A Freshman's First Trip

On The Road With Jeffery Dale

"It was very exciting . . . and confusing. It was exciting because we were in South Bend, Ind. Some people would give anything to go there because a lot of things have happened there."

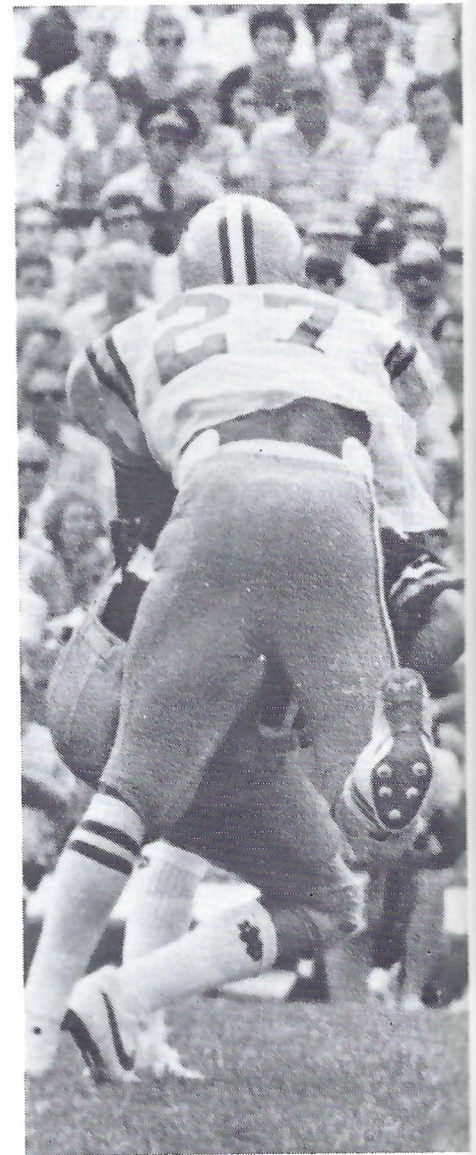

"The freshmen have to work hard to get on the travel squad. For me, I know I'm going, because I'm a starter. But some players have to wait to see if they're going."

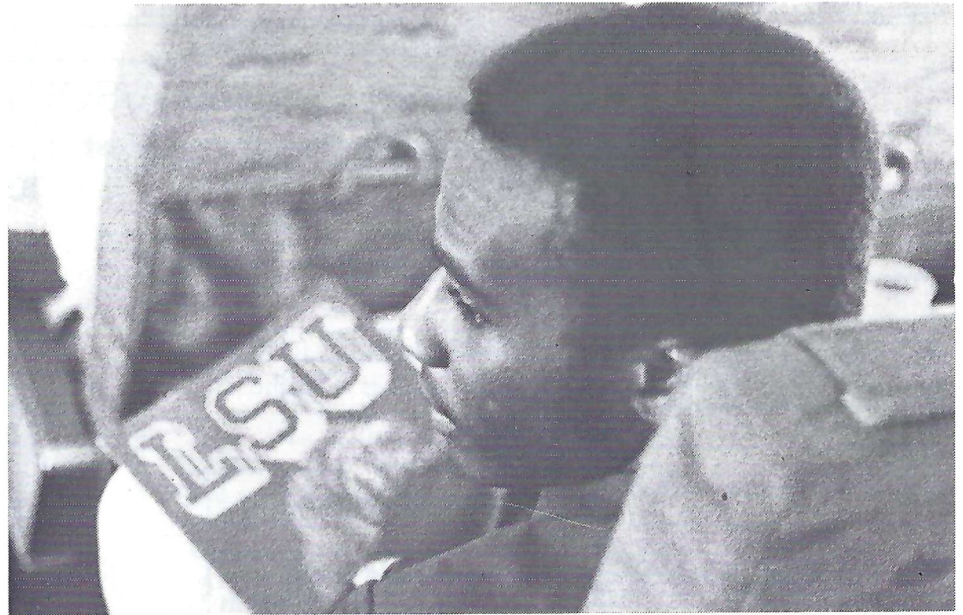

"On the first trip we had to dress in shifts because the dressing room was so small. The offense dressed, then the defense dressed. It was really small. That stadium has been there a long time, but it hasn't gotten any bigger."

"It's more than anyone could imagine, and it's rewarding. It's very rewarding."

"It's disappointing when you don't get picked to go."

"We go first-class and it's always nice to be able to fly home immediately after the game."

"It is surely a lot different than traveling to a high school road game."

"The travel squad is posted on Thursday. It's kind of like getting a report card. You think you're going to get an 'A', but you get a 'B'."

Louisiana State University

Louisiana State University is one of 68 American institutions of higher learning that originated from Thomas Jefferson's idea of allocating funds from the sale of public lands to the states for the endowment of public education for all citizens.

This land-grant idea dedicated the University to a philosophy of "knowledge for use by all" and established its longstanding tradition of a university "operated for the good it can do; for the people it can serve; for the science it can promote." In 1978, LSU also became the nation's 13th sea-grant college, under a federal program created in 1966 to accelerate development of marine resources.

LSU began as the Louisiana State Seminary of Learning and Military Academy on January 2, 1860, at Pineville, Louisiana, with 19 students and five faculty members headed by Superintendent William Tecumseh Sherman. The young institution survived the ravages of the Civil War, Reconstruction, and a fire that destroyed its sole structure in 1869. It has been in Baton Rouge since then, occupying three different sites. Construction of the present campus, located on a 1,944-acre tract (once a cotton plantation on the southern edge of Baton Rouge), was begun in 1922 and the campus was dedicated April 30, 1926.

LSU is one of the few schools which combines the resources of a state university, a land-grant agricultural and mechanical college, and a sea-grant college.

As such, it is a synergistic institution whose functions of instruction, research, and public service are interrelated naturally and operationally—with teaching and scholarly investigation strengthening each other, and service to the off-campus public an outgrowth of that combination.

The State Board of Regents, in its Master Plan for Higher Education, has designated LSU in Baton Rouge as Louisiana's single "comprehensive University."

LSU offers bachelor's degree programs in 123 major fields, master's degrees in 76 fields, and the doctorate in 48. Four degrees are offered through the University's three professional schools. Enrollment on the Baton Rouge campus last fall was 27,236.

Academic divisions of the University are: General College Junior Division, the Colleges of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Chemistry and Physics, Design, Education, Engineering; and the School of Music. The Division of Continuing Education offers instruction through off-campus classes, correspondence-study courses, short courses, conferences, seminars, and other specialized programs. Post-baccalaureate and professional divisions are: the Graduate Division of Education, Graduate School, Latin American Studies Institute, School of Library and Information Science, Nuclear Science Center, School of Social Welfare, and Center for Wetland Resources.

Since the 1930s, LSU has been more than just a single-campus university, and in the past two decades has developed into a statewide "System" of higher education composed of seven institutions on 33 campuses in five cities. Other components of this System are the Center for Agricultural Sciences and Rural Development (a research/service-oriented entity) and the Paul M. Hebert Law Center (with a 1981 enrollment of 861), both domiciled in Baton Rouge; the Medical Center (with two campuses in New Orleans and one in Shreveport); the University of New Orleans and LSU in Shreveport, both four-year universities; LSU at Alexandria and LSU at Eunice, both two-year colleges.

Each component institution of the University System is headed by a Chancellor. Dr. James H. Wharton, Dean of LSU's General College, was recently appointed Chancellor of LSU in Baton Rouge.

The President of the University System is Dr. Martin D. Woodin. Enrollment throughout the System totaled 52,104 in 1980.

The System is governed by the Board of Supervisors, composed of 17 members (two from each of the eight Congressional districts, one at-large) appointed by the Governor for six-year terms, and one student member selected each year by student-body presidents.

Head Coach Jerry Stovall

Jerry Stovall confounded a mess of football pundits one year ago.

After becoming head football coach at his alma mater, LSU, culminating a lifetime of hopes and dreams to succeed to this post, the consensus among most of the observers of the grid-iron scene was that the LSU Fighting Tigers would end the 1980 campaign in comparative anonymity.

Predictions of 2-9-0 and 3-8-0 were commonplace and the choices as to where the Tigers would finish in the Southeastern Conference were from fifth to eighth place.

But Jerry's zest for coaching; his rapport with young people; his genuineness; his ability to generate instant loyalty among his staff; these and other attributes combined to impart a sense of togetherness among the football squad, the coaching staff and the fans.

The 38-year-old Stovall, a native of West Monroe, La., was an All-America halfback for the Tigers in the early 1960s, and had served as Varsity Club Coordinator in 1979 after returning to Tigertown in 1974 as offensive backfield coach under former Coach Charles McClendon. During his tenure he tutored Terry Robiskie, who established LSU rushing records, and Charles Alexander, a two-time All-America who eclipsed Robiskie's marks.

Jerry's life has been intertwined with LSU even though his career took him to other locales during his post-college days.

Born April 30, 1941, he matriculated at LSU where he starred under then coach Paul Dietzel (now the LSU director of athletics) and McClendon. Dietzel was his head coach during his first three seasons at Tigertown while Cholly Mac was the bossman in his senior year, a year when he was runner-up to Oregon's Terry Baker for the Heisman Trophy. Other honors included All-SEC sophomore team in 1960; All-SEC in both 1961 and 1962; unanimous All-America in 1962; and SEC Player of the Year in 1962.

Playing both ways . . . running back on offense and safety on defense . . . Jerry rushed for 1,061 yards in 219 carries for a 4.8-yard average, scored 15 touchdowns and was the leading pass receiver during his sophomore and senior campaigns. His total rushing yardage ranks him 18th on the all-time LSU list, a remarkable achievement since these statistics were compiled in a day when defense was the order of college football.

Following the completion of his eligibility at LSU, Jerry was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals where he played strong safety. He was selected to the All-Pro squads in 1967 and 1968, and participated in the Pro Bowls in 1967, 1968 and 1969.

He retired from the pro ranks following the 1971 season and immediately joined his old mentor, Paul Dietzel, as an assistant coach at South Carolina. He worked there for the next two years before coming home to LSU in 1974.

Stovall is married to the former Judy Ward of Alexandria, La., a wedding which took place in February, 1962, while he was a junior and she a sophomore at LSU. However, the start of the romance antedated the marriage vows by some four years when young Judy's family moved from Alexandria to West Monroe when she was a high school sophomore. The union has produced two children, Jerry Lane, Jr., known as Jay, 16, and Jodi Ann, 11.

An active worker in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Jerry Stovall is a tireless man on the go, but his exuberance and gregariousness are such that he revels in being around all people. He has been assigned a monumental task, but Jerry Stovall's class and character, his enthusiastic approach to any job indicates that he is the man to keep LSU as a dominant power in intercollegiate football competition.

CAMP
1982

Hokie Gajan and Charles Alexander, former LSU standouts, visit with 1981 summer campers.

Jerry Stovall's 1982 summer football camp is scheduled for the second week in June. There will be a senior camp for boys age 15-18, and a junior camp for boys age 9-14.

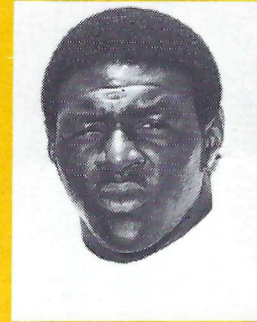

It's great fun and the LSU football staff provides instruction in all phases of the game. Campers are housed and fed on the LSU Campus.

CHEVY CAVALIER

THE ESCAPE HATCH

Escape to where you long to be.

Here's the kind of engineering designed to take you miles away from the middle of the road. The 1982 Cavalier Hatchback. A brand-new car that owes its creation to innovation. Not imitation.

Escape with the goods.

Reclining front seats, power brakes, side and rear window defoggers and a remote hatch release (quite a remote feature on ordinary hatchbacks) combine with 38 other standard features to make the '82 Cavalier the most complete new car we've ever introduced.

On the technical side, innovations in front-wheel drive, aerodynamic design and operating efficiency help add up to 43 Est. Highway/<sup>26</sup> EPA Est. MPG.* And engine buffs will be interested to know Cavalier's standard 1.8 Liter, 4-cylinder engine actually delivers more horsepower per liter than some highly regarded V8s.

Plan your escape now.

Your Chevy dealer can help put your escape plan in motion, starting with a test drive. Get inside. Drive it around the block. Then all that's left to do is to decide whether you want to buy or lease a new 1982 Cavalier. Whichever you choose, one thing's for sure:

You won't have any trouble at all adjusting to your new freedom.

*Use estimated MPG for comparisons. Your mileage may differ depending on speed, distance, weather. Actual highway mileage lower. Chevrolets are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.

The simple pleasures of driving a Honda Prelude. Starting from the top.

We think you'll agree, it's a real pleasure to look at.

But our sportiest Honda also sports the kind of features that make it a thrill to drive.

THE POWER-OPERATED MOONROOF FOR OPENERS, IT'S STANDARD.

At the push of a button, the tinted-glass moonroof slides back. At the same time, an automatic deflector helps keep the wind out.

When you're behind the wheel, you'll be pleased at what you see in front of it. This year, the instrument panel houses a separate tachometer and speedometer, a quartz digital clock, a maintenance reminder and an electronic warning system.

Of course, the Prelude is just as much of a pleasure to sit in.

Its luxurious interior features comfortable bucket seats and adjustable headrests.

SOME SIMPLE ENGINEERING FACTS.

Our sportiest car has front-wheel drive, four-wheel independent suspension, rack and pinion steering and a responsive 1751cc CVCC® engine. The fact is, the Honda Prelude is designed to give you years of good performance.

POWER STEERING COMES AUTOMATICALLY WITH THE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION.

The 5-speed stick shift is standard. But with the optional automatic 3-speed, you also get variable-assist power steering.

And after you've weighed all your options, we hope you drive off in the Honda Prelude.

HONDA

We make it simple.

New Releases from the LSU Press

Having gained distinction as the first university press to publish a novel that won a Pulitzer Prize for Fiction, the LSU Press in its current Fall/Winter Catalog features an exciting diversity of new works. With more than 30 new titles, the latest offerings from the University's press include novels, histories, biographies, analysis and critiques, poetry, and general interest publications.

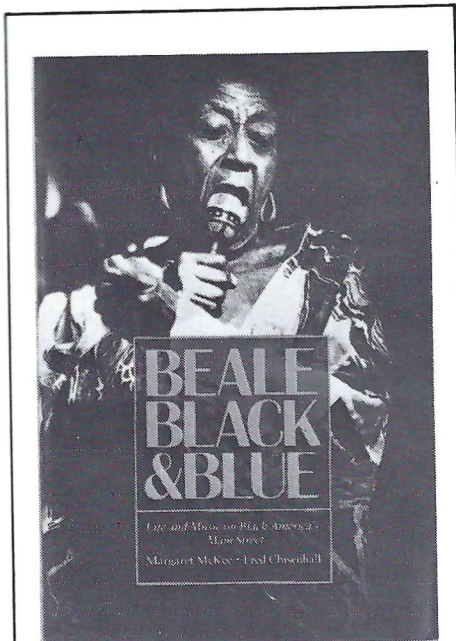

As early as 1912 the University was publishing works by various faculty members, but it was in 1931 that the first book to carry an LSU Press imprint was released. Several years later, in 1935, the need to consolidate sporadic publishing by various campus departments resulted in the official establishment of the University press with Dr. Marcus Wilkerson chosen as director. At the time, Wilkerson was a one-man staff, managing and watching the growth of the press, serving as director until his death in 1953.

Through those years and the many that have followed, the LSU Press has become recognized internationally as one of the most respected university publishing houses and one of the South's largest publishers. Highly acclaimed publications, noted authors, and numerous awards and honors have characterized the press from the days of its inception, which certainly continue today.

In its modern facilities in the recently renovated French House, the press is a vital part of the University community, annually bringing to LSU added renown as a major center of thought, research, and study of the highest calibre.

Featured below are three selections from the LSU Press 1981 Fall/Winter Catalog.

Beale Black & Blue

Margaret McKee and Fred Chisenhall

In the life of Beale Street and in the conversations of its musicians, we experience a delicate balance of humor, courage, and pain. W. C. Handy, Furry Lewis, Booker White, Lillie May Glover, Roosevelt Sykes, Arthur Crudup, B. B. King, Bobby Blue Bland, Muddy Waters—these musicians, singers, and songwriters, and many more, including the young Elvis Presley, all eventually went to Beale Street in Memphis, Tennessee. There they learned, improved, and practiced their art.

The street's history is richly complemented by rare, extensive interviews. In them, the blues musicians whose music eloquently expressed the emotions of Beale tell of the music that took them to the Memphis street and of the living blues.

Mediterranean Seafood

Alan Davidson

Former diplomat Alan Davidson is the world's leading authority on seafood. First published in England in 1972 his book, Mediterranean Seafood, has now been revised and expanded.

The first section of Davidson's compact and informative book enables the reader to identify edible fish, crustaceans, and molluscs of the Mediterranean. Their scientific names and common names in seven languages accompany identifying drawings and descriptions of each creature.

The book's second half contains well over 200 recipes ranging from the familiar bouillabaisse to little-known specialities from Málaga, Sicily, Turkey, and Tunisia.

Co-published with Penguin Books, Ltd.

The Achievement of Robert Penn Warren

James H. Justus

Crisscrossing the sprawling landscape of Robert Penn Warren, James H. Justus offers the first comprehensive survey of Warren's complete canon, including the poetry of 1980.

The undertaking by Justus is massive; the accomplishment, monumental. All students of Warren's work from his poems to his novels and non-fiction will be indebted to this critic.

Although Warren continues in a southern literary tradition, Justus places his work in the larger context of the various streams of American writing of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. He cites in particular Warren's unresolved relationship to Emerson and compares Warren to Mark Twain and Nathaniel Hawthorne.

New Non-Medical Process Overcomes Disadvantages of Transplants.

The above men are suffering from pattern baldness. A short time later, XL process is completed, bald areas have been filled in and hair line recreated.

Now you can have hair added to your bald and thinning areas without pain, without surgery. The amazing new XL hair replacement system adds hair into your own, only where you need it, to create a totally natural look. So natural, that you can actually part your hair and see your own scalp.

The XL system overcomes all the problems and disadvantages of transplants and other replacement techniques. There's no surgery or pain involved.

In just a short time you can have a beautiful head of hair that you treat just like your own - swim in it, shower, shampoo, play any sports you like.

You owe it to yourself to find out how this revolutionary new replacement process can change your life. Phone or mail the coupon below for more information. There is absolutely no obligation whatsoever.

HAIR IS OUR ONLY BUSINESS — WE ARE PROFESSIONALS.

Please send me a free color brochure. (No obligation)

1981-82 LSU Basketball

While many followers of LSU basketball will be weeping over the loss of seniors Durand Macklin, Ethan Martin, Greg Cook, Willie Sims and Andy Campbell via graduation, all is not lost for the 1981-82 Tigers.

Four of those five seniors were drafted (all except Campbell), but an outstanding pair of underclassmen remain.

Junior Howard Carter and sophomore Leonard Mitchell will form the nucleus around which head coach Dale Brown (161-92 .636) will try to rebuild a Tiger team that won the most games in the nation last year, 31. Carter, selected to the All-SEC Tournament team and to the AP and UPI All-SEC squad, was the Tiger's leading scorer last season with a 16.0 norm. Mitchell, a raw freshman talent who became more polished and smooth as the season progressed, averaged 10.8 points and 7.2 rebounds on the year. He landed on the Great Alaska Shootout All-Tournament team after his first three games as a collegiate player and then was tabbed for the SEC's All-Freshman squad.

Carter will likely fill the big guard slot, while Mitchell may be played at either forward or center, leaving Brown to fill three more positions. The heir-apparent at center will be 6-8, 200-pounder Tyrone Black, a junior who participated in 21 games last year, including a starting berth in six. The other guard slot could be filled by sophomore Johnny Jones who played in all 36 games last season, but freshman Derrick Taylor or 6-5 soph John Tudor could move in.

Although a host of lettermen (8) remain in contention for the second forward slot, freshman Steffond Johnson (6-8, 200) from Longview, Texas, should have the inside track. He will be competing against lettermen Joe Costello, Matt England or Brian Kistler, while walk-on Drexal Allen will be looking for playing time at the guard position.

Three freshmen, 6-10 Ray Borner, Johnson and 6-0 Derrick Taylor, will be joining the eight lettermen when the squad reports for the first day of practice on Oct. 15, comprising one of the smallest squads in Brown's nine years at Tigertown. Five players graduated from the 1980-81 squad, while two others were lost to attrition from the squad that won the most games in LSU history last year.

A tough schedule, featuring NCAA Tournament participants Wichita State, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, and UCLA continue to make LSU's schedule one of the toughest in the country.

DEFENSE

"SF"-quality Uniflo® is the great "prevent-defense" against engine wear... protects so well it actually exceeds the American Petroleum Institute's newest and toughest standard for motor oil performance.

Uniflo gains yardage. Averaged 15 extra miles per tank of gas, after break-in, compared to conventional multi-grade oil. Proved through 500,000 miles of test driving. Change to Uniflo. And join the drive for better mileage.

CFA—NCAA

College Football at the Crossroads

One of the most perplexing matters facing college football fans today is the National Collegiate Athletic Association vs. the College Football Association.

Are there philosophical differences which have brought on this confrontation within the broader confines of the NCAA?

Perhaps it is oversimplification, but the polarization of the two organizations can be solved and must be solved through revised legislation.

And because of that there will be a special convention of the NCAA in early December in an effort to reorganize Division 1-A so that the schools with similar football programs such as LSU, Notre Dame, Texas, Penn State, Alabama, et al, can decide their own destinies.

Chancellor James H. Wharton has issued the following statement to explain LSU's posture:

"Louisiana State University holds membership in the College Football Association (CFA) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). As an institution, LSU is committed to the functions, purposes, and ideals of both associations and expects to retain membership in both associations. The property rights to televising all University events are considered to belong to the taxpayers of Louisiana as represented by the Board of Supervisors. When the CFA negotiated a contract for televising college football games with NBC, the University considered that contract to be an attractive alternative to past contracts because it provided greater television exposure and greater income to support our varsity athletic programs. For these reasons, LSU favored ratification of the contract.

"However, the property rights question developed into a major issue between the NCAA and member institutions of the CFA.

Thus, it became necessary to settle the issue legally, and LSU supports the legal action taken by the Universities of Georgia, Oklahoma, and Texas in behalf of the CFA membership. This matter is currently pending before the courts, and when settled, LSU will be prepared to vote on an appropriate contract by which to sell its television rights. Our agent could be the CFA, NCAA, or perhaps the Southeastern Conference.

"More recently, the NCAA has agreed to consider reorganization of its Division 1-A. LSU supports the objectives of the proposed reorganization, and if the desired organization is obtained, the NCAA will be more attractive as an agent for the negotiation of television broadcasting. More importantly, the NCAA could better represent the academic goals of the major institutions."

The CFA emerged in the mid-1970s after efforts to reorganize the NCAA and develop acceptable criteria for Division 1 football failed.

The initial group of 25 schools met in 1975 in an attempt to effect this change at the 1976 NCAA convention, but the move failed and the following December an organizational meeting was held and Articles of Association adopted. Qualified institutions were invited to join and told through the CFA "... they could become a forum through which the major college football programs might refine and sponsor points of view consistent with their needs" within the NCAA.

Recently the NCAA has asked the membership for approval of a new four year television contract with ABC and CBS. Shortly thereafter the CFA negotiated a similar deal with NBC. Even though large amounts of money are involved, the financial benefits are not the bottom line.

That was the catalyst for the calling of the special convention.

The point is that the major colleges wish to decide their own destinies; that the schools with large stadia and immense expenses be able to address their problems on an equitable scale; that academics be stressed and entrance requirements be elevated rather than legislate major schools to the common denominator of schools which do not have similar problems.

John Underwood in his extremely insightful article in a recent issue of Sports Illustrated put it this way:

"Make no mistake. The real issue is the conflict between the NCAA and the 61 rebellious Division 1-A football schools—known collectively as the College Football Association—was never over which of the TV networks would be allowed to heap millions of dollars on the big-time football powers... those were mere diversionary tactics. What the two outfits were really arguing about was whether there would be a reorganization of the NCAA that would give the big-time schools firm control of big-time football."

And one of the primary points as far as the members of the CFA are concerned are stricter recruiting rules and academic requirements, but rules tailored to the requirements of these schools.

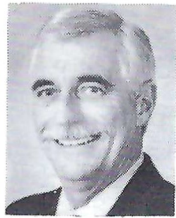

Charles M. Neinas is executive director of the CFA and he is a man whose background includes stints as an executive with the NCAA and commissioner of the Big Eight Conference. But he works at the direction of the CFA Board of Directors which is chaired by a man known to LSU: Dr. Fred C. Davison, president of the University of Georgia.

The next couple of months will prove extremely interesting to college football fans.

George S. Bowman, Jr.

"L" Club Man of the Year

George Shepard Bowman, Jr., was born December 24, 1911 in Hammond, La., and completed his elementary and high school grades there. In 1931, he entered Louisiana State University and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering upon graduation in 1936.

Active in sports during his school years, he was a five-letter winner at LSU, participating in football, track and baseball.

He won three letters in football and two in track, being selected as captain of the LSU team in the Tulane game of 1935 and the Sugar Bowl game on January 1, 1936.

Major General George S. Bowman

He was co-captain of LSU's Southeastern Conference championship track team in 1936 and was a member of LSU's first SEC championship football team.

In 1932, he was one of four LSU trackmen to reach the Olympic finals trials in California.

Tonight he will join five other LSU alums who have been named as "L" Club Man of the Year.

Dr. Marty Broussard became the first "Man of the Year" in 1976 and since that time, Bob Pettit, Joseph E. Reid, Jerry Guillot, Dr. Abe Mickal and now, George Shepard Bowman, Jr., is added to the list of former LSU athletes who have risen to the top in support of LSU varsity athletics.

While at LSU, George was a member of the LSU 4th Corps Area championship rifle team, Sergeant Major of the Cadet Corps, Cadet Colonel of the Cadet Corps, President of the College of Engineering and served two years on the student council.

He was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi; Sigma Delta Phi; Pi Beta Tau; Theta Nu Epsilon; Scabbard & Blade.

In July of 1936, he was appointed a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps designated as a Naval Aviator in 1939 and embarked on a career which brought continuing advancements in rank and position of great responsibility through military life.

As a Brigadier General in 1964, he became Commanding General, 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, and was promoted to Major General in 1965. He saw duty as Deputy Commander, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic and was Marine Corps Liaison Officer to the Office of Chief of Naval Operations in Washington, D.C. He served as Deputy Commander, III Marine Amphibious Force, and Deputy Commander, XXIV Corps, in Vietnam during 1969 and 1970.

In August, 1970, he became Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., and remained in that capacity until he retired from the Marine Corps.

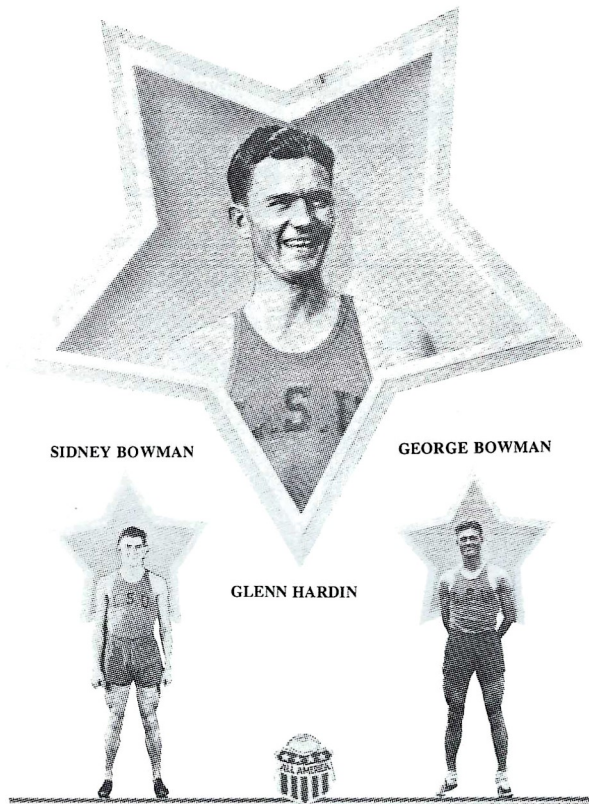

Bowman then became Superintendent of the Marine Military Academy, Harlingen, Texas, and took the Academy from a time of little growth and instituted policies that led to a 120 percent increase in student enrollment. He was also instrumental in establishing an Endowment Fund and a $500,000 scholarship program that is still growing.

He retired as Superintendent in June, 1978.

Bowman is a member of numerous military related organizations, civic and community organizations and in 1980 began construction on the George Bowman Track and Football Field at the Marine Military Academy with a grant from Mr. and Mrs. Harold James.

He has been listed in "Who's Who in America" since 1967.

The Energy Challenge

...we all have to face it together.

GSU has a responsibility to do everything possible to meet the challenge of the changing energy situation in Louisiana and America. That's why we're now building coal plants, as well as our nuclear facility at River Bend. Those two proven technologies will help us assure a continuing supply of affordable electricity for our customers.

The energy challenge, however, isn't ours to face alone. While we'll do our part, every person living and working here has to do their's, too.

We simply have to make less energy do more . . . at home and at work . . . in order to become energy independent and also to reduce the need for costly expansions in future generating capacity. Saving energy saves money for everyone.

Hopefully, technical advances will one day make other energy forms, such as wind and solar, economically practical for large scale applications. But, until that day comes, energy will remain a major challenge. And we'll all have to face it together.

"A book I recommend to football fans"—Joe Garagiola on Fighting Tigers
Now available in an updated edition covering the 1968–1980 years of Tiger football.

The Fighting Tigers II

LSU FOOTBALL, 1893-1980 Revised Edition

Peter Finney Foreword by Paul Dietzel

Relive the seasons of Tiger stars such as Billy Cannon, Y. A. Tittle, Steve Van Buren, Charlie Alexander, Bert Jones, and Jimmy Taylor; the last years of Charlie Mac's reign as head coach of the Tigers; the return of Paul Dietzel as athletic director; the suspenseful hiring of Bo Rein as head coach and his tragic death only forty-two days later; and the appointment of Jerry Stovall to lead the Tigers.

The main scoreboard at the north end of the stadium was purchased for LSU by Louisiana National Bank at a cost of over $300,000. It's one of only 15 like it in the USA. That makes it a rare breed... just like the LSU Tigers.
