice through opposing pass defenses, and Jordan, nicknamed both "Huck" and "The Rifleman," have neither one approached season or career records that other great Florida State passers have established. To date, for example, Wally's passing stats (prior to the South Carolina game) would read: 431 attempts, 248 completions, 18 interceptions for 3268 yards and 22 touchdowns. And Jimmy's card would read: 540 attempts, 267 completions, 31 interceptions, 3854 yards and 34 touchdowns.

But this is an unfair comparison to the record breaking antics of Gary Huff, for example, who passed for a career 6378 yards. Wally and Jimmy did their yardage and point making on a half-time basis. The two have almost the same number of playing time minutes because of Coach Bowden's unique two-quarterback system. Now, if you compare both their passing records for yardage and TD passes thrown, it would read: Huff 6086 yards and 52 TD's . . . Woodham and Jordan 7122 yards and 56 touchdown passes. That would put the Dynamic Duo ahead of all FSU record makers if you multiplied their playing time with the statistical accomplishments.

Because of their share the wealth program of play at Florida State, neither Woodham nor Jordan will appear in the record books among the leaders, but when it comes to the value to the team, they both would head the list. In the hey-days of Gary Huff, Bill Cappleman, Kim Hammond and Steve Tensi, all great Seminole quarterbacks, only with the record of 9-1-1 established in 1964 with Tensi, did the Seminoles approach the overall composite record that has been established by the Woodham-Jordan leadership years. When Bowden took over in 1976, the record was 5-6, then went to 10-2 followed by 8-3 and up all-time FSU high.

None of this year's crop of seniors is going to approach Larry's peak, but the strong brute-like rushes of Mark Lyles has a place in Seminole annals.

Lyles' running yards total 1857 as of this writing, and with that mark he moves all the way from seventh to second place in individual career rushing for a Seminole, right behind Key. Lyles' record supercedes former second placer Tom Bailey's 1,714 by a wide margin.

Mark was a straight up and down runner when he came here in 1976 as a freshman out of Buffalo, New York. He ran about the same in 1977, more like an extended totem pole, but in 1978 and this season, Coach Bowden and his staff have gotten Lyles to be more like a battering-ram, and some of his rushes this year would make Hagar the Horrible look like a piker when it came to whomping into the Larry Key experienced in his last season, but a mid-season injury knocked him out for the year, after he had gathered 181 yards in 31 carries for a nifty 4.4 average.

But as if fate decreed it so, Cherry another one of our departing seniors, shifted into the vacated slot and did his thing for 118 yards in 76 carries before he, too, was sidelined against Mississippi State and has not yet returned. This year Seminole fans could without rancor yell, "Go Gator!" and Gator Cherry did his best for them.

The Seminole senior runningbacks did their thing this year, and without their contribution, we would have no high ranking football team in Campbell stadium.

Fortunately for next year's passing game, only one tight end leaves the fold. Dependable and as steady as the rain, Grady King has been a fixture on the end of that offensive line for to this printing, 8-0.

Gil Wesley

Mike Good

Huck and The Surgeon will long be remembered after they have finished their final home game here tonight as the best one-two punch since Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of the 1956 New York Yankees.

Because of the phenomena that is the Seminole passing game, the Tribe runners have had to play second fiddle in the over-all scheme of FSU offense. Thus has it been so since the halcyon days of Bill Peterson, who, in contrast to Woody Hayes, didn't know what a run was for as long as you could pass.

This submergence of runners broke out of the mold in 1975, 1976 and 1977 when Larry Key ambled up and down the turf to the tune of 2953 yards, an opposition.

He has indeed been the strongest fullback ever to wear the Garnet and Gold, and one of Bowden's top priorities in the coming recruiting season will be to find a replacement for Lyles.

Two 1979 seniors didn't figure much in the rushing plans of the 'Noles. Greg Ramsey and Gator Cherry were set in behind Homes Johnson and Keith Kennedy.

But Homes didn't come back to school this fall and senior Kennedy, a workhorse and dedicated runner, didn't have the speed for the Seminoles' running back plans, so Ramsey moved to the fore.

It looked as if Greg was going to have the same kind of senior year that three seasons, and as of this writing, King has totaled 522 yards in receptions, including five touchdowns. Not a bad career's work for the quiet man who toils in a position that is not as glamorous as the wide-outs, but who nonetheless has to be one of the smartest players on the team for receiving and blocking purposes. King is in the same mold as other great Seminole tight ends such as Garry Parris and Ed Beckman, now both in the pros.

One of the players leaving after this season who will be sorely missed is the smallest fella on the field . . . the "Mouse", Li'l Davey Cappelen. In these days of side-winding place kickers, Cappelen is the perfect example of how a 5-9, 155 pound (dripping wet) football player can be perhaps the most valuable man on the squad.

Cappelen entered this season as Florida State's all-time career scoring leader, having compiled 169 with his talented toe before the 1979 bell rang. To this writing he has kicked 56 points this season, giving him a career mark of 225 points. Trailing the Mouse in scoring for the 'Noles is Barry Smith with 164.

Still another senior on the offensive team is a little guy by the name of Wade Wallace. You don't hear much about fellas like Wallace who play on the specialty teams, but ask the many runners returning kicks who people like these are, and they also had a chance or two in the final minutes of every game. Wade was one of the hardest working men on the team, and we all have to remember it is the rest of the 95 players moving around out there on the practice field every day that makes the ink-getters and more well-known stars get their billing.

The 1980 Seminoles will have a head start when it comes to offensive linemen. Only two of this year's outstanding team, center Gil Wesley and guard Mike Good, will be graduating. But those are two mighty big holes to fill, and Bobby Bowden has so stated on more than one occasion.

Wesley didn't miss a snap from center for almost three seasons until a knee injury sidelined him in Mississippi State encounter. It finished his collegiate career with an operation, but his offensive performance the two and a half seasons he was in the pits was highlighted with a third team selection on the FOOTBALL NEWS All-American team as a sophomore. At 6-1 and 215 pounds Gil doesn't look much like a football player, but again, size fools you.

Mike Good has an apropos name for his talents when it comes to the game of football. When he was a freshman in 1976, Mike got a pretty good baptism of fire when he drew a starting call at guard against a team named Oklahoma. After seeing part-time duty the rest of that year and 1977, Mike started all 11 games last season and was regarded by the offensive coaches as the best lineman participating in 1979 spring drills.

He didn't leave it on the practice field, either, for his performances in every game this season were superb, and gives Bowden one more space filling headache when the recruiting season gets into full swing.

Defensively, the Seminoles will not be hurt quite as bad by graduation as the offense. Number-wise, that is, not talent-wise.

Playing their final regular season home game for the G&G tonight are defensive end Scott Warren, tackle Jeremy Mindlin, end Edenbur Richardson, tackle Walter Carter and defensive backs Ivory Joe Hunter and Hector Gray.

Few defensive players in the past decade have received or deserved the attention that has been garnered by Scott Warren. If there ever was a perfect example of the clean-cut, All-American boy it is Scott. Not only is he an outstanding football player, but an outstanding man. Scheduled to go into medical school following his graduation from Florida State, Warren also will make an outstanding physician.

This year, again at this writing, Scott has made a total of 56 tackles including two important quarterback sacks. An intensive young man, when he finishes a practice session with the Seminole football team, he spends evening hours working in the emergency room at Tallahassee Memorial Research Center.

Jeremy Mindlin, the affable giant from Miami, could qualify as the Quiet Man on the Seminole defensive front. He doesn't jabber a lot, but lets his huge paws and strong arms do the talking for him in a football game.

Jeremy was in and out of the line during the 1977 season, but came into his own last season when he earned a starting berth. Mindlin is one of the strongest players on the team, ranking just behind Ron Simmons and guard Mike Good in the number of total pounds on bench press and power clean.

A strong wrestler, Jeremy has won the campus wrestling championship in his weight class for the past three years. He indeed will leave a large hole to be filled.

Edenbur Richardson from Crystal River, came right on to follow in the senior heroics his brother Louis did for the Seminoles in 1977. Louis was sorta hanging around for three seasons, but in the '77 banner campaign, Richardson took over to be the leading light on the defensive line.

Edenbur did his part this season,

Edenbur Richardson

...not be forgotten

too. His greatest contributions to Seminole victories came with key recoveries against Virginia Tech and Mississippi State. The one against State in the end zone saved a touchdown and probably was the turning point in the 17-6 Tribe victory.

The Seminoles got a reprieve on retaining the services of defensive back Ivory Joe Hunter for this year. He was scheduled to graduate in 1978, but a broken leg in the second game of the season gave him another year, and Bobby Bowden faces Mecca at least three times a day in thanks for having co-captain Hunter around one more time. Only one time in FSU history a player has been elected co-captain twice in a row.

Hunter led the team in interceptions in his junior year with four, and this season, with the defensive line and linebackers handling their jobs with such verve, Hunter still has managed 31 tackles, had one intercept, recovered one fumble and caused a fumble. Not a bad season's work for one of the Seminoles' long line of Tallahassee Leon graduates.

Walter Carter, the massive defensive tackle from Richmond, Virginia, has had his big hand in more than one key tackle for the 'Noles this super season. On more than many occasions, you would always see No. 76 getting up from the bottom of a big pile-up on a no gain play in the middle. And on other occasions No. 76 has hauled runningbacks down... from BEHIND no less!

Carter has been in on 30 tackles this year, and has had one quarterback sack, but those figures are deceiving. For the most part, opposing teams simply try to run away from Carter, and he has had to chase 'em down.

Cornerback Hector Gray is the other departing member of the FSU secondary. His career at FSU has been hindered a great deal by injuries, but he has seen as much action this year as those injuries would allow and has played up to his ample capabilities.

He has filled in capably in the defensive backfield when others were out for one reason or another and has been a key factor in the outstanding record the FSU secondary has posted this season.

As with all seniors, these men will soon be long gone, but as the old expression has the best way yet of putting it... they will never be long forgotten.

Tribe Cagers Prepare for 1979-80 Season

by Mark Carlson, Florida State SPORTS INFORMATION DIRECTOR

"Basketball Joe Williams Style" begins its second act at Florida State in just two weeks.

The Seminoles' second season with Williams as the head coach initiates November 30 when the Tribe host Florida A & M in Tully Gym. It will be the first meeting ever on the hardwood for the two Tallahassee universities that sport outstanding athletic tradition.

"It's going to be an interesting season," says Williams, who made sure the campaign would be that way by upgrading the schedule.

In addition to the rugged Metro Conference that will include home-and-home games with Cincinnati, Louisville, Memphis State, Tulane, St. Louis and Virginia Tech, two-game series have also been scheduled with Jacksonville and South Florida with single dates against Florida and Florida Southern.

Adding prestige to the schedule are dates with Minnesota and Marquette. The Seminoles have traded blows with Minnesota before but this is the first time the Marquette Warriors have been on the menu.

Thus, this club will have a tough time matching the surprising 19-10 efforts of last year's quintet. That group, despite numerous problems in a rebuilding season, still advanced to the finals of the conference tournament before losing to Virginia Tech.

"One of the reasons for the success was that we had a team which played together," Williams said. "The players knew that if they did not play as one they didn't have a chance to win."

Keying those victories was the combination that came to be known as "Jackson-Brown."

Tony Jackson, who will be a senior this year, is the quarterback of the Tribe. He guides the attack and has an uncanny "court sense" in his ability to find the open man. And, he is one of the finest defensive players around, forcing opponents into turnovers that provide FSU with the ball and scoring opportunities.

Brown had the year many collegiate players dream about but few enjoy. He averaged 21.7 points per game, but shot an incredible 69.1 percent from the floor to lead all NCAA Division I players in the field goal percentage. A good season in 1979-80 will allow Brown to become the leading percentage shooter of all time in the NCAA.

"Jackson-Brown" forms the nucleus of this year's team, but the supporting cast is also going to be familiar.

Back after sitting out 27 games last season is Mickey Dillard, who probably is the quickest guard in the country. The junior from Dania, Fla., broke his leg following the second game of the season and received a medical red-shirt season. Big things are expected from Mickey, who averaged 20.0 points per game last season in his first two outings.

Bobby Parks, who handled the sixth man role last season before gaining a starting role in mid-season was again slated for a sixth man slot this year. But, a serious pre-season injury which will sideline James Bozeman for the year, has returned Parks to the starting five.

Also expected to see plenty of playing time now is sophomore forward Pernell Tookes, who saw sporadic action last season, averaging slightly less than 10 minutes per contest.

Two transfers also figure prominently in the picture.

First there is Elvis Rolle, a 6-10, 216-pound junior, who had to sit out last season after leaving Oral Roberts University where he was a starter. His scoring average was better than 12 at ORU and he gives the Tribe added strength under the boards.

The other transfer will not be eligible for competition until the December 20 matchup with Minnesota. He is Rodney Arnold, who comes from Furman where he averaged 20 points as a freshman starter.

Williams is also hoping that Greg Collinsworth, a sophomore, and Donnie Kuhl, a senior, will provide the depth that is needed for a team that will be asked to play 11 games in a 22-day period during February.

SCORING SUMMARY

List all scoring plays in sequence. "Time left" means time remaining in the quarter at the conclusion of the scoring play. Under "play," to save you time, please use only: Rush, Pass, INT, PR, KOR, FUM, FG, or SAF (instead of writing out interception, punt, kickoff and fumble returns, field goal or safety).

On pass play, list passer first, then receiver and combined yardage of pass and run. All plays are measured from the line of scrimmage except field-goal attempts—from the point of kick to the goal posts (goal line plus 10 yards).

After each touchdown, please continue on the same line and under "FOR EXTRA POINTS ONLY" check (✓) type of PAT (kick, pass or run) and whether good (G) or no good (NG).

QUOTES FROM MEMPHIS STATE COACH RICHARD WILLIAMSON:

"@all I can say is that we got beat by a great football team. We were beate@ every way you can get beat.

Every thing Florida State did, they did well.

We were even after the first quarter. We had somethings going for us early in the first half but once FSU got rolling, they kept rolling.

I knew Florida State had a good football team. They were extremely good.

BOWDEN QUOTES

" I thought we might have had our minds on something else tonight. "

" Everybody seems to put in something new on defense for us. "

" The defense caused the rout. "

" I think this game made the Orange Bowl people happy. "

" If ~~he~~ they'd been nice enough not to blitz we would have quit throwin the ball. "

" Before the game I reminded the team of what happened in Cincinnati. "

" The Florida game will be a tough one the Gators always ~~pk~~ play us tough. "

PLAYER QUOTES

Paul Piurowski

"We were in a defense where I shot the gap. All week long I've been going over in mind what would happen if they ran the screen and I read it. It happened just the way I thought it would."

"I'm happy with the bowl situation. I was scared for a while that we were going to be left out."

"Now it's my dream to be 11-0 and beat the Gators."

Jimmy Jordan

There's nothing I can say about the Orange Bowl and how happy I am. I hope we play respectable against our opponent."

"I don't think our minds were on the game in the first quarter--we were thinking bowl."

"I respect MSU a lot. Their defense wasn't as quick as I thought it would be."

"We just tried to pick away with curls and outs--they're easy passes to hit."

"It was sad to play to play in my final home game. I have many memories at Campbell. I guess it's time to move on."

Jackie Flowers

We ran outs, slants and just quick passes."

"We played perfectly on the money."

"My TD run came from somewhere I guess. I've been working on my open field running in practice and I guess it paid off."

Bobby Butler

Me and Keith (Jones) were taking about blocking a punt just before the play. I hadn't blocked on all year and I thought it was time. It worked out strange like that."

"I thought this was going to be a tough game. I think we just wore them away."

"I love being in the Orange Bowl. I'm from there (Delray Beach) and I'm looking forward to seeing some of my people."

"It feels good to have some recognition--recognition that we deserve."

"Now, we need to get a tradition started."

Keith Jones

"Bobby (Butler) just blocked it so well. He blocked the ball and the punter and I just scooped it up and ran it in."

"I feel the Orange Bowl is a fulfillment of everything we've been working since January. Now to fulfill that beginning we have to work hard and continue to win."

"We're good enough to beat any team on any given day. We have to play at our best."
