Florida women overpower FSU, advance in NCAA playoffs

The Lady Gators dominate the Lady Seminoles for the third time this season.

By Alex Marvez

Democrat correspondent

GAINESVILLE — After two losses to Florida earlier this season, the Florida State volleyball team tried a new strategy in Thursday's NCAA Tournament game against the Lady Gators.

The Lady Seminoles used a slide, where the middle hitter moves to the right. They tried to keep serves away from outside hitter Gudi Staub, the Southeastern Conference Player of the Year. In fact, they tried to to keep everything away from the 6-foot-2 Staub.

The strategy worked in spurts, but this match ended the same way the others had — a Florida sweep. The Lady Gators continued their 37-match home winning streak — the longest in the nation — with a 15-9, 15-3, 15-10 victory before 2,874 fans at the O'Connell Center.

"I just think, at times, we quit," said FSU setter Sherry Cowling, who finished with a team-high 22 assists. "Not quit playing, but they're so big and so strong . . . We kind of got down on ourselves every time we made a mistake out there."

The Lady Seminoles (26-8) fell behind by at least four service points at the beginning of each game. The most devastating run came with Florida leading, 8-3, in the second game.

Staub, who had served three straight points earlier in the game, delivered five more. After the teams exchanged serves, the Lady Gators (32-1) won with Suzanne Hughes and Patricia Moreno kills off serves by Aycan Gokberk.

The Lady Seminoles were unable to regroup during the onslaught because they had called both their timeouts earlier in the game.

"It was too late to go recruiting and we had already used our timeouts," joked Florida State coach Cecile Reynaud. "No, we tried to change our reception pattern to give them something different to look at. The people we had out there were our best ones."

In the first game, FSU whittled a 6-1 Florida lead to 12-9. But a net violation and spike out of bounds by Luiza Ramos gave Florida a 14-9 advantage. The Lady Gators won the game on a spike by Gokberk.

The final game also was close, as FSU closed a 5-1 deficit to 5-5. But the Lady Seminoles were unable to compile a run of more than two consecutive points until Florida had a 13-8 lead. The Lady Gators ended the match when FSU's Bianca Stevens was unable to return a Staub dink and Gokberk spiked a Heidi Anderson set.
