A BETTER WAY TO BANK

Over the years,
Security Federal has worked hard to serve our customers' needs.
But as times change...
so do the needs of our customers.
So Security developed new services, new benefits, new offices and a new corporate symbol that reflects our commitment to offering our customers

a better way to bank.
We have linked our services together
so that the more you use us, the better deal you get.
It's a better way because it lets you take advantage of your bank, instead of your bank
taking advantage of you.

Watch for our signs.
They point the way to the most exciting
new banking services available anywhere in South Carolina, now...and into the future.

The Scouting Report

The Game — This afternoon's game at Williams-Brice Stadium features the South Carolina Gamecocks (2-5-1) against the visiting Florida State Seminoles (4-3-1). A sellout crowd of 72,400 is expected for what is becoming one of the bigger games in the South year in and year out.

The Gamecocks are coming off a heartbreaking, last-second 23-22 loss at the hands of North Carolina State last Saturday in Raleigh, N.C. Florida State played tough ball with top-ranked Miami of Florida in the Orange Bowl last weekend before falling 41-23.

The Coaches — South Carolina head coach Joe Morrison (Cincinnati, 1959) is in his fourth season with the Gamecock football program and has a record of 22-19-1. Morrison was the head man at Tennessee-Chattanooga (1973-79) and New Mexico (1980-82) before being named USC head coach for the 1983 campaign. He has an overall record of 85-63-6 in 13 seasons and is 1-2 against Florida State.

The Seminoles' Bobby Bowden (Howard, 1953) is 87-35-3 in 11 seasons at the helm of the Florida State program. In 21 seasons of coaching, Bowden has an impressive 160-67-3 mark which includes stints with Sanford (1959-62) and West Virginia (1970-75) before heading to Tallahassee. He has a career record of 4-1 against the Gamecocks.

The Series — Florida State leads it 10-3 and 3-1 since the series resumed in 1982. The past three games between the two teams have been offensive showcases as the two clubs combined for 75 points in 1983, 64 points in '84 and 70 in '85.

Things To Look For — South Carolina is again trying to regroup from a frustrating loss. Leading the way in USC's "Run and Shoot" offense is freshman sensation Todd Ellis. South Carolina is averaging 419 yards per game in offense and just under 300 in the passing department, good for a national ranking of third in that category. Ellis has already broken school records for most passing yards in a season (currently 2,264), completions (152), completions in a game (26) and passing yards in a contest (394).

On the receiving end of many Ellis passes is Sterling Sharpe, who ranks among the nation's leaders in receiving. The junior wingback currently has 54 catches for 721 yards and is on the verge of breaking school marks in those two areas set by Fred Zeigler. Sophomore wide receiver Ryan Bethea is also a favorite of Ellis, FSU's defense, led by linebacker Paul McGowan, will try to slow down South Carolina's run and shoot offense.

Quarterback Todd Ellis looks to continue his assault on the USC record book this afternoon.

averaging 22.4 yards per catch on the year for tops on the team. USC cannot be looked over in the running category as senior running back Anthony Smith continues to shine with a five yard average and more than 400 rushing yards on the year. His backup, freshman Harold Green, has shown a powerful running capability with breakaway speed.

On the defensive side of the ball, senior linebacker Kenneth "Gus" Robinson continues to lead the Gamecocks in tackles with 74 on the year, half of those unassisted. Juniors Greg Philpot and Brad Edwards have made their presence known in the USC secondary with 66 and 58 tackles, respectively, while junior Roy Hart has become an anchor in the middle of the defensive line. Hart is fourth on the team in tackles and leads all USC linemen by a wide margin. Also shining on the defensive end is sophomore cornerback Robert Robinson who had an interception and a couple of pass breakups against N.C. State a week ago.

Florida State has also shown signs of explosiveness on the offensive side of the ball all season. Scoring at least 10 points in every game the Seminoles put together three straight 50-point performances after a mid-season loss at Michigan. The FSU quarterback for today's game will be Peter Tom Willis, who's subbing for the injured Danny McManus. Linebacker Paul McGowan has been the mainstay in the Seminole defense with 91 total tackles on the year for an average of over 10 per game.

Next Week — South Carolina takes on Wake Forest in the Gamecock home finale at Williams-Brice Stadium. Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. The Seminoles return home next week for a 3 p.m. Homecoming encounter with Southern Mississippi.

Carolina Iron Works — Be All That You Can Be

by Kerry Tharp

Assistant Sports Information Director

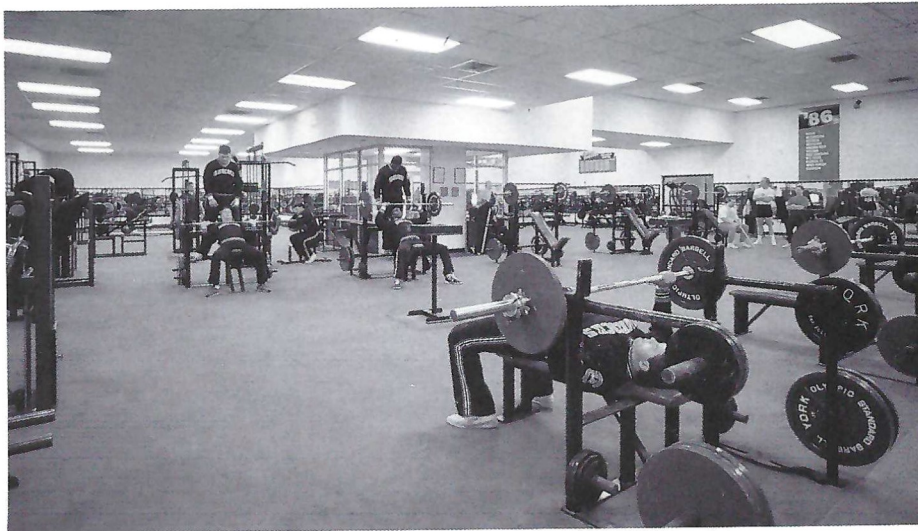

The catchy phrase — “Be All That You Can Be” — used by the United States Army of late in its campaign to attract the attention of prospective recruits and sell them on what the Army can do for them, can also be applied to the University of South Carolina in regard to the strength and conditioning program the Gamecocks offer their student/athletes. The phrase pretty much sums up the basic idea behind the strength and conditioning program at South Carolina. With plenty of hard work, dedication and the proper instruction, Gamecock student/athletes do have the opportunity to become the best that they can be.

At the University of South Carolina, the student/athlete has at his or her disposal one of the nation's premier weight training facilities. Under the supervision of Keith Kephart and his capable staff, the Gamecocks receive the professional and expert guidance that they need in order to condition their bodies to the best of their abilities. According to Kephart, South Carolina features more than 9,000 square feet of weight training space within its athletic department.

“First of all, we have the Carolina Iron Works facility at the stadium that now covers about 6,000 square feet with the recent addition that was made this summer,” said Kephart. “This is only one of three facilities we have, however. We also have an 1,800-square foot room at the stadium that is used primarily by our team sports other than football and basketball and a 900-square foot weight room at Carolina Coliseum for our basketball team.”

The luxury of having three first-class training areas combine to provide South Carolina with what Kephart describes as “one of the best, if not the best, overall strength and conditioning facilities in the country.”

It's no secret that Gamecock athletes have become stronger, faster and better-conditioned over the years. It's that ever continuing commitment to excellence, spearheaded by Bob Marcum, Gamecock athletic director, that has spurred on the progressive improvement of the USC strength program, says Kephart, who has been active in the strength and conditioning field for nearly 20 years.

Gamecock athletes have at their disposal one of the nation's premier strength and conditioning facilities.

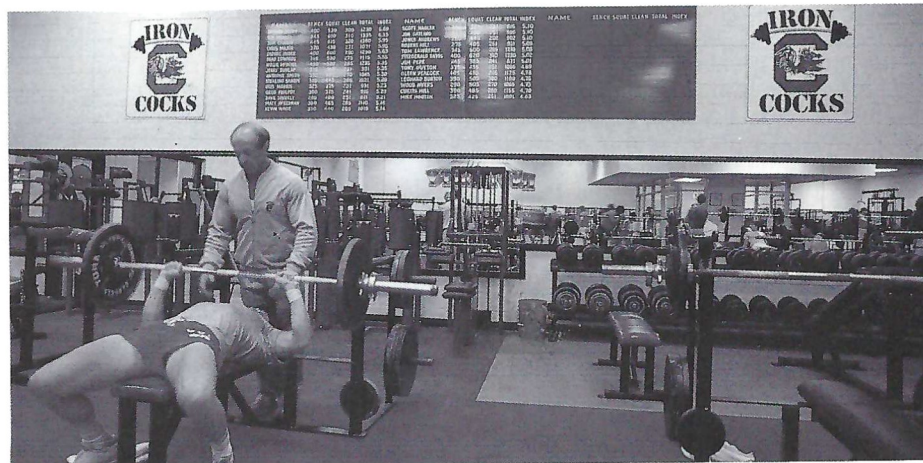

“Bob Marcum really deserves much of the credit for the upgrading of our strength program,” said Kephart. “He had the foresight to develop the kind of first-class facilities we now have here at South Carolina. Joe Morrison and his staff certainly have supported this concept and have made weight training an integral part of their football program.”

Kephart has a staff of five assistants that work closely with the Gamecock athletes both during their respective seasons and during the off-season. While the entire staff works with the football program, the rest of USC's team sports are divided among the strength staff. Kephart says that this year's staff is the best he's ever been associated with.

“Our staff has done an excellent job working with all of our teams,” he said. “At the present time our staff consists of Eric Hohn; Kevin McGowan; Diane Outlaw; George Smith; and Ken Taylor. Our people have all demonstrated an excellent work ethic and their enthusiasm for their work has rubbed off on our athletes.”

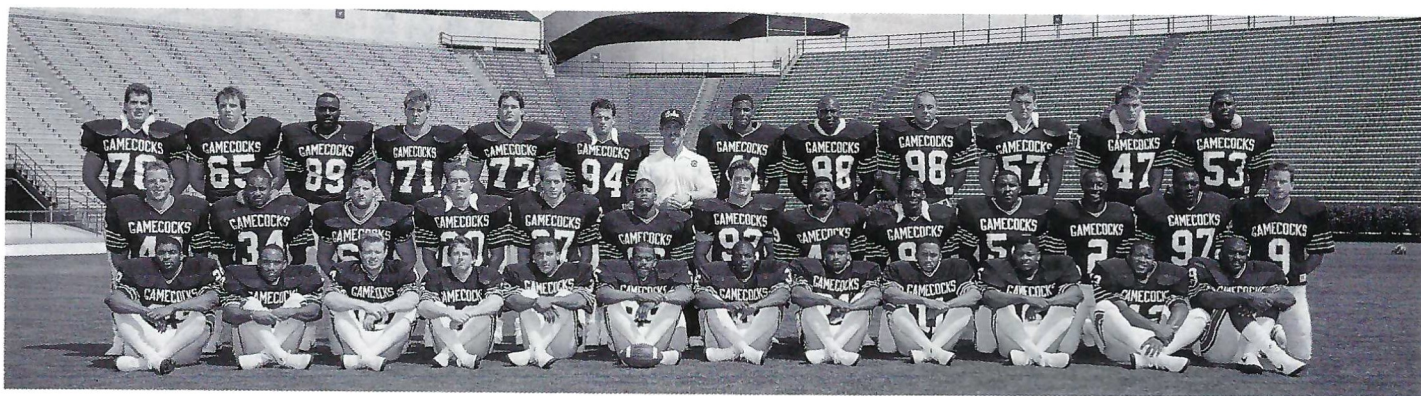

Spend just a few minutes in the Carolina Iron Works facility and you'll Coach Keith Kephart and his staff are committed to work with the Gamecock athletes and allow them to become the best that they can be.

soon sense an upbeat and positive attitude that permeates the Gamecock strength and conditioning program. An attitude that reflects the old saying once again — “Be All That You Can Be.”

“When you enter the door of the Carolina Iron Works, you’ll find a very positive attitude among those inside,” said Kephart. “Everything here is on the go. An upbeat, positive attitude like that is very much a factor in obtaining positive results.”

There is a variety of testing that the athlete goes through during the course of his or her association with weight training at South Carolina. Besides the obvious levels measured by poundage and the type of lift, Kephart said that the Gamecock athletes also are tested periodically for body fat, neck girth, vertical jump, the 40-yard dash and the 300-yard shuttle. Then there’s the testing that is involved in the selection of the Iron Cocks — South Carolina’s prestigious weight lifting fraternity — that this year numbers a record 38 football players.

“We take pride in the fact that this is the highest number we’ve ever had make it on the Iron Cock board,” said Kephart. “There are two basic standards involved with becoming an Iron Cock. The athlete either must lift a total of 1,000 pounds in our three basic lifts — the bench press, squat and power clean — and have a power index of 4.5 (which means he has to lift 4.5 times his body weight), or for the smaller athlete, if he has a 5.0 power index, he also qualifies.”

Kephart notes that there have been some significant changes take place in the strength and conditioning field over the years since he’s been involved.

“Back in 1970 when I was a graduate assistant on Johnny Majors’ staff at Iowa State was about the time when Nebraska first started to surge forward as a leader in the weight training area,” explained Kephart. “Really, in the last five years, this field has just taken off. It’s gotten more and more specific and more research-oriented. We now stress the importance of nutrition and its effect on training. Also, we now believe that an athlete should be active 10 months out of the year following some type of prescribed program.”

Kephart states that despite the implementation of the computer age in strength training, it still goes back to the teacher/pupil relationship.

“All of these modes of training are certainly making our strength program better,” he said. “The athletes still need to learn the how to’s and the science of discipline, sacrifice and commitment. Laying the foundation can’t be derived from a machine or computer. Once the athlete establishes that strong foundation, which normally takes several years, then you can turn to all of these resources and put the total picture together.”

A freshman student/athlete entering the University of South Carolina can be certain of one thing. He or she will be afforded every opportunity to condition their bodies to the fullest.

“Our primary goal within our strength training program here at the University of South Carolina is to enhance that God-given ability the athletes have to be the best that they can be,” said Kephart. “We don’t want them to leave here after a four or five year period and say “I could have” or “I should have.” It’s our responsibility to help develop that good work ethic. I truly believe that we have the resources and facilities here at South Carolina that enhance the athletes to be the best that they can be.”

From 1969 to 1973, Dr. Holderman was executive director of the Board of Higher education for the state of Illinois and director of the Health Education Commission in Illinois. In 1973 he became vice president for education with the Lilly Foundation. In 1976 he became a senior vice president and director of public policy programs for the Academy of Educational Development, Inc.

Since coming to South Carolina in 1977, Dr. Holderman has been instrumental in developing many new international ties between the university and foreign countries, and has established the James F. Byrnes International Center for coordination of all system-wide international programs. In recognition of his international education efforts, he has received the Commander's Cross of the Order of Merit from the president of the Federal Republic of Germany and the Order of Merit of Duarte, Sanchez and Milla with the Rank of Commander from the president of the Dominican Republic. Both are the highest civilian awards bestowed by those governments.

Dr. Holderman was appointed by the Reagan administration as the U.S. representative to the 24th session of the International Conference of the Red Cross in the Philippines in 1982.

He has served as chairman of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO since 1981 and in 1984 he chaired a national panel appointed by the U.S. Secretary of State to review U.S. membership in UNESCO.

Dr. Holderman is a member of the board of directors of Southern Bell, a member of the U.S. Advisory Board on International Investment and serves on the educational advisory committee of the Institute of International Education.

In 1984, WIS Radio and Television named Dr. Holderman "South Carolinian of the Year" in recognition of his contributions to the state. The National Council for Advancement and Support of Education honored Dr. Holderman in 1985 for his leadership in higher education.

Welcome to Today's Game

Once again, as we welcome you to Williams-Brice Stadium and the excitement of Gamecock football, we're grateful for your enthusiastic support. The quest for victory that takes place here today symbolizes the University's commitment to excellence that permeates every activity of the institution.

Just as the thousands of fans gathered in this stadium feel a very personal attachment to the team and its accomplishments, the many thousands of South Carolinians can take a very personal pride in the academic achievements of their state university.

Carolina is filled with dedicated people devoting extraordinary efforts to their teams, their students, their classrooms, their varied laboratories. Accomplishments here are making the University a better servant of the state and its citizens.

Your continued support helps us to raise the University of South Carolina to ever higher levels of excellence.

University of South Carolina

WHERE IS EVERYBODY?

Beau's
...of course.

Why of course?

Well for one thing, the Radisson is a great place to stay if you're in town for the game. And if you're already in town, it's a lot easier to park at or around the hotel—and it's free.

Then there's the pre-game warm ups at Beau's with dancing, a tail-gate buffet, good drinks and great company.

Come game time, you climb aboard the 10 Ton Fullback—Beau's special charter bus—and you're off on a joy ride to the stadium. A joy because the bus drops you off at the gate and picks you up afterward.

And back you go to Beau's for overtime partying and a great night's sleep at the new Radisson Hotel. There's even a special brunch the next day.

Where is everybody?

Bob Marcum Director of Athletics

In January of 1982 USC President Dr. James Holderman appointed Bob Marcum as director of athletics for the Gamecocks. During the past five years the likeable Marcum has helped to maintain the prominence the school enjoys in the collegiate athletic community and has worked to elevate the Gamecock programs to the top of that world.

Marcum is responsible for USC's multi-million-dollar athletic program and accomplishes this chore with enthusiasm, knowledge of intercollegiate athletics and old fashioned hard work.

During his tenure he's spearheaded renovations in all sports facilities and brought in some of the most talented coaches in the country to run the various programs. He led the Gamecocks into the Metro Conference, the school's first conference affiliation since 1971. In the last two years the school has won the league's all-sports trophy and top Sportsmanship Award. The men's football, basketball, baseball, soccer, golf, tennis and swimming teams have been in postseason competition.

Marcum has always been a mover and shaker during his athletic career. Prior to joining the Gamecocks he was athletic director at the University of Kansas in the rugged Big Eight Conference and teams under his direction played in postseason bowl games and the NCAA postseason basketball tournament. Before Kansas, he served as Associate Athletic Director at Iowa State. His responsibilities for the Cyclones included supervision of the athletic business office, preparation of budgets, public relations, fund raising and administration of the department's policies and procedures. He was also a member of the school's stadium-planning committee, leading to the opening in 1975 of the 50,000 seat facility, one of the nation's best.

The personable South Carolina athletic director began his career in athletics as an assistant football coach at Rutland (Ohio) High School. A year later, in 1960, he moved to Logan (Ohio) High, where he served as an assistant in football, basketball and track.

In 1963 he began a five-year stint as assistant football coach at McKinley High in Canton, Ohio. During that time the school won 39 of 50 games and was the state's runnerup in 1964 with a 9-1 record. His last three years at McKinley he served as offensive coordinator.

During his stay at McKinley, Marcum started his close association with the Ohio State football program, serving as an athletic committeeman for Woody Hayes. Specifically, he worked under Lou McCullough, then defensive coordinator under Hayes, and later the athletic director at Iowa State. Bob's responsibility with the Buckeyes' recruiting was the Canton-Alliance-Massillon area, which is part of Stark County. Ohio State's 1968 national championship team had 13 players from that area, including six starters.

Bob gave up coaching in the fall of 1968 to become assistant principal at Hartford High in Canton. While there, he received his master's degree in education in 1970 from the University of Akron. He stayed there until 1971, when he moved with McCullough to Iowa State.

Marcum is a native of West Virginia and a 1959 graduate of Marshall University. He was an outstanding athlete at Huntington, W. Va., earning three letters each in football, basketball and baseball. He earned all-state honors in football his senior year. A knee injury, suffered at Marshall, cut short his playing career, but he did serve three years as basketball trainer with the Thundering Herd.

Bob, born Oct. 29, 1936, is an avid golfer and stock car enthusiast. He's a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Directors Association and is active in the College Football Association and the Walter Camp Football Foundation.

Bob and his wife, Cecile, a graduate of the University of Akron, have one daughter, Diana, a 1980 grad of Iowa State. She and her husband, Jim Skogsbergh, a hospital administrator, have one daughter, Katie, and live in South Bend, Ind.

Head Coach Joe Morrison

"Gamecocks"

"Old Dependable" was a moniker worn with pride by South Carolina head football coach Joe Morrison for the 14 years he toiled and starred with the New York Giants in the NFL. He was the epitome of consistency on the playing field and he's carried that trait over into his successful coaching career.

"You know, one of the most impressive things to me about Joe Morrison is that he handles himself and the football program the same whether we are having a 10-1 season like two years ago or the 5-6 record of this past season," says athletic director Bob Marcum. "That's the consistency you look for in a successful football coach."

Morrison has been just that — successful — ever since he traded in his pads for a whistle 13 years ago. During that span of time in the coaching ranks he's established a record of 82-58-5, good for a 58.5 winning percentage. In three years at the University of South Carolina he's posted a fine 20-14 mark. For his efforts he's earned National Coach of the Year laurels from the prestigious Walter Camp Football Foundation, Football News and Playboy magazine.

Morrison started his coaching career at the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga in 1973. Former National Football League adversary Sam Huff recommended him for the job, and he found himself facing a big challenge with a program that had not been overly successful. In three years, he turned the tide, going from two straight 4-7 seasons to a break-even 5-5-1 campaign. That was the last season the Moccasins did not win more games than they lost. In seven years, his record was a fine 44-29-4, highlighted by two nine-victory seasons, in 1977 and '79, and three league titles.

In 1980 he was enticed to the University of New Mexico of the Western Athletic Conference, and again faced a job of putting a program back on its feet. He proved once again to be the man for the job.

His first two Lobo squads were exciting and rose to back-to-back 4-7 seasons. During the third season at Albuquerque, Morrison led the charge to an outstanding 10-1 record. The lone defeat came at the hands of eventual league titlist, Brigham Young. The glittering mark was the best in New Mexico history and that squad ranked among the country's best in scoring, total and rushing offense, and rushing defense.

On the heels of this outstanding ledger, he caught the eye of South Carolina athletic director Marcum and on Dec. 5, 1982, was hired as the Gamecock boss.

His first year in Columbia he guided the team to a 5-6 record, not bad when you consider the "experts" tabbed the South Carolina club to win but one or two games. In 1984 the Gamecocks surprised the football world with the 10-1 season, Gator Bowl date and national ranking as high as second. This past season was one of pre-season promise, but a string of crippling injuries during the middle of the season and inconsistency from the youthful squad culminated in a 5-6 mark.

Through it all Morrison remained consistent and committed to his system.

Morrison, born Aug. 21, 1937, grew up in Lima, Ohio, where he lettered four years in football, three in basketball and three in baseball at Lima South High.

After graduating in 1955, he moved on to the University of Cincinnati on a football scholarship. He had a fine career, setting school records in scoring, passing and rushing while twice earning All-Missouri Valley Conference honors. He played in numerous postseason all-star games and after his senior year was drafted in the third round by the New York Giants.

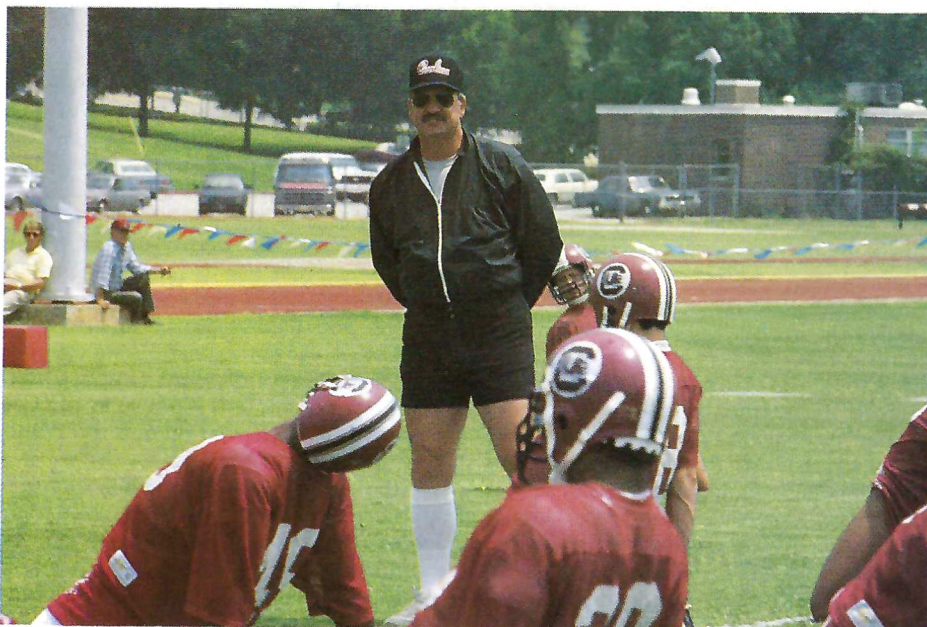

"I thought I'd give the pros a shot," he said, "but who'd have ever thought it would last 14 years."

When Morrison did retire, the Giants thought enough of his stay to retire his number 40 jersey. During those 14 seasons, he played eight positions for the club, including quarterback, halfback, fullback, flanker, tight end, split end and defensive strong safety. He was team captain seven times, holds numerous club records and missed just eight games in 14 years.

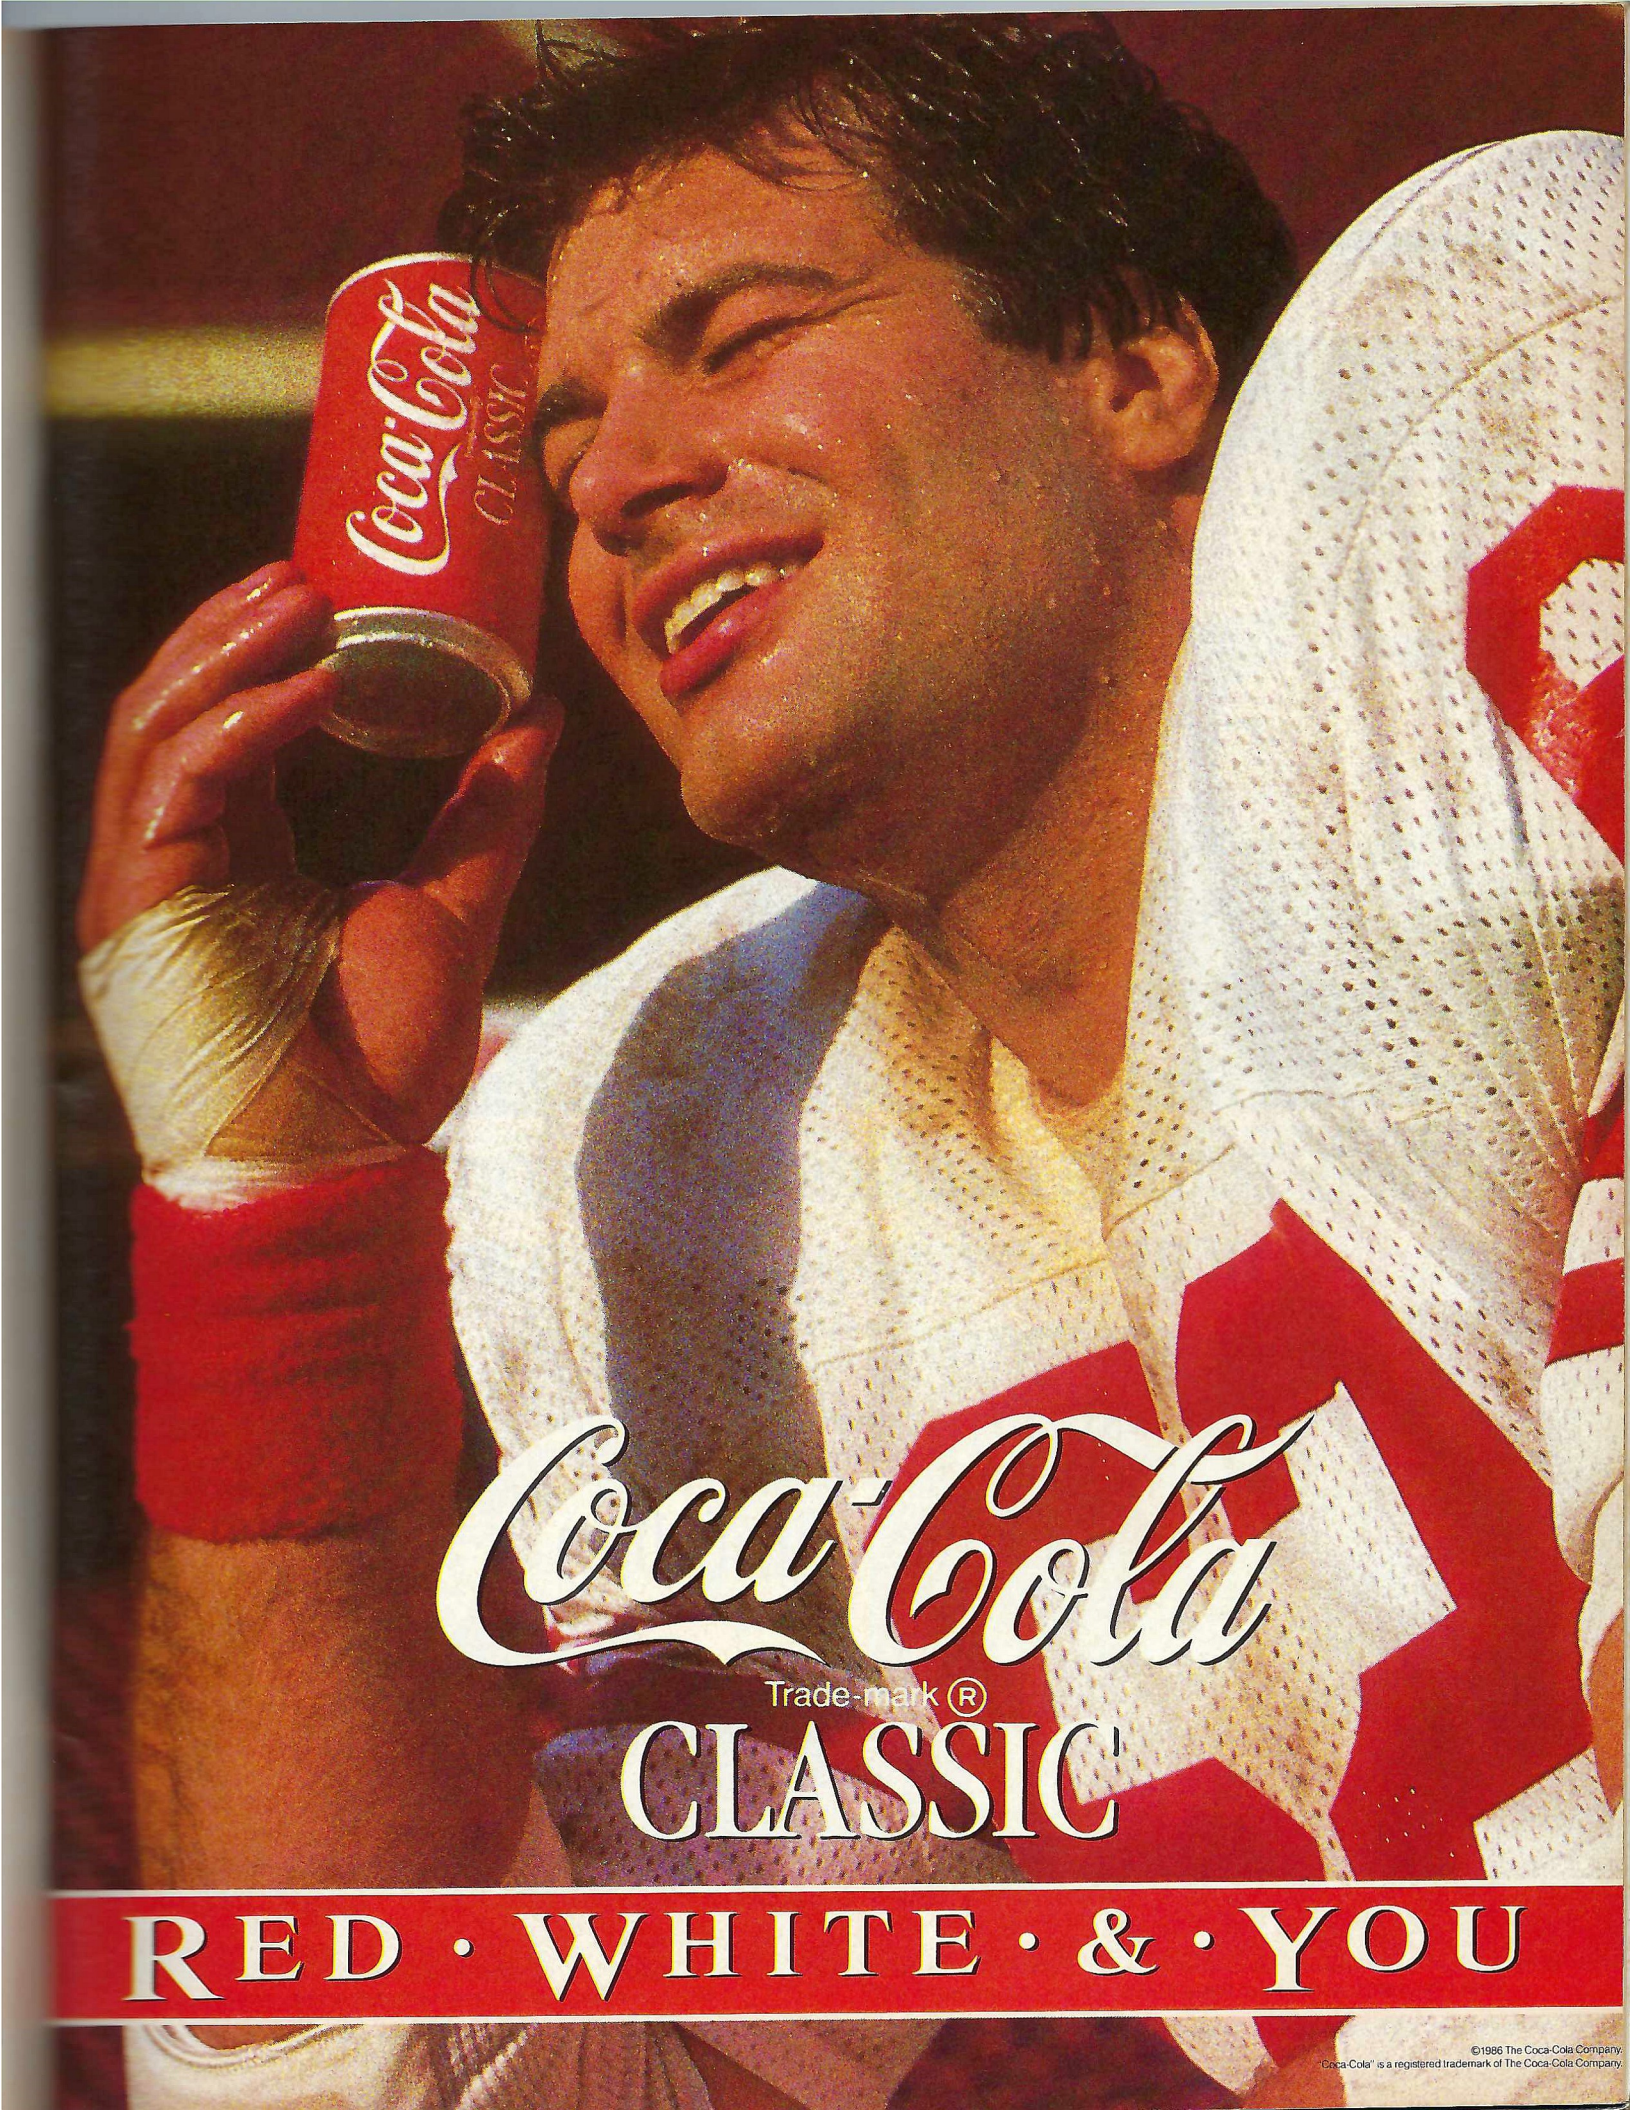

He was singled out as the Most Valuable Player by the NFL Touchdown Club, and honored with the Sportsman Award before retirement in 1972. Later his alma mater, Cincinnati, inducted him into its Football Hall of Fame.

Joe is married to the former JeVena Armstrong of Murfreesboro, Tenn., a former Miss Tennessee. JV is responsible for public relations and fund raising for a Columbia high school.

When he's not coaching, speaking or promoting the University of South Carolina and its football program, Morrison is an avid golfer, and follower of thoroughbred race horses and stock car racing.

Frank Sadler
Assistant Head Coach/
Offensive Coordinator

Frank Sadler, one of the nation's most recognized and respected offensive coaches, begins his fourth year on the South Carolina coaching staff and his eighth campaign with head man Joe Morrison.

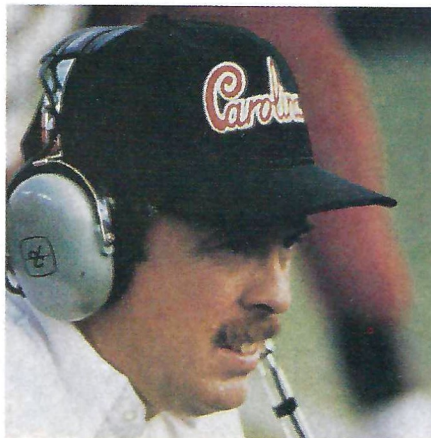

In addition to directing the Gamecocks' explosive run and shoot offense, Sadler works specifically with the quarterbacks.

The 50-year-old Sadler was with Morrison at both New Mexico and the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga. At New Mexico and South Carolina his offensive teams have been nationally ranked in total offense and points scored. He was offensive coordinator at UT-Chattanooga for five seasons ('77-'81), the last three under Morrison. The Moccasins posted a 40-12-3 record and won three Southern Conference titles.

Sadler spent 17 years as a highly successful high school coach—14 of them as a head coach—before moving on to the major college level. His high school record was an impressive 85-49-6.

Sadler, a four-year letterman at Troy State, was a 1960 graduate. He led the nation in kickoff returns and set an NAIA record with a 103-yard return. Frank was an all-conference selection in both football and baseball, where he played as an outfielder and pitcher. He earned his master's in 1965.

Frank is a member of the American Football Coaches Association and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He enjoys hunting and fishing and also lists art as a hobby. He and his wife, Patti, a teacher in the Columbia school system, have two sons, Frank Jr. and Shaun.

Tom Gadd
Defensive Coordinator/
Outside Linebackers

The keeper of the "Fire Ant" defense is 39-year-old Tom Gadd, who begins his fourth season as coordinator of the defense for Coach Joe Morrison. Gadd masterminded the concept of the Fire Ants and a swarming, all-out aggressive nature has been the Gamecocks' trademark. During that time he's had three players earn All-America recognition.

Gadd is an 18-year coaching veteran who came to South Carolina following a six-year stint as defensive coordinator at the University of Utah. It was there that he caught the eye of Joe Morrison in the wild Western Athletic Conference. Twice during his stay with the Utes his charges led the conference in total defense. The record during that time was 35-31.

Before joining the Utah staff, Gadd was defensive coordinator at Cal State Long Beach for three seasons. In 1976 they were 9th in the nation defensively. He began his coaching career at Cal Riverside in 1970. Tom played football at San Diego Community College and after two seasons transferred to Cal Riverside, where he lettered two seasons. He earned his degree in '70.

Gadd and his wife, Carol, a teacher in the Columbia school system, have two sons, Danny 8, and Jeffrey, 7. During his spare time, Tom is an avid golfer. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association. Tom's coaching interest dates back to his youth as his father was a high school coach.

Mike Bender
Offensive Line

Responsibility for the offensive line is in the more than capable hands of this long-time associate of coach Joe Morrison—Mike Bender. Before joining the Gamecocks for the start of the 1983 season he worked alongside Morrison at the University of New Mexico.

At both schools he's helped the offensive units to become nationally ranked in rushing and total offense. While at South Carolina he's coached a consensus All-America, Del Wilkes (1984). This past spring center Leonard Burton was a high choice in the NFL draft.

Prior to joining Morrison at New Mexico in 1980, Bender served as offensive line coach at his alma mater, Arkansas, in the 1979 and '80 seasons. He began his coaching career with the Razorbacks as freshman line coach in 1968 and was head freshman coach in 1972.

Between coaching stints at Arkansas he was a highly successful high school head coach, winning two state titles and a three-year mark of 33-3 at Hot Springs.

Bender was a successful player for Arkansas, earning All-Southwest Conference and honorable mention All-America honors while playing on the 1965 national titlist. He played in two Cotton Bowls. Following graduation he played two seasons with the Atlanta Falcons of the NFL.

Bender was also an outstanding student, earning his master's degree from Southern Arkansas in 1971, with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average.

He and his wife, Judith Gayle, have two children, Brent, 17, and Eden, 13. He's an avid golfer and country-music fan. He's active in the American Coaches Association and the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation.

William "Tank" Black
Wingbacks

Tank Black will be taking on a new responsibility for Coach Joe Morrison with the 1986 season. In the three previous campaigns at South Carolina Black has been responsible for the wide receivers. This season he'll be in charge of the wingbacks in the run and shoot offense.

Black joined the Gamecocks in 1983 after three years with the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga as the passing game coordinator. During that time the Mocs were 22-10.

At South Carolina he's helped develop the Gamecock passing game with standouts like Ira Hillary (All-South Independent), Eric Poole and current players Bryan Bethea and Sterling Sharpe.

Prior to becoming a collegiate coach he worked with the defensive secondary at Greenville, Tenn., and the team went 7-3.

Tank was one of the all-time standouts in NAIA football earning All-America honors three times at Carson-Newman College. He was the school's most valuable player three times as well and is still their all-time leading career pass receiver with 209 catches. He was the 1978 Player of the Year in the South.

Following graduation in 1979 he signed as a free agent with the Atlanta Falcons and was the last player cut prior to the opening of the season.

Black and his wife, Charlotte, have a son, Jeremy, 3, and a daughter, Shayla Monique, born during spring practice. His hobbies are music, pool and reading. He is also active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Ricky Diggs
Wide Receivers

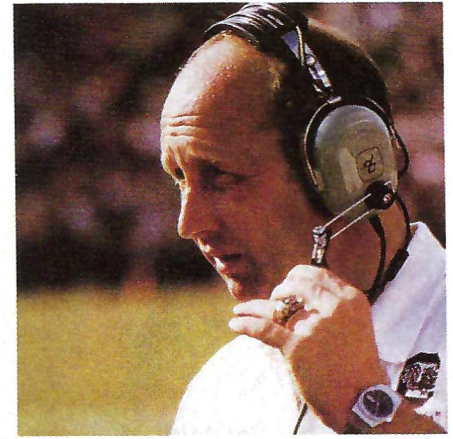

Another coach who's made a position change with the coming of the run and shoot offense is Ricky Diggs. The 32-year-old Diggs has been responsible for the running game and since last spring has been in charge of the wide receivers.

Diggs begins his fourth year with the Gamecocks and Coach Joe Morrison. He joined the staff in '83 as a part-time assistant, then was elevated to full-time status before the season. He had spent three prior years coaching the running backs at The Citadel, where he tutored Stump Mitchell, now a standout with the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL.

Diggs got his start in coaching in 1975 in his native Harrisburg, Pa., where he served as offensive coordinator for John Harris High School. He attended Shippensburg State College, where he earned all-league honors in 1973 and '74. He was the first back in school history to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a single season. He graduated in 1975 and earned his master's degree from The Citadel in '80.

While at USC he's worked with folks like Thomas Dendy and Kent Hagood and this past season had to juggle the group because of numerous injuries.

Diggs is a member of the American Football Coaches Association and enjoys jogging in his spare time, along with cycling, reading, golf and music. Ricky and his wife, Nancy, have two young sons, Richard, 2, and Eric, 9 months.

Tom Kurucz
Running Backs

For the third time in his 13-year coaching career, Tom Kurucz is alongside head coach Joe Morrison. Prior to becoming a Gamecock coach in 1983, he served as assistant line and tight end coach at New Mexico. He began his coaching career in 1973 with Morrison at the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga.

Kurucz has coached the tight ends during the first three years at South Carolina but had his responsibilities switched during the spring and now he's the team's running back coach. In addition to the backs, he is also in charge of special teams.

Tom also has the distinction of having been a head college coach, serving in 1979 at the University of Chicago. He's also been an assistant coach at Kentucky and Millersville State.

Kurucz graduated from Tennessee-Martin in 1975 after interrupting his education for a stint with the United States Marines. He received his master's in guidance and counseling in 1978 from Millersville State.

Tom lists as his hobbies pool and physical fitness. He's a member of the American Football Coaches Association, serving as head of the Program Committee, the only assistant coach to serve in that capacity. His wife, Mary Ellen, is the assistant academic counselor for the Gamecock athletes.

Tom McMahon
Defensive Secondary

Secondary coach Tom McMahon has also had a long and successful association with head man Joe Morrison. Tom begins his fourth season with the Gamecocks and his seventh year overall with Morrison. Prior to coming to Columbia with Morrison he served as secondary coach at New Mexico. He was also responsible for the Lobos' recruiting efforts.

McMahon is a 13-year coaching veteran, with stints at Colorado State (1973-78) and Wyoming ('79) in addition to New Mexico and South Carolina.

At South Carolina he's built a reputation for an aggressive secondary and during his stay has coached one All-America, Bryant Gilliard (1984) and three All-South Independents, Gilliard, Joe Brooks and current safety Greg Philpot.

Tom played junior college ball at Golden West in 1968-69 as quarterback and wide receiver. He transferred to Montana as a wide receiver and graduation followed in 1972. He received his master's in administration education in 1974 while coaching at Colorado State.

Tom is a member of the American Football Coaches Association and enjoys golfing, softball and gardening. He is active with the Special Olympics, serving on the state board. He and his wife, Marilyn, have two sons, Kyle, 3, and Kevin, 2.

Jim Washburn
Defensive Line

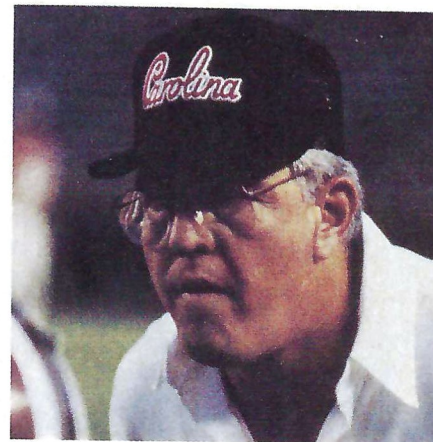

One of the architects of the "Fire Ant" defense is line coach Jim Washburn. Jim's another of the familiar faces surrounding head coach Joe Morrison. He starts his fourth year with the Gamecocks as the defensive line coach and his seventh campaign with Morrison after working at the University of New Mexico in a similar capacity.

Washburn has been in college coaching for nine years with stops at Southern Methodist University, Lees-McRae College and Livingston University. He joined Morrison at New Mexico in 1980.

Jim was a four-year letterman at Gardner-Webb College and following graduation tried his hand at professional football—in the NFL with the Kansas City Chiefs, and in the World Football League. He came back to earn his master's from North Carolina A&T in 1975.

Jim got his start in coaching in 1975 at Randelman High School in Randelman, N.C.

He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association and in his spare time enjoys jogging, hunting and music. He and his wife, Sandy, have two sons, Jeremiah, 8, Brady, 6, and a daughter, Jessica, 2.

Frank Orgel
Inside Linebackers

The newest addition to the Gamecock coaching family is Georgia native Frank Orgel, who is in charge of the inside linebackers for Coach Joe Morrison.

Orgel, 48 years old, is a 13-year coaching veteran. Prior to coming to South Carolina in the spring, he served as defensive coordinator with the Auburn Tigers. During his stay the Tigers won the Southeastern Conference title and played in the Sugar and Cotton Bowls. Before Auburn he also had coaching stints at Clemson, East Carolina and North Alabama. Before becoming a collegiate coach, he served as head coach and athletic director at Warner Robins High School in Warner Robins, Ga.

Frank was a three-year letterman as a tight end for the University of Georgia from 1958-61. He helped guide the Bulldogs to the 1959 SEC title and a trip to the Orange Bowl. After school and a stint in the Army, he played two years of professional football with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

Frank is a member of the American Football Coaches Association and lists golf as a hobby. He and his wife, Sarah, have one daughter, Leigh Ann, 7.

Charlie Lyle

Director of Athletic Recruiting/Administrative Assistant

Charlie Lyle begins his second year as director of recruiting for the University of South Carolina athletic department and as administrative assistant to head football coach Joe Morrison. However, Lyle, 46 years old, is not a stranger to athletics. He's a 23-year veteran of coaching in the collegiate, professional and high school ranks.

Lyle came to South Carolina after three seasons with Steve Spurrier and the Tampa Bay Bandits of the United States Football League. Prior to that he had coaching stops at Florida and Iowa State and got his collegiate start at Tampa. He was a running back and defensive back at Tampa, graduating in 1962.

Lyle's responsibility with the Gamecocks is developing recruiting for the entire department and assisting Coach Morrison with day-to-day duties in the office. He's responsible for the annual coaching clinic and football camp.

Keith Kephart

Director of Strength and Conditioning

For the past four years the University of South Carolina strength and conditioning program has been in the more than capable hands of Keith Kephart. His reputation is one of outstanding achievement in the weight room and the playing fields. Kephart is judged by coaches, players and his peers to be the best in the business. In 1982 his fellow strength coaches voted the 42-year-old Kephart as their Coach of the Year. Since that time he's been honored even more by the same group as the president of the National Strength Coaches Association.

Keith joined the department in 1982 as recruiting coordinator for the entire department. In addition he coordinated and supervised the department's academic office, and the sports medicine, athletic equipment, and strength conditioning programs. Following the football season he moved full time into strength and conditioning.

Kephart came to USC after a successful career at the University of Kansas. He also worked at Iowa State and Northern Iowa both in strength and recruiting.

Keith received his bachelor's degree from Dubuque and his master's from Iowa State. He was a four-year letterman in football and track and was honored as a little All-America in football.

Kephart is a member of the Board of Directors and president of the National Strength and Conditioning Association. During his free time he enjoys lifting weights and is still active in competition, winning runner-up honors in the over 40 division last year.

Keith and his wife, Sue, are parents of three daughters, Kyra, 14, Kristen, 12, and Karla, 10.

Terry Lewis
Head Trainer

Responsibility for the entire University of South Carolina athletic training belongs to 42-year-old Terry Lewis. He begins his fourth year with the Gamecocks after moving from the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga. He served in a similar capacity with the Moccasins, four of those years alongside Joe Morrison.

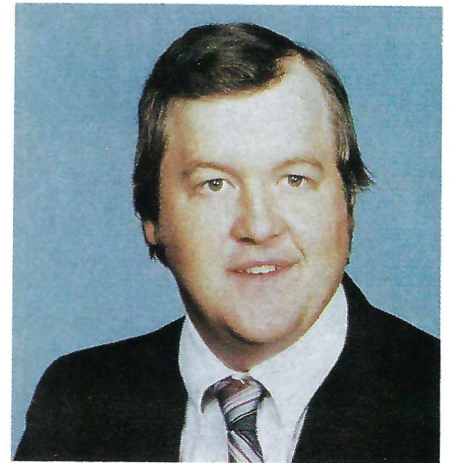

Lewis has been busy during his career at South Carolina. He goes about his business in a professional manner that has become his trademark and keeps the Gamecocks on the field of play. His main thrust is preventive medicine.

Prior to entering into college training, Lewis spent nine seasons at the high school and junior high level. Terry earned his degrees from Auburn, a bachelor's in 1968 and master's in '72. He is a past secretary/treasurer of the Tennessee Athletic Trainers Society and holds current memberships in the National Athletic Trainers Association and Southeastern Trainers Association.

Terry and his wife, Grace, are the parents of two children, Vickie, 11, and Wes, 5.

The University of South Carolina

Founded in 1801 as South Carolina College, the University of South Carolina is the oldest state institution in the United States to be continuously supported by public funds. From the original campus, situated just blocks from the South Carolina State House in Columbia, the university has grown to a system of nine campuses, situated throughout the state.

The Columbia campus, the heart of the university system, fans out from the Horseshoe, the site of the original South Carolina College. With its buildings fully restored to their 19th-century elegance, the Horseshoe is now the home of a new South Carolina College, a special program for highly gifted and motivated students. The rest of the 242-acre urban campus, with strikingly modern facilities, provides a dramatic architectural contrast. Most academic units are now housed in structures built within the last 15 years.

The University of South Carolina currently enrolls nearly 35,000 students system-wide. Undergraduate enrollment on the Columbia campus in the fall of 1985 was 15,089 (an almost 50-50 ratio of men to women), with a graduate enrollment of 8,174. Eighty-five percent of the student body is from South Carolina, but students come to USC from all other states and from 98 foreign countries. Minorities make up 15 percent of the student body on the Columbia campus.

The Columbia faculty of 1,403 includes many who are nationally and internationally renowned for teaching, scholarship and research in the sciences, humanities and professional fields. More than 78 percent of the faculty hold earned doctorates and 37 faculty members hold chair professorships.

Approximately 50 percent of the university's budget stems from state appropriations, the remainder being provided through tuition, grants and corporate and individual donations. The Summit Fund, the first comprehensive fund drive in the history of the university, exceeded its goal of $35 million in 1984.

Since 1977, the university has been awarded more than $126 million in funding for research and contract programs. The number of grants for scientific research, and their amounts, continue to increase, and new relationships with institutions and scientists around the world are being developed.

The university's instructional programs are administered through 17 academic units: the colleges of Applied Professional Sciences, Business Administration, Criminal Justice, Engineering, Health, Humanities and Social Sciences, Journalism, Nursing, Pharmacy, Science and Mathematics, South Carolina College, Education, Law, Library and Information Science, Medicine, Social Work and the Graduate School. Sixty-three programs of study are offered leading to the bachelor's degree, with the option of adding advanced education courses for teacher preparation and certification. The master's is awarded in 104 fields, the doctorate in 50. The School of Law awards the J.D. degree and the School of Medicine the M.D.

As part of the university's continuing efforts to develop international ties that will benefit the economic future of the state, the Byrnes International Center has brought many important foreign visitors to the campus to meet with students, faculty and state business leaders. President Reagan spoke at the USC Horseshoe in the fall of 1983 and received an honorary degree. In July of 1984, the university hosted, on the Columbia campus, the historic Meeting of the Caribbean Heads of Government, which also brought President Reagan to the campus for a second visit. Vice President George Bush and Lord Carrington, secretary general of NATO, were featured speakers at a three-day conference on the future of the Western community in October 1985. In November 1985, an international conference on financial and economic issues of the Western Hemisphere brought the managing director of the International Monetary Fund, the Prime Minister of Jamaica and other economic and political leaders to the Columbia campus. The 1985-86 Western Community Symposium series opened with an address by Henry Kissinger and included talks by ambassadors to the United States from the Federal Republic of Germany, Japan, Great Britain and the People's Republic of China, as well as by Lawrence Eagleburger, former undersecretary of state for political affairs and a distinguished visiting professor at USC.

The University of South Carolina library collections contain more than two million volumes, 2.3 million microfilms and more than 2.4 million manuscripts. The library receives more than 17,000 current periodicals. Opened in 1976 in the heart of the USC campus, Thomas Cooper Library is the university system's main library facility and seats more than 2,500. Thomas Cooper features three above-ground and four underground floors and is a member of the Association of Research Libraries, which comprises the 100 largest research libraries in America.

Serving the faculty and students of the USC system, 70 state agencies and 15 academic institutions across the state, the university's Computer Center houses the largest and most widely used computing network in the Southeast. About 60 percent of the university's computer time is devoted to research and instruction.

The facilities of the Solomon Blatt Physical Education Center include an indoor Olympic-sized pool, racquetball, tennis, handball, basketball and squash courts, weight-training equipment, and many other facilities for athletic enthusiasts.

Carolina Coliseum is home for the USC Fighting Gamecock and Lady Gamecock basketball teams. Both squads play schedules of major universities across the nation. The Coliseum also is used extensively for a wide variety of concerts and cultural events, trade shows, meetings and conventions. The colleges of Journalism and Applied Professional Sciences are housed in the building's academic areas.

The recently expanded Russell House, a center for student activities, features a movie theater, large lecture hall, game room and dining facilities. Lectures, meetings and cultural events are held in the Russell House Ballroom.

McKissick Museum, located on the Horseshoe, houses the university's permanent exhibits and collections, and features many traveling exhibitions during the year. The Art Gallery exhibits major shows by internationally known artists.

The department of geology, the marine science program and the Baruch Institute for Marine Science and Coastal Research occupy the Earth and Water Science Center, which includes laboratory facilities for multidisciplinary research.

Construction is underway on the John E. Swearingen Engineering Center, a $15-million state-of-the-art classroom/research facility, and on the Ira and Nancy Koger Center for the Arts, which will house a 2,300-seat auditorium for musical and theatrical performances.

Why Research?

USC engineering professor Dr. William Ranson demonstrates the use of a laser and video camera in gathering data on the stages of heart disease. Ranson is working with researchers at the USC School of Medicine to develop new diagnostic and treatment methods of cardiology.

Research is not an either-or proposition. College professors don't teach OR do research. They do both. Their research hones the cutting edge of their teaching skills.

A great research university is a great teaching university. It attracts the best faculty, inspired to pursue their research interests while sharing their knowledge with students. It attracts the best students, eager to learn from those who are exploring new dimensions of knowledge.

The University of South Carolina is well on its way to becoming a major research university. Already it is in the top 100 of non-land grant institutions in the amount of outside funding received each year for sponsored programs and research.

By the year 2001, USC President Dr. James B. Holderman believes that Carolina can be one of the top research institutions in the country.

Meanwhile, faculty in the sciences, in engineering, in the humanities and social sciences, in medicine and in the arts are contributing daily to Carolina's growing reputation for research excellence—and through their work, they are improving the quality of life for everyone.

Look at a few of the things they are doing. . .

- Mosquitos make life miserable for many of us—but in some countries they threaten life itself. USC's Center for Public Health Research is developing ways to curb the malaria-carrying mosquito population through the use of fish species that eat the mosquito larvae or the vegetation that harbors them. Kudzu foliage, ground into a "protein stew," feeds mosquito-killing bacteria, effective against insect strains that have developed immunity to insecticides.

- In 1886 Charleston was rocked by a major earthquake. Geologists know it was not an isolated incident, but part of a chain of events likely to recur. The question is when—every 100 years, every 1,000 years or every 10,000 years? A lot rides on the answers being sought by USC geologists, who are studying seismic clues in the state's earth strata to find a pattern that will enable them to predict when the next major earthquake is likely to occur in South Carolina.

- The oil crisis of the '70s brought with it a recognition that nations must no longer be dependent on petroleum production in one part of the world. Scientists at

Nuclear energy is part of our way of life.

Fortunately, so is Chem-Nuclear.

Nuclear energy is important to us in South Carolina—it is used to generate more than half of the electricity we use. So, when you turn on the lights, or the television, there's a good chance the electricity you're using comes from a nuclear generating plant.

Nuclear energy and technology are also vitally important in medical research and the treatment of many diseases. Industries, too, use nuclear materials in productive, socially useful applications.

But like almost every other aspect of modern life, both the production of electricity and the other uses of nuclear technology create waste. Most materials that come into contact with radioactive substances become contaminated and must be properly handled. Even slightly contaminated articles like tools and rags have to be disposed of with care.

That's where Chem-Nuclear comes in. We've developed much of the technology used in the management of low level radioactive waste—from processing, packaging, and transportation to permanent disposal. And we provide all those services to utilities, hospitals, universities and industries in every area of South Carolina.

These Chem-Nuclear services all have one goal—protecting public health and safety and preserving our environment. Everything we do is carried out with the highest degree of safety-consciousness and attention to detail—no corners are cut.

Modern life produces waste. Whether it's your family's garbage that can be hauled to a sanitary landfill, or the low level radioactive waste produced when you turn on a light, it must be managed properly if the quality of our environment is to be maintained.

All of us play a part in the generation of low level radioactive waste. Fortunately, Chem-Nuclear can handle it.

"Gamecocks"

USC's Earth Sciences and Resources Institute (ESRI) are doing geological studies worldwide and sharing their knowledge with the petroleum industry in an effort to guarantee adequate energy supplies for coming generations.

• In addition to research for the future, ESRI scientist Dr. Michael Hoffman is exploring the past in Hierakonpolis—"The City of the Falcon"—on the banks of the Nile. Under Hoffman's direction, geologists, zoologists, artists, architects and geochemists are trying to find out how a few strong individuals created the world's first nation-state out of primitive prehistoric villages. So far they have uncovered the oldest temple ever found in Egypt, the royal cemetery of the last prehistoric kings of Egypt, which contains the oldest stone tomb in the world, and a royal palace of the First Dynasty.

• Cancer, a terrible disease at any age, is particularly tragic when it strikes children. USC School of Medicine professors

Dr. Robert Ettinger, Dr. Ronnie Neuberg and Dr. William Schmidt are conducting basic and clinical research at the Children's Cancer Research Laboratory, trying to improve the quality of life for both terminally ill children and those whose cancer has been cured. The laboratory is a cooperative effort of Richland Memorial Hospital's Children's Hospital and the USC School of Medicine.

• Many of the nation's bridges, built decades ago, may be at risk after years of heavy use. Engineering professor Michael Sutton is working on new systems for stress-testing the structural safety of such bridges. In 1985 he received the Presidential Young Investigator Award, which brings with it $500,000 in research grants over a five-year period.

• Advanced technology is creating a "fifth generation" of computers, capable of processing knowledge and numerical data at extremely high speeds. USC engineering professor Dr. Hideaki Kobayashi has developed a fifth generation computer chip that can perform up to 20 million calculations per second. Kobayashi's work demonstrates Carolina's ability to compete in the move to attract the high-tech industries that are so important to the future economic health of the state.

• South Carolina ranks among the top 10 states in the nation in deaths from heart disease and stroke. Researchers in USC's School of Medicine, College of Health, and College of Science and Mathematics are working singly and together to find new ways to treat and prevent this devastating illness.

• Geographers at USC are using satellites to develop information about South Carolina that can help planners in their work with water resources, population shifts, forestry, agriculture and other state concerns. Through their research, greater knowledge about human development and needs is available.

Lineman Of The Year

Football is a team game in the true sense of the word. It takes a superlative effort from every squad member to succeed.

The offensive and defensive linemen are those players "in the trenches" whose performance so often play important roles in determining the outcome of the game. Pizza Hut and the South Carolina Network give you the opportunity to recognize the outstanding lineman of the 1986 Gamecock Football Team by placing an offensive or defensive lineman in nomination for this award.

Your choice for the Pizza Hut/South Carolina Network Lineman of the Year will be recognized with an individual trophy, a letter of commendation and his name will be permanently displayed at the University of South Carolina Athletic Center.

It's your turn to recognize the Lineman of the Year from the 1986 Gamecock Football Team.

Nomination Form

Name of Player

Please return your nomination form to your nearest Pizza Hut® restaurant. Player nominated must be an offensive or defensive lineman on the 1986 Gamecock Football Team. Winner will be announced at the end of the 1986 football season. Decision of the judges is final.

Some people set higher standards for themselves. They come out early. And stay late. Funny, how they're usually the winners.

At Ricoh, we set higher product standards. And we put in that extra effort. Maybe that's why Ricoh's line of copiers, digital facsimile, laser printers, and shredders are setting new standards of performance in today's modern office. And that's why Ricoh cameras are winning the attention of amateurs and professionals alike in the world of photography.

Be a winner. Demand that extra effort. Ask for Ricoh. We Respond.

Tires: Goodyear Eagle VR S "Gatorback" street radials.*

The fact that both of these Corvettes are on Goodyear Eagle street radials is no coincidence.

The 1986 Corvette Convertible.
Factory specified tires: Goodyear Eagle VR "Gatorback" street radials.

Every Corvette made since 1984 comes with just one make of tire: the Goodyear Eagle VR "Gatorback" street radial.

Which is no coincidence.

Because the Eagle VR "Gatorback" was developed specifically for the Corvette's tremendous cornering, handling and speed capabilities.

Considering the performance of the Eagle VR "Gatorback," it's not surprising that successful

SCCA Showroom Stock Endurance racing teams like Rippie/Anderson also choose an Eagle street radial.*

The Eagle VR S "Gatorback," a version of the Eagle VR "Gatorback" made for ultimate grip rather than ultimate treadlife.

The success of both the Eagle VR and VR S "Gatorbacks" has a common source:

Goodyear's ability to engineer better high-performance radials. For virtually every performance car.

So it's really no coincidence that the Eagle VR is to be found on every Corvette made.

Or that the Eagle VR S is the favorite tire of people who race Corvettes in the SCCA Showroom Stock Endurance Series.

In fact, when you think of how the Eagles perform, it's no coincidence at all.

*Tires shaved to racing depth. Before you race on Goodyear street radials, write the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, P.O. Box 9125, Akron, Ohio 44305 for preparation recommendations and procedures.

YOU EITHER HAVE GOODYEAR EAGLES. OR YOU NEED THEM.

Florida State University

Florida State University, a coeducational institution and a senior member of the nine universities in the state system, is in Tallahassee, Florida, the state's capital.

Located just a few blocks from the Capitol, the Florida State campus is considered to be one of the most beautiful in the Southeast. The 347-acre campus is covered with hardwoods, pines and palms as well as springtime greenery that combines the blossoms of camellias, azaleas and dogwoods.

The 22,000 students currently enrolled at Florida State learn from a faculty of 1,527 which includes four members of the National Academy of Sciences. The University has 450 administrative and professional staff and 2,359 career service positions. Nearly 5,000 part-time employees, most of them students, are on the payroll each year.

FSU was established in 1857, when the governor of Florida, James E. Broome, signed a bill establishing the Seminary West of the Suwannee River in Tallahassee. The school consisted of one building located on 10 acres of land.

By 1860, the school, not yet a college, had an enrollment of 250. The president of the seminary organized the school into a four-year liberal arts college in 1887. At its first commencement in June 1891, degrees were conferred on two women and five men. Ten years later, the institution was renamed Florida State College. In 1905, it became Florida Female College, and in 1909 the name was changed to Florida State College for Women (FSCW). Dr. Edward Conradi was named president, a post he held until 1941.

In 1945, FSCW took on the additional title, Tallahassee Branch of the University of Florida (TBUF), due to the fact that GIs stationed nearby were attending classes at the women's school, but, as men couldn't really enroll.

Gov. Millard Caldwell signed a bill in 1947 making both the University of Florida and FSCW coeducational. FSCW became Florida State University.

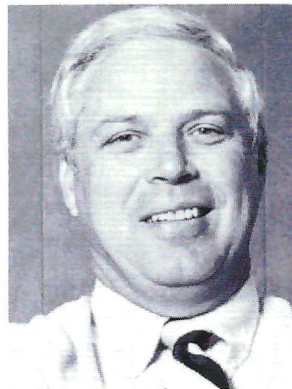

Florida State now offers students the opportunity to choose from more than 100 career options in arts and sciences, business, communication, criminology, education, engineering, home economics, law, library and information studies, music, nursing, social sciences, social work, theater and visual arts. Honors programs are available for top students.

The Florida State campus is located in Tallahassee, Fla.

The University's location in the state capital affords excellent study, research and internship opportunities in the areas of government, social sciences, law and policy sciences.

Members of the University community, as well as local residents, take advantage of continuing education opportunities offered by the Center for Professional Development and Public Service, headquartered in the Florida State Conference Center.

When it comes to intercollegiate athletics, Florida State has established a winning tradition. Both the men's and women's athletic programs are among the nation's best.

South Carolina welcomes Head Coach Bobby Bowden and the rest of our visitors from Florida State University.

BUT WE FIND NEW ONES EVERY DAY.

Dr. John Vernberg, for instance, is finding answers to ecological questions about our marine environment.

As director of USC's unique marine research center, the Baruch Institute for Marine Biology and Coastal Research, Vernberg has been awarded more than $5 million in grants to study the coastal areas of South Carolina.

Vernberg's work is creating a better understanding of the sea that is helping the state achieve orderly coastal development while protecting its valuable fishing resources.

Such research takes enormous sums of money. Both the private sector and government agencies who supply the funds are encouraging those who look for answers at USC.

Funded research and sponsored programs during FY 1985-86 totaled a record $30.8 million at Carolina, up 48 percent in the past two years. Research alone amounted to over $20 million, with more than 740 projects underway.

This is a triple dividend for the state.

In addition to generating new knowledge, USC research funding brings millions of dollars into the economy, making the University a vital part of South Carolina's economic development.

The third dividend is equally important. As research expands and knowledge increases, the reputation of the University grows, more excellent faculty are attracted, the brightest students come here to study.

And new answers appear every day.

Raynard Brown

By Joanne Korth
Sports Information Office

So, you think there's something Raynard Brown can't do, huh? Well, don't bother telling him about it because more than likely he's not going to believe you.

If you think he's too short to play major college football at five-foot-nine, don't tell him.

If you don't think he can catch the football as well as he runs with it, don't tell him.

It's no use.

In fact, if there's anything you'd like Raynard to do, it might be an advantage to tell him he can't do it.

There's nothing he dislikes more than people telling him he's incapable of doing something.

"People all my life have told me I'm too short," said Brown. "But if you listen to what everybody else says you'll be so confused you won't know what you're doing. You just have to make the best of yourself out of what you have to work with."

Hearing negative comments about his size just makes him work all the harder.

While the 5-9 senior wingback from Greensboro, N.C., can't do much about adding to his height, he certainly did disprove the people who doubted his ability to catch and run with the ball in his new position in the run-and-shoot offense.

As a runningback in the veer offense, Brown ran with the ball 12 to 15 times a game — plain and simple. But, now he is in a situation where he is catching passes for the first time in his football career.

The change means Brown doesn't touch the ball as much as he used to, but that doesn't bother him.

"Whatever the defense gives you, that's where the ball goes," he said. "You can't be selfish. You just have to get your job done."

But, getting the job done at wingback did not come naturally to Brown. Admittedly, he had a hard time catching the ball at first. A few doubting Thomases inspired him to work harder.

"I spent a lot of extra time before and after practices, working on catching the ball," he said. "I wanted to prove that I could do it. It was a challenge. And I also knew that if I didn't catch the ball, I wouldn't play."

Raynard Brown returned a kickoff 99 yards for a touchdown two years ago in South Carolina's win over Florida State in Columbia.

College football has enabled him to develop the type of patience and tolerance necessary to accept situations which may not be ideal for him.

"I've become more disciplined," he explained. "I've learned to tolerate people and obstacles." That's a trait he says will help him in a career after college. "You may not like your boss, but you have to get your job done. The company comes first, not yourself, at times."

One thing Brown will certainly do after college is stay in shape. What he lacks in height he makes up for in punch. Tipping the scales at 185 pounds, Brown is one of the strongest Gamecocks on the team. His 6.60 power index is tops on the squad, meaning he can lift about six and one-half times his weight.

He claims genetics laid the foundation for him, and he has been lifting weights as a hobby since he was 14 or 15.

Beyond staying in shape, Brown has a diverse list of options layed out for himself for after college — few of which involve sitting still.

"I'm definitely going to be on the move," said Raynard. "I'm thinking about law enforcement or joining the Navy or maybe flying helicopters. I don't plan on getting married anytime soon. I have the rest of my life to work; I can delay nine-to-five for a few years."

If you're thinking any of Brown's ambitions sound a little far fetched — think again. And if you're still not convinced, don't bother telling him what you think because it won't change his mind. It'll only make him more determined.

Stadium Information

RESTROOMS

Restrooms for men and women are located throughout the stadium on all levels.

PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM

The public address system will be used only in case of grave emergency. For emergency announcements, go to the first aid station near gate 3, gate 11 or near Section 305, and the attendant there will telephone your message to the public address announcer.

EXITS

All stadium exits will be opened after the game. Please do not leave the stadium during the game or at halftime if you plan to re-enter. No "pass out" tickets will be issued, and once a person leaves the stadium, he or she will not be permitted to re-enter except in extreme emergency. In such cases, go to the employee pass gate at the Northwest corner of the stadium.

CONCESSIONS

Concessions are sold at locations throughout the stadium and by vendors in the stands. Fans are encouraged to come to the concession stands to pick up refreshments for their parties.

CONCESSION PRICES

(all prices subject to change)

Hot Dog	$1.25	Candy	$.75
Chili Dog	1.75	Drink (16 oz.)	1.00
Peanuts (4½ oz.)	1.00	Chipwich	1.50
Popcorn (box)	.75	Nachos	1.50
Popcorn (tub)	1.50	Cigarettes	1.25

SOUVENIRS

Souvenirs are located at two stands by the ramps under the West stands and at various other points in the stadium.

FIRST AID

Medical facilities, equipped and staffed as limited first-aid treatment stations, are located for convenient access in all stadium areas. If assistance is needed, contact the nearest usher for directions to the nearest first-aid facility.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

Upon leaving the stadium, we ask your full cooperation with the highway patrol in the effort to speed the flow of traffic from the stadium. And, on the way home, please drive carefully as the highways will be congested with weekend crowds.

LOST AND FOUND

Lost and found, for Williams-Brice Stadium only, will be at the Athletic Ticket Office on Rosewood Drive on the Monday following home games between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. The phone number is 777-4274.

Gamecock Spirit

"Gamecocks"

Jim Copenhaver

The hundreds of thousands of South Carolina football fans who flock to Williams-Brice Stadium seven Saturdays each fall to cheer on their Gamecocks are led in part by the enthusiastic spirit and support of the Carolina Band, the USC cheerleaders, and "Cocky," USC's national championship mascot.

Witnessing a South Carolina football game is an electrifying experience and the band and the spirit squad are major ingredients in the color and excitement of Carolina football.

Jim Copenhaver begins his 11th year as band director, while Bill Boggs is in his first year as cheerleading adviser. Hats off to these fine support groups!

Grantland Rice Lied!

Half a century ago, Grantland Rice was elevated to the level of sainthood when he wrote that how you play the game is more important than winning.

But today, he'd probably be laughed right out of the press box.

For better or for worse, winning has become all-important. Not only in athletics, but in business as well.

And helping you win in business, with quality color printing and computerized direct mail services, is what State Printing does best.

Gamecock Traditions

"Gamecocks" School Colors

Garnet and Black were adopted near the turn of the century as the official colors of the University of South Carolina athletic teams.

The colors are dominant ones on the gamecock, which is the University's mascot for its athletic teams.

Retired Numbers

In the 92-year history of South Carolina football, there have been just three jersey numbers retired.

The Gamecocks' greatest player and the school's only Heisman Trophy winner, George Rogers, had his number, 38, retired during halftime activities of Carolina's final 1980 home game. He was the only Gamecock to ever have his uniform jersey retired while he was still active at the school. In fact he played one more game, the 1980 Gator Bowl, following the dedication and retirement.

Running back Steve Wadiak, who wore No. 37 for Carolina (1948-51), was the first to have his number retired, after a tragic automobile accident claimed his life. Wadiak, who still appears throughout the Carolina record book, was the school's all-time rushing leader for 28 years after his senior season.

Wadiak, who rushed for 2,878 yards in his career, had his mark passed by Rogers in 1980. Wadiak led his team in scoring and rushing all four years he played.

Center Mike Johnson, No. 56, became gravely ill before the start of his junior season, and the illness cut short a potentially great football career. Johnson had finished his sophomore campaign as the regular center. When he died in 1967, his number was retired.

Nickname

The University of South Carolina is the only major college in the country to use "Fighting Gamecocks" as the official nickname and mascot of its athletic program. The University's athletic teams have been known as Gamecocks for more than 75 years.

At the turn of the century, after struggling for more than a decade under numerous nicknames, the school's football team was first referred to unofficially as "Game Cocks."

In 1903, Columbia's morning newspaper, The State, shortened the name to one word and South Carolina teams have been Gamecocks ever since.

Those early teams must have been a feisty and spirited group. A gamecock, of course, is a fighting rooster known for its spirit and courage. A cock fight, which was a popular sport throughout the United States in the 19th century, would last until the death of one of the combatants. Cock fighting has been outlawed by most states for humanitarian reasons, but it is still held surreptitiously in many areas.

The state of South Carolina has long been closely connected with the breeding and training of fighting gamecocks. General Thomas Sumter, famed guerrilla fighter of the Revolutionary War, was known as "The Fighting Gamecock."

"Cocky" was named National Mascot of the Year in 1986

The Gamecock Club

Chip Clary
Executive Director
Gamecock Club

Thousands of student/athletes have received their education at the University of South Carolina through the generous contributions of members of the Gamecock Club, the University's official athletic-booster fundraising organization.

The right arm of the USC athletic department started in 1942 and in its 44-year existence has grown to the point that last year it raised over $4 million. The Gamecock Club was one of the nation's first athletic fundraising bodies to top $1 million in contributions when that goal became a reality in 1977.

Providing grant-in-aid scholarships for athletes in each of South Carolina's 14 varsity sports is the primary function of the Gamecock Club. Hosts of alumni and zealous fans of Gamecock and Lady Gamecock athletics have joined themselves in a "Commitment to Excellence" through their financial support in educating the young men and women who proudly represent their University.

All contributions, which are deductible from taxable income, go directly to the University treasurer's office, from which they are expended for the educational needs of qualified students who have earned athletic grants-in-aid.

Chip Clary is in his third year as executive director of the Gamecock Club, having been named to that post Sept. 12, 1984.

Clary was executive vice-president for sales with Columbia Outdoor Advertising Inc., and he had previously worked for Liberty Mutual Fire & Casualty Insurance Co., and for University CIT Credit Corp.

A native of Columbia, Clary has long been active in civic organizations. He is past distinguished district governor of Sertoma International, a past state chairman of the South Carolina Multiple Sclerosis Society, past president and director of the Columbia Advertising Club, and a former trustee of the Carolina Children's Home.

Chip is a 1960 graduate of Dreher High School in Columbia, where he lettered in football and baseball, and he attended The Citadel, Wingate College and South Carolina. He lettered in football at The Citadel and in track at Wingate College. He and his wife, Lydia, have two daughters—Amanda Ross, 19, and Mary Elizabeth, 18.

Funds raised by the Gamecock Club are used for educating student/athletes who qualify on the basis of prescribed levels of scholastic achievement established by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and by the Scholarship Committee of the University of South Carolina, in addition to meeting the standards of athletic ability and achievement set by the respective coaching staffs.

The 53 chapter presidents constitute the board of directors, which governs the club. An elected 16-member executive council meets regularly to recommend policy matters, which are voted upon by the board of directors. The Gamecock Club is beginning its fifth year of operation under a new constitution, which was adopted July 1, 1982.

By virtue of its $4 million status in contributions, the Gamecock Club is one of the nation's leaders in scholarship funding for student/athletes, as it has been for many years.

Gamecock Club membership is open to any alumnus or friend of the University—anyone interested in the advancement of the University and its athletic program.

The minimum contribution is $50, with additional classifications for contributions as follows:

Century Club	$100
Roundhouse	$250
Half Scholarship	$500
Full Scholarship	$1,000
Silver Spur	$2,500 or more
Lifetime Membership	$25,000 or more
Lifetime Silver Spur	$40,000 or more

Gamecock Club members receive membership cards, decals, regular newsletters, Gamecock and Lady Gamecock media guides, and priority on the purchase of tickets. Contributors of $500 or more receive special parking privileges near Williams-Brice Stadium. However, the most satisfying element in a Club member's participation is the knowledge that he or she is assisting student/athletes in their educational pursuits at the University of South Carolina.

GROWING JOBS FOR RURAL AMERICA

Growing jobs in South Carolina is like growing anything else.

It takes a lot of work, preparing, nurturing, harvesting your resources with skill and commitment.

That's what The Electric Co-ops of South Carolina have done for the past 50 years. By delivering affordable, dependable power to rural areas, they made possible the industrialization of more than half of our state.

Since then, they've been working with local governments for economic growth, actively recruiting business and industry, and helping provide the expertise to keep South Carolina competitive and growing.

All to make rural South Carolina, and all of South Carolina, the cream of the crop.

USC & Balfour

"Academics and Athletics" Has a Familiar Ring to it.

Balfour understands the link between academics and athletics. We've created Championship Sports Award Rings for supreme sports figures. More than 40 years of that same pride and effort has gone into crafting class rings for the University of South Carolina — a variety of styles for both men and women.

All year dates are available; call or write for details. It's more than quality by association. It's Balfour.

Work with the greatest names in business.

Sometimes it's a lot easier to get ahead if you know the right people. Like the people of The R.L. Bryan Company, who can introduce you to the greatest names in business. Names such as IBM, Xerox and Olivetti when your office needs electronic typewriters. Copiers by AB Dick, Herman Miller and Knoll for ergonomically designed office furniture. Reprographics systems by AB Dick and VGC. Thousands of office supply names, including Cross pens.

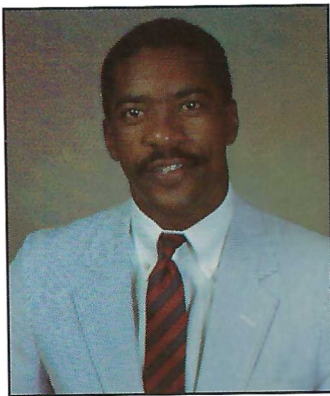

When it comes to printing, names like Pat Sandifer and Buzzy

Mathias make all the difference. They are among the printing press employees who average over twenty years of experience in making you look good on paper.

And the names of our expert service technicians, located all over the state. So that when you need them, they'll be there in a hurry. Call The R.L. Bryan Company today at 1-800-RL-BRYAN and start working with the best products and the best people. Because business, it's the only way to make a name for yourself.

LIFE REACH... SAVING TIME. SAVING LIVES.

The Life Reach helicopter is a familiar sight in South Carolina's skies. Its mission is to remove the obstacles—time and distance—that can prevent critically ill or injured patients from reaching the care they need to live.

With Life Reach, physicians in communities across the state can send these patients to the medical referral center best able to handle their specific problems.

The helicopter is fully equipped for intensive care, and staffed with a team of critical care specialists. So besides providing fast transportation, we can maintain the necessary level of care and life support for our patients.

Providence has expanded the services offered by the Life Reach helicopter to all who need immediate, continuous intensive care during transport—cardiovascular, head injury, internal hemorrhage, burn, and other patients. We can handle transfers from hospitals, accident scenes, or clinics to Providence or any hospital within a 150 mile range.

There are South Carolinians alive today because the helicopter got them to the help they needed. Life Reach is saving lives—by saving time.
