WELCOME

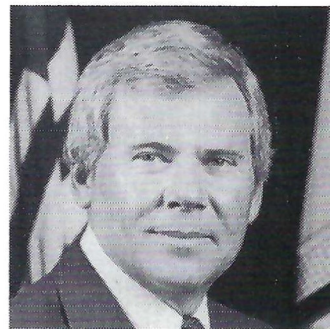

Welcome to Orlando for the inaugural Texaco Star Classic between the Memphis State Tigers and the Florida State Seminoles.

Florida Citrus Sports is proud to present this new and innovative idea in regular season college football games to the Central Florida community. This game is an indication of Florida Citrus Sports' commitment to bringing outstanding sporting events to our area.

Special thanks are due to Texaco for sponsorship of the event and without whom we could not have made this game a reality. Thanks are also due to the additional sponsors and many volunteers who gave their time, money, and effort to making this weekend a success.

H. J. Von Weller
President
FLORIDA CITRUS SPORTS

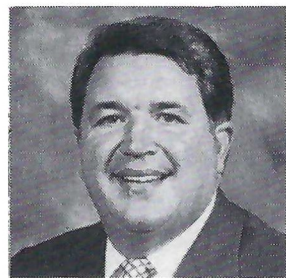

Welcome to the inaugural Texaco Star Classic at the spectacular Florida Citrus Bowl Stadium here in Orlando.

I'm proud to be hosting this event with these two exciting football teams. With 70,000 seats, expanded concession and restroom facilities, and more, I hope you'll agree that we've built a terrific stadium for fan and player alike.

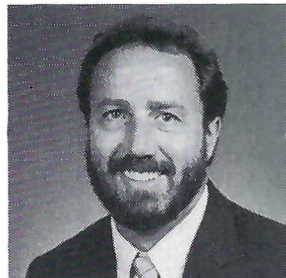

During your stay, I hope you'll enjoy all the wonderful things that make Orlando "The City Beautiful."

Dear Football Fans:

On behalf of Texaco and its affiliate, Star Enterprise, as well as your local Texaco-branded retailers and wholesale marketers, welcome to the first annual Texaco Star Classic. We're glad you're here, and we anticipate that this is the first of many exciting athletic events we will welcome you to in the years to come.

In addition to providing entertainment for thousands—including our 5,000 guests from the Naval Training Center and other soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines, their families and friends—the meeting of these two fine football teams in the Florida Citrus Bowl enhances the economy of the city of Orlando. It also provides financial benefits for the charities and educational institutions supported by Florida Citrus Sports. And finally, students at Memphis State University and Florida State University will gain from this game, too, in the form of scholarships. Star Enterprise will proudly contribute $1,000 to the general scholarship fund of each school in honor of each team's Most Valuable Player.

We are pleased to bring you this thrilling, inaugural event. We're proud to support the development of our community's youth, both on and off the field. Most importantly, we're happy to be a part of this vibrant Florida community and to salute American servicemen throughout the world.

Now, let's play ball!

Sincerely,

John Curry

TIGERS, SEMINOLES KICK OFF INAUGURAL CLASSIC

Whether you realize it or not, those of you sitting throughout the Florida Citrus Bowl stadium today are a part of history. Florida Citrus Sports and Texaco, an affiliate of Star Enterprises, have joined forces to bring the best in Division I football to the Central Florida. Everyone involved with the game is hoping that a successful debut will mean more games for future generations. With that thought in mind--sit back, relax and enjoy your place in the record books.

Scouting Report

The Memphis State Tigers enter their final game of the 1990 season looking to break even. The Tigers (4-5-1) have dropped four of their last five games after starting 3-1-1, but have improved by two wins and a tie over Chuck Stobart's initial season as head coach.

The Tigers are led by double-threat quarterback Keith Benton. The junior has amassed 1,295 yards passing this season, and has rushed for 529 more, giving the Tigers an added offensive dimension.

Benton's favorite target is sophomore wide receiver Russell Copeland, who leads the Tigers with 33 catches for 684 yards and 4 touchdowns. Benton, a junior-college transfer, may be most dangerous, however, when his receivers are covered. Last week, he ran for two touchdowns, threw for one and just missed on a fourth-down touchdown pass in the Tigers 27-24 loss to Mississippi State.

Memphis State's leading rusher is sophomore Leon Bosby, who has carried 139 times for 545 yards and 4 touchdowns this year. Defensively, the Tigers are led by senior linebacker Scott Rumley. Rumley, a transfer from Southern Methodist in 1987, has 77 tackles this season for the Tigers with two quarterback sacks. Also for the Tigers, freshman linebacker Danton Barto has come on late in the season. He had a season-high 14 tackles against Mississippi State last Saturday.

Memphis State tailback Leon Bosby has rushed for 545 yards this season. The sophomore from Fairhope, Ala., began the season at fullback, but was moved to tailback later in the season.

The Florida State Seminoles bring a 7-2 record into today's game. The Seminoles, fresh off a 70-21 trouncing of Cincinnati, feature a potent offensive attack led by quarterback Casey Weldon and running back Amp Lee.

Weldon, a junior, took over the quarterbacking job Oct. 20 against Auburn. Although he still ranks second behind Brad Johnson in season totals, Weldon is the Seminoles' No. 1 signal caller. Lee, a sophomore, leads all Florida State backs in rushing with 611 yards on 120 carries. He is also the team's leading scorer with 13 touchdowns.

All-America wide receiver Lawrence Dawsey is the team's offensive leader. The senior has caught 53 passes for 694 yards and four touchdowns. The team's deadly combination of rushing and passing effectiveness has converted to an average of almost 40 points per game for head coach Bobby Bowden this year.

Defensively, the Seminoles may be just as strong, allowing just over 16.7 points per game. They are anchored up the middle by inside linebackers Marvin Jones and Kirk Carruthers. Though only a freshman, Jones leads all Florida State defenders with more than 100 tackles.

The Seminoles possess an additional scoring threat in punt returner/cornerback Terrell Buckley. The sophomore has returned two punts and two interceptions for touchdowns this season, including an 83-yard interception return last week against Cincinnati. For the season he has picked off 6 passes and averages 15.6 yards per punt return.

Series History

This will be the 18th meeting between Florida State and Mem-

FSU quarterback Casey Weldon has thrown for more than 1,000 yards this season.

phis State. The series began in 1959, when Memphis State beat Florida State 16-6 in Memphis. Memphis State won seven of the first nine meetings between the two teams, but Florida State holds the upper hand in the series with a 9-7-1 edge.

The last time Memphis State was the home team, the game ended in a 17-17 deadlock. Last year, Florida State quarterback Peter Tom Willis threw for six touchdowns as Florida State rolled to a 57-20 win at home.

Streaks On The Line

Two receiving streaks are on the line today. Memphis State sophomore wide receiver Russell Copeland has caught a pass in 16 straight games dating back to the sixth game of his freshman season. He still has a way to go, however, before he can hope to catch Florida State wideout Lawrence Dawsey.

Dawsey, a senior, has caught passes in 28 consecutive games and needs just two more to tie a Seminole record. Dawsey has caught 53 passes this season for 694 yards, while Copeland has caught 33 for 684. Both have scored 4 touchdowns.

Noles No Strangers to Orlando

While this will be Memphis State's first trip to Orlando for a game, Florida State has made two trips to the Florida Citrus Bowl. The Seminoles were participants in the post-season game twice, once under its former moniker of the Tangerine Bowl in 1977 and then again in 1984.

In 1977, Florida State made its first bowl appearance in seven years and downed Texas Tech 40-17. In 1984, the Seminoles blocked a fourth-quarter punt for a score to tie Georgia 17-17.

Homecoming Of Sorts

Today's game will be a kind of homecoming for many of the players on the Memphis State roster. There are 23 players from Florida, more than from any other state--including Tennessee, on the Memphis State roster.

Quoting Memphis State

Head Coach Chuck Stobart

"Florida State is a great, great football team. I saw a quote from Coach Bowden stating that they are playing their best football of the year right now. After watching the films, I believe what he is saying. Florida State has depth at every position including the special teams. We don't have that kind of depth. Florida State makes things happen. They have an incredible turnover margin. They may be the best football team in the country at this stage of the season.

"The Texaco Star Classic will be a super trip for our players. They have been looking forward to this trip for a long while. We have so many Florida players, this is like a homecoming for a large part of the team."

Quoting Florida State

Head Coach Bobby Bowden

"I'm real happy with the way our team is reacting to these games in which we are heavily favored. I don't know if it has to do with our abundance of young players or not, but I think we have good competition at every position. It helps when your starters know if they don't go all out they could lose their jobs.

"Memphis State is a team that could upset us if we don't play a solid game. They will be a heck of a lot tougher than our opponent was last week. I'm excited about playing in Orlando and seeing many of our fans in that area. I think that it will give the players an extra lift, also."

Linebacker Scott Rumley is Memphis State's leading tackler this season. The senior from Dallas, Texas, has recorded 77 tackles with two sacks and one tackle for a loss.

FCS—BRINGING SPORTS TO CENTRAL FLORIDA

When most people think of Florida Citrus Sports, the New Year's Day bowl of the same name usually comes to mind. But Florida Citrus Sports is more than one game. Nearly 1,000 members, in addition to 17 full-time employees, volunteer their time and service throughout the year, working on numerous committees and orchestrating Florida Citrus Sports' events in addition to the Bowl.

The sporting calendar begins in early February (8-10) with the Olive Garden Classic baseball tournament at Osceola County Stadium in Kissimmee. Considered one of the up and coming tournaments in collegiate baseball, the field for this year's Classic includes Central Florida, Florida, UCLA and 1990 College World Series veteran Georgia Southern.

The Florida Citrus Bowl Lacrosse Tournament follows on Feb. 16 and 17 with eight of the nation's best club teams vying for a title in this fast-paced sport.

In May, coaches, athletic directors, sponsors and members of the media gather in Orlando for the annual Florida Citrus Bowl Tournaments for Champions. It's an extended weekend for Central Florida to show off its powerful attractions.

Summer's heat brings an equally heated rivalry to Orlando, matching the best Florida and Georgia have to offer. The Florida-Georgia All-Star Game in June pits the two states' top prep-football talents against each other and gives fans an early look at the college and pro stars of the future.

Fall means football, and 1990 ushers in a whole new ball game for Florida Citrus Sports. Today's inaugural Texaco Star Classic begins a five-year schedule of regular-season games in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

In upcoming years Florida State will play Virginia Tech and Florida will play Ole Miss. In 1994, Florida State returns to Orlando for a nationally-spotlighted duel with Notre Dame. But it doesn't end there. Florida Citrus Sports is constantly working to bring more regular-season games to Central Florida.

The Holiday season in Orlando is, indeed, just that—a sports holiday. The kickoff to a month-long sports extravaganza begins with the world-class Red Lobster Sailing Regatta on Lake Monroe in Sanford, Nov. 30-Dec. 2, and the Florida Citrus Bowl Rugby Tournament, Dec. 1 and 2. The Florida Citrus Bowl Half Marathon, College baseball season begins with a bang at the Olive Garden Classic Feb. 8-10 in Kissimmee.

Dec. 8, features the top-distance runners in the U.S. and those from overseas.

Yes, there's football, but don't forget the Red Lobster Basketball Classic Dec. 29-30. Central Florida and Stanford square off in the first game followed by national powers North Carolina and DePaul in a contest televised nationally by ABC. And on the last day of the year, join Florida Citrus Sports and some of the biggest names on the PGA Tour at Alaqua Country Club in Longwood for the inaugural Cellular One/AT&T Pro-Am Golf Classic. That same day, the excitement starts to build for an intense football showdown. A parade, pep rally and New Year's Eve Party get the crowds primed for the New Year's Day bowl game in an expanded and renovated Florida Citrus Bowl Stadium. On January 1, 70,000 screaming fans form a chorus ringing in the New Year and singing the praises of "the best bowl trip in America."

Whether you consider the Florida Citrus Bowl the beginning or end of a year, consider this—you won't find a more action-packed 12-month sports calendar that has the whole community behind it.

Boats of all shapes and sizes take to Lake Monroe in the Red Lobster Cup Sailing Regatta Nov. 30-Dec. 2 in Sanford.

FLORIDA STATE HEAD COACH BOBBY BOWDEN

Bobby Bowden was named Florida State's eighth head coach prior to the 1976 season, and since that time has gone on to become the Seminole's finest by far.

He has won more games, produced more All-Americans and gone to and won more bowl games than any of his predecessors. There aren't many coaches nationally, let alone at FSU, who can match his accomplishments.

This season Bowden has reached heights heretofore achieved only by the games' immortals. Not only does he average more than eight wins a season, but he recently broke through the 200-win barrier. Considering this, his name is all but etched in stone next to the likes of Bryant, Stagg, Schembechler and Paterno.

Bowden began his head coaching career in 1959 at Samford University, where he had earned Little All-America honors as a quarterback in 1953 when the school was known as Howard. Bowden led Samford to a 31-6 record in four seasons before moving on to West Virginia in 1970.

Bowden may have been out of the deep South, but he wasn't out of his element. In six years his teams won 42 and lost 26 games. Only once did a Bobby Bowden-coached team finish with a losing record.

In 1976, Bowden made his way back to the South, to Tallahassee, and into the hearts of millions. From an auspicious 5-6 beginning, Bowden has created one of the nation's most successful football programs. Since that first year, the Seminoles haven't lost more than five games in a season. In the last three years alone the Seminoles have rolled to an unbelievable 32-4 record.

In 15 seasons at FSU, Bobby Bowden has won 122 games, lost just 40 and tied 3, but what makes FSU faithful so proud isn't just the record, it's the man himself.

Bowden is one of the most respected and admired coaches in the country. Fans like him because he is full of surprises, the press likes him because he is open and honest and players like him because he is like a second father.

But for all that he is, he's a family man first. Bowden and his wife, the former Julia Ann Estock, are the parents of six children and have 11 grandchildren. Coaching is definitely in the Bowden blood, as three of his sons and a son-in-law have followed their dad's lead. Terry is head coach at Samford, assisted by Jeff and brother-in-law Jack Hines, while Tommy is offensive coordinator for Bill Curry at Kentucky.

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

At the dawn of a new decade, Florida State University is trailblazing toward a new century—exploring science through supercomputing, pioneering in Florida's growing film industry, and scouting new avenues of cultural exchange in a world opening paths to freedom.

Among the elite of supercomputing since obtaining its first high-speed computer in 1985, FSU took yet another step in ultrafast computing in 1990 with the acquisition of two new supercomputers, the Thinking Machine Corp. Connecting Machine and the Gray Y-MP4/432. Both computers can be accessed from hundreds of locations in the United States and Europe.

The Paul A.M. Dirac Science Center Library places scientific resources close by the University's main science research complex. On the top floor of the Dirac Library is the Supercomputer Computations Research Institute (SCRI), a multidisciplinary, multinational program that brings together some 100 scientists, engineers and technicians. SCRI is linked to an off-campus research complex and the University's two powerful supercomputers.

Florida State remains a growing institution—from its roots at the Seminary West of the Suwannee, through the early 20th century as the academically respected Florida State College for Women and its coeducational status as a university in 1947, and to its modern development as an acclaimed research institution.

SPORTS EVENTS BENEFIT CHARITIES AND SCHOOLS

Florida Citrus Sports is famous for the many sports and social events it brings Central Florida throughout the year. But the true beneficiaries of these happenings aren't just the participants and fans. There are many who depend on the support Florida Citrus Sports provides through its calendar of events.

Last year alone, FCS donated $100,000 to 15 local charities and schools. Contributions were made to all types of organizations, ranging from Florida Elks Hospital to Spouse Abuse. The monies were used to help offset the growing cost of public aid.

Other organizations to benefit from Florida Citrus Sports donations were the United Negro College Fund, The Edgewood Children's Ranch, The School District of Osceola County, The Foundation for Orange County Public Schools and many others.

Since 1983, Florida Citrus Sports' donations total more than $13,383,780. In 1989-90 alone, FCS donated nearly $2.7 million. FCS isn't just about money, though, it's about helping others.

"Benefitting charities and educational institutions is part of our mission statement," Florida Citrus Sports Executive Director Chuck Rohe says. "We lean heavily toward youth organizations, but we actively encourage applications for donations from anyone."

Previously, the awarding of gifts was handled by committee. In 1989, the Florida Citrus Sports Foundation was formed to perform this same deed. The corporation, made up of the President, President-elect and past-Presidents of Florida Citrus Sports, will receive the receipts from all events and become Florida Citrus Sports' charitable donors.

Through these donations, Florida Citrus Sports continues to take an active role in the welfare of Orlando. Future success for Florida Citrus Sports can only make its bond with community grow stronger, and through it help brighten the lives of Central Florida's needy.

"Our coupe does zero to sixty in under $11,775."

From the start, the Saturn coupe was designed to beat the competition. Not just off the line. But on the bottom line, as well.

It offers a truly rare combination of performance and value for the money. The SC comes with a responsive 16-valve dual-overhead-cam engine. Close-ratio five-speed manual transmission. Four-wheel independent suspension. Fifteen-inch alloy wheels. And a list of other performance features more expensive cars would be hard-pressed to match. So stop by and take a quick test drive soon.

MEMPHIS STATE HEAD COACH CHUCK STOBART

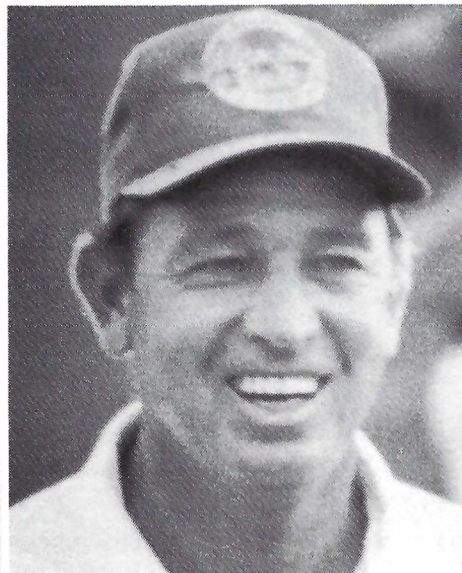

Charles R. (Chuck) Stobart was named head football coach at Memphis State University in July of 1989. He is the 19th football coach in MSU history.

Entering his first season with the Tigers last year, Stobart had been on the job just five weeks when the players arrived for the fall. Under such short notice, Stobart and his staff were unable to make many changes before the start of the 1989 campaign. However, he coached a competitive unit before injuries took their toll at mid-season.

The Tigers played competitive football against Ole Miss and Arkansas State and captured hard-fought wins over Vanderbilt and Cincinnati before being devastated by season-ending injuries. Stobart's first year as head coach of the Tigers ended with a 2-9 record.

This season, Stobart's outlook is rosier. He is considered one of the brightest offensive minds in college football, having served in that capacity at schools like Michigan, Pittsburgh and Southern Cal.

In 1977, Stobart earned his first head coaching job at Toledo. During his first three years, Stobart produced 13 professional players while leading the Rockets to a 24-31-1 record, including a 9-3 mark and a victory in the California Bowl in 1981.

In 1982, he was named the head coach at Utah and remained there for three seasons, posting a 16-17-1 record overall.

The 1983 Utes were ranked in the top three in the Western Athletic Conference in both total offense and total defense and finished the 1983 season ranked eighth in the nation in total offense, averaging 429.9 yards per game.

After leaving Utah, Stobart went back to the assistant coaching ranks at Pittsburgh, Arizona and Southern Cal. He spent two seasons at USC and one at Arizona under Larry Smith, whom Stobart shared an office with for four years under Bo Schembechler at Michigan. He returned to the head coaching ranks last year when he was named to replace Charlie Bailey.

During the 1988 campaign at Southern Cal, the Trojans compiled an overall record of 9-3-0. The Trojans were ranked ninth nationally in total offense, averaging 461.6 yards per game and finished the season ranked 15th in passing offense, averaging 247.0 yards per contest.

Trojan quarterback Rodney Peete set 17 USC records for passing and total offense, while winning All-America honors and finishing as the runner-up for the Heisman Trophy.

In 1987, USC was 13th in the nation in total offense (430.4 yards a game) and 18th in passing offense (234.3). Trojan quarterback Rodney Peete was an honorable mention All-American and was ranked fourth nationally in passing efficiency that season.

Stobart and his wife, Diana, have five children.

MEMPHIS STATE UNIVERSITY

W h e n classes first met at West Tennessee State Normal School in the autumn of 1912, athletics were an important part of the activities offered to students. The football program was started and the team played two games during the 1912 season, tying the first and winning the final game of the season, 13-6. Since that undefeated season, working hand-in-hand, Memphis State University and the athletic department have made great progress in growth and development.

Since the first day of classes on Sept. 10, 1912, Memphis State University has grown from an 81-acre campus in rural East Memphis, to a 173-acre main campus, a 146-acre south campus and a 640-acre research campus located in Shelby Forest. In addition, MSU also owns and operates the 187-acre Chucalissa Indian Village in South Memphis.

MSU has 58 buildings on its main campus and an additional 13 buildings on its south campus. From 200 students in 1912, the university has grown to more than 23,000 students.

After the athletic program was picked up again following World War II, MSU added baseball, track, golf, tennis and cross country. The women's and men's athletic departments merged in 1980, and all are now competing on the Division I-A level.

The goals of the university and the athletic department are one and the same: to continue the growth and development of student-athletes, an MSU tradition.

LOVE OF GAME DRIVES ROGERS & JONES

As the starting cornerbacks in defensive coordinator Joe Lee Dunn's blitzing schemes, Memphis State seniors Glenn Rogers, Jr. and Reginald Jones play integral roles in leading the aggressive MSU defense in stopping Tiger opponents.

As a result this year, Rogers and Jones can look at their roles in leading a path to giving Memphis State a winning season and a possible season-ending bowl bid. "My goals are team goals," says Jones. "Having a winning season and going to a bowl game are at the top of my list."

That unselfish attitude of Jones is echoed by Rogers, who also realizes that team goals are more important than individual accomplishments. "I just want to give it everything I've got on every down to help the team go as far as it possibly can," commented Rogers. "We want to finish with a winning record."

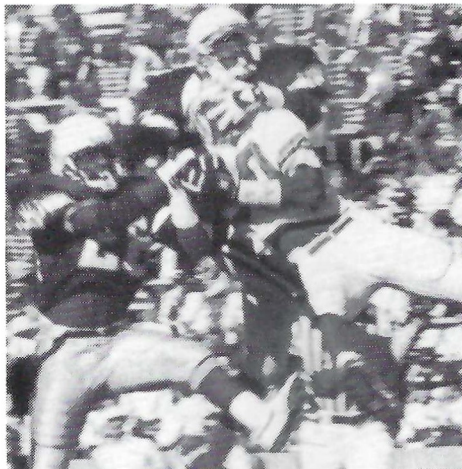

Both matured together last season in the Tiger secondary and have been a major influence on this year's defensive squad. Rogers led the team in interceptions last year with four and is leading the team once again this year through ten games. Jones picked off three passes a year ago, which included a pair in the Tiger's 34-17 win at Cincinnati.

Rogers and Jones both played high school football in Memphis and have grown into leaders at MSU. Their 1989 statistics were just a preview for Tiger fans, as both excelled a year ago in the Tiger secondary. Rogers first came into the fold for the Tigers in 1988, when he made 50 tackles and one sack to go along with three interceptions. Last season, Rogers' totals in tackles dropped to 34, but he increased his numbers in interceptions (4) and blocked passes (5).

Jones, who completed his first season at MSU last year after transferring from the University of Arkansas, posted 53 tackles, to go along with seven blocked passes. More importantly, Jones contributed to the special teams by averaging 22.2 yards on kick-off returns.

With the two cornerbacks having so much in common, it's no wonder they both chose the University of Florida as their favorite opponent. Both experienced big games their first time out against the Gators.

Rogers says that his most memorable moment as a Tiger came in his first ever start for Memphis State on Oct. 8, 1988, in Gainesville. MSU held tenuously to a three-point lead with just over three minutes left in the game when Rogers picked off a tipped Kyle Morris pass attempt deep in MSU territory and raced 49 yards to the Florida 41 yard line. The play set up John Butler's third field goal of the day to seal a 17-11 upset victory for the Tigers.

"It was my first start, and I made the interception that saved the win," commented Rogers. "It was the moment that means the most to me."

Jones also remembers his first Florida game, despite the fact that the Tigers were on the losing end of a 38-13 game in Memphis. In the Florida game a year ago, Jones had a career-high nine tackles and a total of 111 yards on kick-off returns.

"I just like to play against top-notch competition," said Jones, reflecting on the game against Florida. "It's a lot easier getting up for those type of games."

As their careers at MSU near the end, both players would like Tiger fans to remember them as team players who played hard on every down. "I want fans to remember me as a guy who went out every game and played as hard as he could," says Rogers, "and as a team-oriented player who was honest to the team and dedicated to the game of football."

"I hope they remember me as a team player who went out and did the best I could," echoes Jones.

Another similarity of the two is that they both share the dream of playing in the National Football League once their careers at MSU end. Both may see their dreams become reality. Jones was named as one of the top 15 overall NFL prospects by THE SPORTING NEWS in August. His combination of size (6'-2", 201 pounds) and speed (4.4 seconds in the 40-yard dash) is what interests the pro scouts.

Rogers has also been recognized. He was named first-team All-Metro Conference last year and was named an Independence Bowl Association Player of the Week in 1988.

"If pro football is there, great," says Jones. "If not, I plan to get my degree in finance anyway. Either way, I'll be prepared."

Rogers also realizes the importance of getting his degree and if nothing works out with pro football, he would like to follow the footsteps of his father. Glenn Rogers, Sr. was a long-time head coach of the Memphis South Side High Scrappers, where he coached Glenn, Jr.

"I just love the game . . . period," says Rogers. "It's all I've ever wanted to do."

Tiger fans are glad that Rogers and Jones are pursuing that love for the game at Memphis State.

DAWSEY FITS COACH-PLAYER PROFILE

It's tough being an old man at the age of 22.

But Lawrence Dawsey, the senior member of the Florida State receiving corps, is surrounded by babes in the woods.

Entering this season, Dawsey had 63 career catches for a total of 1,130 yards, while among the others, only Baker had accumulated playing time for the Seminoles. Clearly head and shoulders above the rest of the pack, Dawsey could easily shy away from the kiddie corps, spending time with fellow seniors. But instead he accepts a leadership role for the 1990 Seminoles and welcomes the chance to share his experience.

It's been a long ride from Dawsey's freshman season, when he was shuffled from wide receiver to tailback to defensive back, then finally back to wide receiver because no one else wanted him except receivers coach Eason. Following his freshman season, when he caught only seven passes for 82 yards, Dawsey grabbed the spotlight in 1988 with nine touchdown catches, the fourth-highest single season total in FSU history. Equally impressive is the fact that his nine TD's came on only 18 catches, earning him the nickname Mr. Touchdown.

Last season, he led the "Fabulous Four" with 38 receptions while gaining a team-leading 683 yards. With those totals, he became a prime candidate to forego his senior season and join fellow senior members of the wide receiving group in the NFL draft.

Eason is glad Dawsey gave up on that idea early. He believes that this season could propel the pre-season All-American into the spotlight. "People are waiting to see how he does this year," Eason says. "He will have the opportunity to do some things this season, and he must take advantage of those opportunities."

Dawsey certainly took advan-

tage of opportunity against Miami earlier this year. With FSU trailing 24-0 midway through the second quarter, Dawsey began to take charge. He put Florida State on the scoreboard with a 19-yard reception and a run in which he broke three tackles to reach the endzone.

He continued to excel in the second half and finished the game with 13 catches for 160 yards. Only one receiver, FSU's all-time great Ron Sellersever, caught more passes in a single game and no one had caught as many since 1969. Three of those 13 catches were of the spectacular variety.

"He was nearly a one-man take-charge guy," Bowden says of Dawsey's effort against Miami. "I've never seen a wide receiver take over a game like that. I've seen runners, quarterbacks and defensive players do it, but never a wide receiver."

Besides the opportunity to make a name for himself, is a chance for Dawsey to assist in the molding of another "Fab Four" for the future. Redshirt freshman Matt Frier says his senior teammate is falling into the habits of a coach. "When we're on the field, he'll always be yelling at coach Eason, 'Give me the whistle, give me the whistle.' He's always there with a word of encouragement for us," Frier explains. "When we watch films and see ourselves make mistakes, he always tells us 'Keep your head up. When I was younger, they would make me go sit under the tree.'"

The determination Dawsey has exhibited since that rough freshman season leaves FSU personnel with nary a discouraging word to say. There have been times the star receiver could have made a bad decision, but his high moral standards have kept him in line. "He's very concerned about his off-the-field living," Eason says. "And you don't find that in a lot of today's kids."

While he could be solely concerned about his future, Dawsey finds time to give advice to his pupils.

"I work with Kevin Knox to be consistent. He's going to catch a bunch of passes in the future. I've talked to Eric Turrall about keeping his confidence up. He kind of got down on himself after a rough couple of days," he explains. "I've told Shannon Baker to concentrate on a couple of his patterns. He's got great speed, but needs to work on the little things. And Matt Frier needs to work on getting past the cornerback."

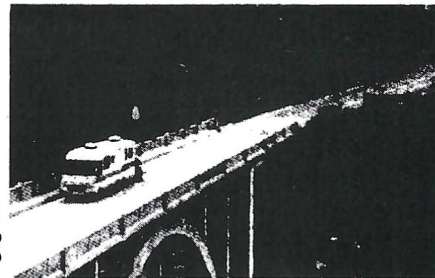

As the advice chain of command goes, Coach John Eason has passed along his expertise to Dawsey, who in turn bestows his knowledge to the likes of Baker, Frier, Knox, McCorvey, and Turrall, ensuring Seminole excellence at wide receiver for many more years to come.

FLORIDA CITRUS BOWL INFORMATION

Welcome to the Florida Citrus Bowl. The City of Orlando is pleased to have you in attendance at today's game. Everyone affiliated with the operation of the game is eager to provide efficient service. Please take a few moments to familiarize yourself with the information on this page.

Alcoholic Beverage Policy—Persons with alcoholic beverages will not be admitted into the stadium. Beer may be purchased at concession stands, but sales end after the third quarter.

Handicapped Seating—Handicapped seating areas are located on the East Sideline, behind and above the team benches. Access is from sections 105 and 106. Only one attendant per person, please.

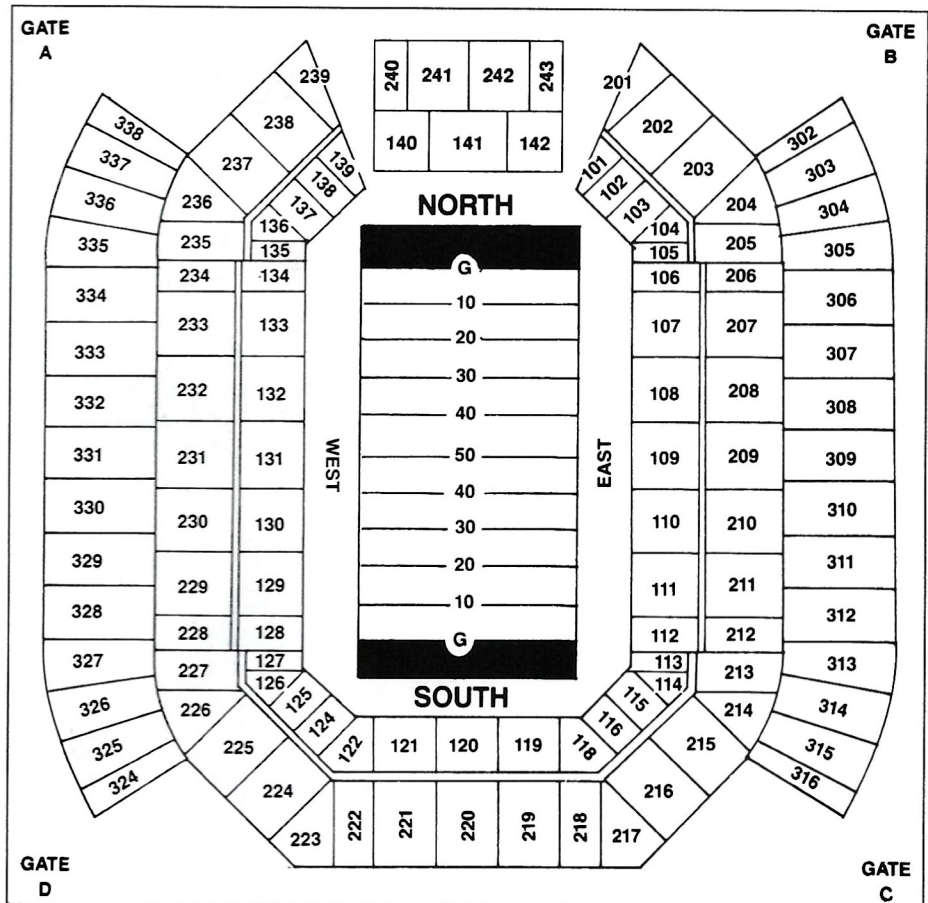

Lost and Found—If you are searching for a lost item or have found an item belonging to someone else, please report to Stadium Operations, below Section 131 on the West Concourse.

Medical Emergency—Uniformed EMTs are located on the upper and lower concourses on the East and West sides of the stadium. If someone needs help and an EMT cannot be located, contact a uniformed Orlando police officer for assistance.

Restrooms—Restrooms are located throughout the stadium on both the upper and lower concourses.

Telephones—Public telephones are located throughout the stadium on both the upper and lower concourses.

STADIUM POLICY prohibits admission of coolers, food, cans, bottles, and containers. Alcoholic beverages are not permitted on city property or admitted into the stadium. Beer service ends after the third quarter.

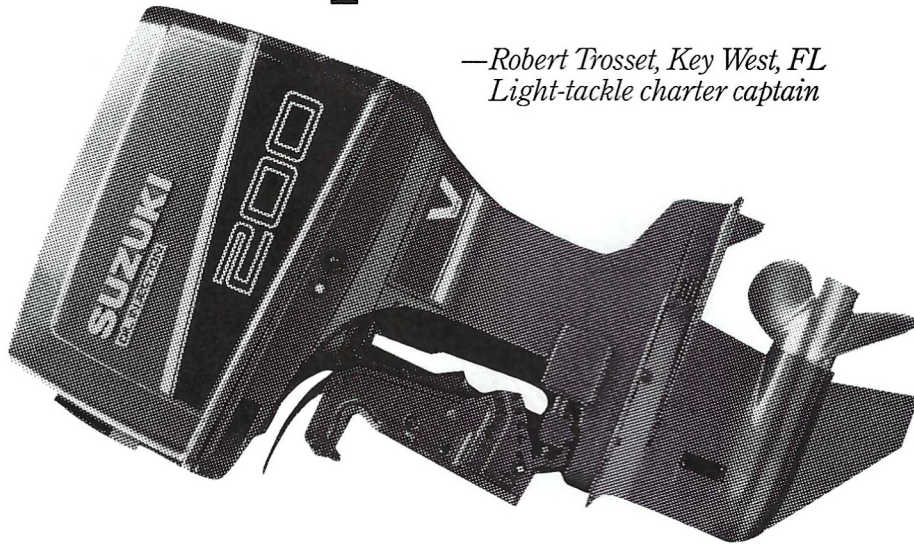

A record 60,016 fans, the largest in the game's history, turned out to watch Illinois defeat Virginia 31-21 in the 1990 Florida Citrus Bowl.

“I’ve been runnin’
Suzuki motors for six years now and I’ve never, ever, had to be towed in,
and that speaks for itself.”

—Robert Trosset, Key West, FL
Light-tackle charter captain

When Captain Robert Trosset takes his customers out off the Florida keys to fish, he wants to make sure they do exactly that. And, that's why he runs Suzukis (like the 200 hp V-6 he recently ran over 2,000 hours in an 18-month period). It works. Trosset's boats have hauled in 58 IGFA world record catches—so far.

From our 150s to our 225 EFIs, you just won't find more reliable or more durable offshore V-6 outboards than the ones you'll find at your nearest Suzuki Marine Dealer.

We've developed an unbeatable system.

Top performance requires a system that can't be beat—like Texaco System³. Get the power of the gasoline that works overtime attacking engine deposits so your car can go the distance. Because when you're this good, you've got to be ready for whatever comes your way.
