The Seminoles' Kevin Mancini (67) helps power FSU's potent offensive attack.

By Wayne Hogan

Seminole Saturday Soapbox:

Florida State's players took a good dose of criticism from two Detroit writers following last Saturday's 51-31 drilling of their beloved Michigan Wolverines.

Those writers, it seems, took exception to a Seminole celebration on the field moments after the end of the game. Twice in the Sunday Detroit News and Free Press, the Seminoles were compared to those mean and nasty Miami Hurricanes.

Come on!

First, the FSU-Michigan game was about as clean a game as you could ever see. Second, if there was a finger to point, it should have been in the direction of Michigan offensive tackle Greg Skrepenak who reported a taunting and cursing incident by FSU players toward his team at the Wolverines Friday workout. That incident never occurred.

The observation here is that a good amount of "homerism" raised its head in the Sunday Detroit papers. More than 300 other sportswriters covered the game and well over 1,000 articles were written and none — not one — took issue with the postgame celebration.

Florida State players had just won one of the biggest football games in school history in one of the most historic arenas in the land. They had cause to celebrate just a little.

One Detroit writer told me last Sunday afternoon that he still thought the Seminoles' actions showed "disrespect."

'I guess that's the difference between northern football and southern football," he said.

Yeah, that and 20 points.

I guess Florida State's massive television exposure over the last few years has made every FSU fan a TV critic. To listen to many fans, the last time someone got an A-plus on a broadcast was Chris Schenkel back in 1964.

With virtually every TV game, someone stops me to degrade the telecast. It seems if the announcers aren't as excited about the Seminoles as Gene Deckerhoff they are labeled as "pulling" for the other team. Florida State fans — I guess all fans, really - don't handle neutrality in a broadcast very well.

And God forbid an announcer should make a mis-speak in an FSU broadcast - they'll talk about that forever! Real experienced TV critics gave ABC and its announcers — Keith Jackson, Bob Griese and Jack Arute — high marks for the Michigan telecast. I do too, even if that ugly "G" word did slip out on Keith once or twice. Florida State's dazzling style of play is enough to leave anyone momentarily confused.

The point here is - let's accept the impartiality of the announcers, overlook an occasional mistake and just enjoy what you're seeing. If you need someone to help you celebrate, kill the volume and tune in Gene and Vic.

Syracuse's 38-21 victory over the Florida Gators two weeks back on ABC television marked one of the saddest days of my life.

THE WEEK TRIBE SCHOLAR-ATHLETE OF

Linebacker David Stallworth

The Tribe Scholar-Athlete of the Week for the FSU-Syracuse game is linebacker David Stallworth. The 6-2, 228-pound junior is a standout in both the weight room and the classroom. An inside linebacker who contributes on FSU's special teams squads, Stallworth is a Management major with an emphasis on Human Resource.

While David is one of the Seminoles' strongest players with a bench press of over 400 pounds, in the classroom he puts up his best numbers. Stallworth carries a 2.85 grade point average into his final year as an undergraduate at FSU.

Seminole academic advisor Mark Meleney compared David to most successful students. "He never misses a class. He possesses good study habits, and he puts solid effort into his work," Meleney said. "David is a worker, yet it comes naturally to him. He is not an overachiever by any means."

David agreed to a certain extent. "I don't drown myself in books. I do what has to be done to succeed." Stallworth also mentioned, "If I find a subject interesting, I enjoy studying it as much as playing football."

David currently is enrolled in several Archaeology classes, although unrelated to his major.

Stallworth is not sure where graduation will take him. "I know I'm going to finish my eligibility and play one more season," said the redshirt junior.

David is weighing his options on whether to apply to Law School or go for an MBA. "Some of my professors tell me, 'enter Law School, David', while others tell me, 'David, you should get an MBA''' he said about his upcoming decisions.

Steve Roogow

For three and a half hours I sat in front of my television set agonizing over the fact the Gators couldn't get anything going. That game-opening kickoff return was one of the more horrifying sights I can ever remember.

As Syracuse made first down after first down and scored virtually at will, I couldn't help but be disheartened that our neighbors were being treated so rudely. Tears welled in my eyes as the final second ticked away. I had been unable to enjoy a single minute of that dark Saturday afternoon. My weekend was ruined.

IN A PIG'S EYE!!!!!!!

Welcome Syracuse. The 'Noles already have cause to salute you. Here's to a great college football game today...

And here are some notes and auotes:

 Florida State continues to have the nation's longest winning streak which has stretched to 10 games. Even more impressive is the fact that the Seminoles have not trailed during that string.

- not trailed during that string.

  Bobby Bowden's "King of the Road" status took another leap forward last Saturday with the win in Ann Arbor. The Coach can add Michigan Stadium turf to the Seminoles' famous "Sod Cemetary," commemorating momentous road wins. Bowden is now 63-28-2 away from home with victories at Notre Dame, Nebraska, Ohio State and now Michigan counted among that total.
- Florida State has won 13 straight home games dating back to a loss to Clemson on September 9, 1989. Bowden's FSU home record is 73-14-1.
- This year's 4-0 start equals last year's beginning and marks the fifth time in eight years the Seminoles have won their first four games. That fifth game, however, has been a perennial stumbling block. On four previous occasions—1990, 1987, 1985 and 1984—a 4-0 Seminole team either lost or tied its fifth game. FSU has not been 5-0 since the 1979 season—a season that resulted in a perfect 11-0 regular season mark.
- Florida State is 48-6 since the final game of the 1986 season.
   The Seminoles are No. 1 this week for the sixth consecutive time and have been ranked among the Top 10 in 57 of the last 66 weekly polls.
- Syracuse will be making its first trip to Tallahassee in the fourgame series. Each of the four games between these two have occurred in a different decade. Most recently, FSU defeated the Orangemen 41-10 at the Carrier Dome in 1989.

HE'S NO ORDINARY LINE

Then people think of Kevin Mancini, they picture a 6-3, 272pound, big, hulking, offensive lineman. And on the surface, this is a pretty accurate picture. But what people don't see is what's inside that football player. Few people know what makes Mancini what he is, who has helped him in the past, or who he depends on for comfort. These things all contribute to the person, and the personality, of Kevin Mancini.

Another fact which few people realize about Mancini is that during his Florida State career, this Brandon, Fla. native has been beset by injuries. In the past, those injuries stopped him from playing his best. As a strengthening technique for a painful hip problem, Mancini began practicing the art of Taekwondo.

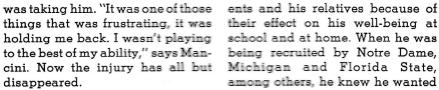

"I went to a specialist to get some new exercises and one of the things he suggested was Taekwondo for flexibility," Mancini explained. "So far it's paid off, I haven't had any problems with it (hip injury)." He has practiced this karate-like art for approximately two years now, and it's helped him overcome much of the pain he felt during the previous two seasons.

At one point in his football career, Mancini doubted whether he would come back to Florida State because of his injuries. As the pain in his hip increased day-by-day, and coaches tried to decide whether to give him a medical redshirt for his sophomore year, Mancini was no longer sure where football Family has played a large part in his recovery, and has made Kevin the person he is today. His father Mike played professional football for the Chicago Bears from 1967-1969. The younger Mancini feels his dad's professional experiences have helped Kevin during his football career.

'He only wants the best for me...he's been a real inspiration to me and helped me out tremendously," Kevin said of his dad. "He was practically my coach (in high school) and taught me just about everything I know.

"He's my biggest fan, he's always been there for me. He's been to every game, and he's my best friend."

Marsha Mancini has played just as large a role in Kevin's development. "My mom has really developed a lot of football knowledge over the years. At times she's told me I missed a block and I get kind of surprised," Kevin said.

But that's not all Marsha sees when she watches her son. She also keeps a close eye to see when Kevin is feeling down or unhappy about something. "She (Marsha) keeps me going. My dad helps with the physical side of things. My mom, she keeps my spirit going, she sees what's going on inside. If I'm having a problem, she helps me deal with that. She sees my emotions."

Kevin is extremely close to his par-their effect on his well-being at school and at home. When he was being recruited by Notre Dame, Michigan and Florida State, among others, he knew he wanted to stay close to home. Family provides a steady support group and Kevin wanted to keep it in close proximity to him.

A psychology major, Mancini wants to do many things in the future. There's no doubt he'd like to play professional football and chances of that dream coming true look extremely good for this Seminale right now. But whether he plays at the next level or not, he wants his education.

"I want to work with children evertually. Mancini said. "I've always excepted them and I feel that they have a lot to do with building our future."

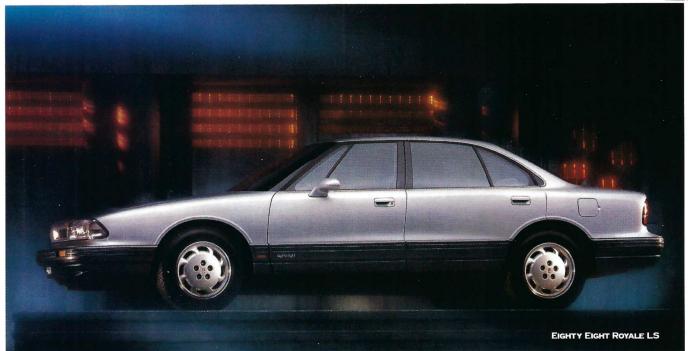

He feels he can be a good influence on kids because there aren't many outstanding role models for children in today's society. To like to steer kids in the right direction. I think that I could be a good influence on kids."

Right now, playing football and obtaining his degree are most important to Mancini.

Es experiences are many and

DR. DALE W. LICK

r. Dale W. Lick became the 11th president of Florida State University on Aug. 1, 1991.

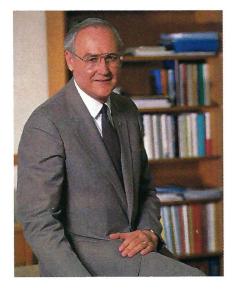

Lick had served as president of two institutions of higher education, the University of Maine and Georgia Southern College (now Georgia Southern University), prior to his selection by the Florida Board of Regents as FSU president on March 11, 1991.

A mathematician by academic discipline, Lick also previously held administrative positions at Old Dominion University, Russell Sage College and Drexel University.

Like his predecessor, Lick is a native of Michigan and an alumnus of Michigan State University. Lick was born Jan. 7, 1938, in Marlette, Mich.

At Michigan State University, Lick earned a bachelor of science degree in 1958, graduating in three years with honors, and a master of science degree in 1959, both in mathematics. He earned a Ph.D. in mathematics from the University of California at Riverside in 1965.

After completing his doctorate, Lick joined the faculty at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, as an assistant professor of mathematics. Two years later, on leave from UT-Knoxville, he was a visiting research mathematician at Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York.

In 1969, Lick became head of the department of mathematics at Drexel University in Philadelphia, Pa., while at the same time serving as an adjunct associate professor in biomathematics at Temple University Medical School. Also, from 1966 to 1971, he was a consultant to the Computing Technology Center for Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Lick moved to Troy, N.Y., in 1972 to serve as vice president for academic affairs at the private Russell Sage College. Two years later, he was named dean of the School of Sciences and Health Professions and professor of mathematics and computing sciences at Old Dominion University.

From 1978 to 1986, Lick was president of Georgia Southern and helped to lead the Statesboro institution from a teachers' college to university status.

On Sept. 1, 1986, Lick became president of the University of Maine located in Orono, the largest of the seven institutions in the University of Maine System.

Florida State's 11th president has been married since 1956 to Marilyn K. Foster. The Licks have three grown children, Kitty, Diana and Ronald. • ob Goin was named athletic director at Florida State in January 1990 after serving as an associate and assistant athletic director at the school for the previous eight years.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

BOB GOIN

Goin, and former FSU President Bernard Sliger, were widely credited with making the single most important move in the school's athletic history when Florida State joined the Atlantic Coast Conference on July 1, 1991. By implementing one of the nation's top compliance programs, spearheading the development of athletic facilities and committing himself to continuing FSU's unprecedented successes both on and off the athletic field, Goin has proven an excellent leader in less than two years at the helm of FSU's program.

An assistant and then associate athletic director at Florida State from 1982-90, Goin was responsible for many aspects of the day-to-day operation of the athletic department. Among his many duties was the responsibility for all game-day operations for the Seminole football, basketball and baseball teams.

Goin came to Tallahassee in July 1981 after two years as athletic director at California (Pa.) State College, where he was credited with expanding the athletic department.

Prior to taking the California post, Goin served as assistant athletic director at West Virginia University. From 1976-79, Goin was involved in several expansion projects at WVU.

From 1960-76, Goin worked at Bethany College, where he was an associate professor and chairman of physical education and athletics at Bethany, as well as taking coaching assignments in football, basketball and baseball.

A recipient of a number of coaching honors, Goin currently serves on many university-wide committees.

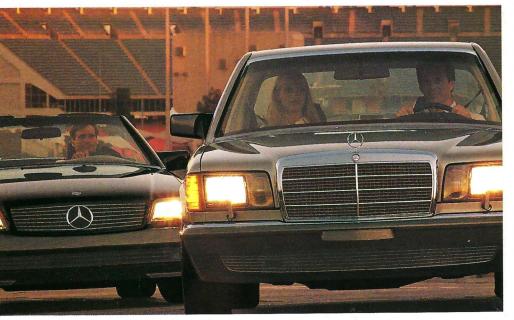

Goin and his wife, Nancy, have three sons — Doug, Brian and Bruce — a daughter, Janice, and two grand-children — Nikki, 11, and Robbie, 7.

THE BEST DEFENSE BEGINS WITH THE RIGHT PROTECTIVE GEAR.

As you formulate your defensive driving strategy, you might keep this in mind: The car that puts safety first was also first with some of the most significant safety innovations of the last two decades.

Mercedes-Benz pioneered and patented the first energy-absorbing car body. Mercedes was also first on U.S. highways with electronic ABS antilock braking and the Supplemental Restraint System, including driver-side air bag. Safety enhancements now standard on every new Mercedes-Benz.

Mercedes-Benz also introduced 24-hour Road-side Assistance to America and made it nationwide. Even if you only need a flat fixed or a gallon of gas, help is just a phone call away.

For 1991, Mercedes-Benz offers not one but three separate traction control options: Automatic Slip Control, Automatic Locking Differential and 4MATIC,™ Mercedes fully automatic all-wheel drive.

CHARLES W. EHRHARDT

ow beginning his eighth year as chairman of the FSU Athletic Committee, Charles Ehrhardt continues to be an important voice for Florida State on the national level. Recently, Ehrhardt was appointed to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Special Committee to review the NCAA Enforcement and Infractions process by NCAA Executive Director Dick Schultz.

Twice elected president of the Metro Conference, Ehrhardt has served as chair of the Faculty Athletics Representatives Association and has been a member of the College Football Association's Monitoring Committee since 1989.

This is Ehrhardt's second stint on FSU's Athletic Committee. A professor of law at Florida State since 1967, he first worked on the committee from 1969-71. He was reappointed to the board in 1983 and succeeded Dr. James Jones as chairman in 1984, becoming Florida State's representative to the NCAA with the appointment.

A highly-respected expert in the field of Evidence, Ehrhardt is the Ladd Professor of evidence in the Florida State College of Law. He wrote the Florida Evidence Code, passed by the state legislature in 1976, which deals with the admissibility of evidence in court trials. Ehrhardt has also written a book on evidence, which is now in its third edition.

Ehrhardt is in demand as a lecturer and speaker. He works with lawyers and judges nationwide as a private consultant on evidence matters. He currently teaches in the areas of torts, evidence, trial advocacy and sports law. He has been honored four times as the outstanding professor in FSU's College of Law and also was the recipient of a University Teaching Award in 1989.

A native of Elkader, Iowa, Ehrhardt received a bachelor's degree from Iowa State University in 1962. He went on to the University of Iowa where he earned his law degree two years later. He eventually became an Assistant United States Attorney in Iowa before coming to Tallahassee.

Ehrhardt and his wife, the former Judy Sutton, have three children.

Thursdays through Sundays

Per Room, Per Night. Conditions Apply*

On your next football weekend, why settle for a bargain hotel when you can have a hotel that's a genuine bargain. A Courtyard by Marriott hotel for an incredibly reasonable $44 a night, any Thursday through Sunday.

Unlike so many of those too-good-to-be-true offers, our special $44 rate isn't for a heartbreak hotel. It's for a Courtyard. The perfect place to rest and retool for the big game. Where you can stretch out in a spacious, comfortable room. And unwind in our pool, whirlpool and minigym that can help even the most worn out fan go the distance. Of course, for those of you who hardly want to move, there's even a cozy restaurant just steps from your room.

So, for a great way to tackle a football weekend for a mere $44 a night, call 1-800-321-2211 or your travel agent, 7 days ahead for reservations. After all, why settle for a run-of-the-mill hotel when you can have one that goes the whole 9 yards.

THIS IS FLORIDA STATE

llorida State University, nearing its golden anniversary as a coeducational graduate research institution, is poised on the brink of joining the nation's academic elite.

Building rapidly from the framework of a highly regarded liberal arts college for women, located on the oldest continuous site of higher education in Florida, the university has emerged as an institution of national and international esteem, evidenced by a number of exciting recent additions to its record of excellence:

• FSU, selected over the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, attracted the National High Magnetic Field Laboratory to Florida's capital city in 1990. The National Science Foundation will establish the $100 million, state-of-the-art magnet lab at FSU, which will be joined in the research by the Los Alamos National Laboratory and the University of Florida.

· At the forefront of super-computing since obtaining its first high-speed computer in 1985, FSU took yet another step in ultra-fast computing in 1990 with the acquisition of two new supercomputers, the Thinking Machine Corp. Connection Machine and the Cray Y-MP. Both computers can be accessed from hundreds of locations in the United States and Europe.

• In 1991, Florida State ranked second in popularity nationwide among high school seniors, based on the number of students who request that their college-entrance exam scores be sent to an institution. FSU was one of only three institutions among the top 15 choices of both black and white college-bound students.

 FSU's high-tech program in structural biology in 1991 received the university's largest single foundation grant to date, $4 million, to position it among the leaders in the field worldwide.

· Now the professional training ground for one of Florida's fastest growing industries, film production, FSU graduated its first class of film students from its School of Motion Picture, Television and Recording Arts in 1991.

 Construction of the $75 million University Center is under way adjacent to Doak S. Campbell Stadium. When completed, the University Center will provide 550,000 square feet of classroom and office space and a centralized location for student services. The three-phase project will include two eight-story buildings and three four-story buildings on the east and west sides of the stadium.

• And, in 1990, Florida State, after being courted by several national athletic conferences, joined the Atlantic Coast Conference, capping more than a decade of national prominence in intercollegiate athletics.

As this list attests, Florida State has begun the 1990s with exceptional strength, energy and vision for the future. And, under the new leadership of the university's 11th president, Dr. Dale W. Lick, FSU will continue to build on the foundation of its long history of excellence in scholarship, research and humanity.

A public university and a senior member of the State University System, Florida State was founded as an institution of higher learning in 1851 by legislative act and began operating in Tallahassee with its first stu-

The main campus is spread over 347 acres in Tallahassee; the university owns a total of 1,172 acres in Leon, Bay and Franklin counties. For many years FSU has extended its reach far beyond Florida through international study programs in England, Italy, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, France, Panama, Costa Rica and the Caribbean.

These far-reaching programs are but a few of the 271 graduate and undergraduate degree programs offered through Florida State's eight independent colleges—Arts and Sciences; Business; Communication; Education; Engineering; Human Sciences; Law; and Social Sciences (incorporating the School of Public Administration and Policy)—and eight independent schools—Criminology and Criminal Justice; Library and Information Studies; Motion Picture, Television and Recording Arts; Music; Nursing; Social Work; Theatre; and Visual Arts and Dance.

With 1,533 members, the FSU faculty currently includes five members of both the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and has included five Nobel laureates. The main library facility, the Robert M. Strozier Library, is linked via a computerized information system to other state university and national research libraries. The Paul A.M. Dirac Science Center Library places scientific resources close by the university's main science research complex.

On the top floor of the Dirac Library is the headquarters of the Supercomputer Computations Research Institute, a program that brings together some 100 scientists, engineers and technicians. SCRI is electronically linked to an off-campus research complex and the university's two powerful supercomputers.

Also providing unique research opportunities is the physics department's Tandem Van de Graaff Superconducting Accelerator Laboratory, which houses two powerful atom smashers and is ranked among the top four in the nation by the National Science Foundation.

FSU places a high priority on its nearly 29,000 students, their needs and interests. The Honors and Scholars program, the FSU Distinguished Lecture Series, student government, the one-of-a-kind, all-collegiate Flying High Circus, and intramural sports are among more than 200 organizations and activities in which students can participate.

In the heart of the state's thriving capital city, Florida State bonds the educational and social aspects of campus life just as it blends Gothic and modern styles of architecture with the oaks, pines, dogwoods, palms and azaleas of North Florida.

In all areas of teaching, research and service, Florida State University is advancing boldly into the 21st century.

HEAD COACH BOBBY BOWDEN

lorida State's final regular season game of 1990 exemplified the reason Bobby Bowden just might be America's finest football coach.

Pressed into a must-win situation to remain among the nation's Top 10 teams and challenged by a young innovative gunslinger from across the state, the wise and crafty coaching graybeard of FSU carved an absolute masterpiece.

With only five seniors in his starting lineup, Bowden's surging "baby" Seminoles executed to perfection, toppling the seemingly insurmountable and sixth-ranked Florida Gators of Steve Spurrier. The 45-30 victory was orchestrated with the skill of a surgeon, and the Florida State empire was saved again by the "white knight" from Birmingham. Just as it has been for the past 15 seasons.

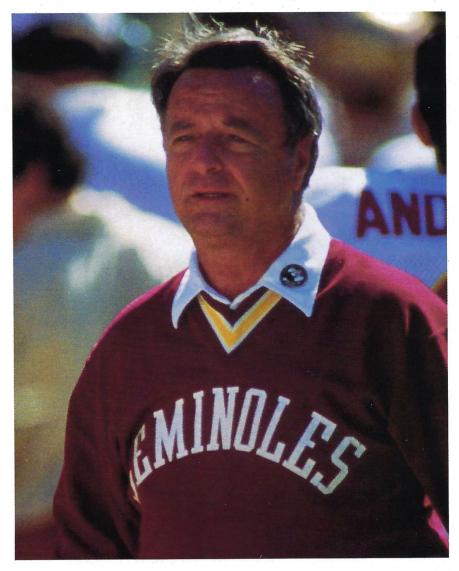

And then, just to add an exclamation point, Ol' Bobby went out and whipped his lifelong nemesis, Joe Paterno and Penn State, in the inaugural Blockbuster Bowl last December. That's no surprise, though. The last time Bowden lost a bowl game, this year's freshman class was entering the second grade!

Like fine wine, Bowden, at age 61, keeps getting better. The list of coaches who have won more games than Bobby is getting so short you might want to jot them down, on a matchbook cover. Last season, Bowden climbed from 14th to eighth all-time. His 205 career victories rank second among active Division I coaches behind only Paterno.

Just how impressive is Bowden's 25-year coaching record? He's now on the same page with all the legends of college football. The seven coaches in front of him might as well have invented the game. Bowden has a "lifetime" contract to coach the Seminoles and odds are he'll be in the top five on that list soon.

When Bowden first arrived in Tallahassee in 1976, he described his relationship with the school as "a marriage" and was determined to let "no man put it asunder." True to his word, he completed his 15th season at FSU in 1990.

Life has never been better in the land of the Seminoles. The victory over Penn State gave FSU its fourth straight Top Four national finish, fourth straight season with 10 or more wins and a jump start on 1991 with most all the key contributors back.

The Blockbuster Bowl win also solidified Bowden's place as college football's best bowl coach. His 10-3-1 record in bowl games is light years ahead of any coach with more than 10 appearances. The Blockbuster was the ninth straight post-season showing by Bowden's Seminoles—a string in which there has not been a loss. A 10th career bowl win makes Bowden just the fourth man in history to reach double digits.

But what Bowden means to Florida State University off the playing field cannot be measured. Respect, admiration, class, honesty, charisma, charm and humor. That's Bobby Bowden.

As if his character isn't enough, his coaching style draws admirers nationwide. A wide-open, gambling style makes Bowden teams a treat to watch, a pleasure to play on and a delight to cover. Reverses, flea-flickers, laterals—you name it. Here it comes!

A look at the record shows he's done it both ways. The flashy wins may get all the attention, but for every one of those, there are a dozen others spawned from sound fundamental football. This guy's not just a gambling magician. He can flat out coach!

By now it's been well-chronicled how the Birmingham cracker left the snow and ice of West Virginia to come to Florida State and save the program. Three seasons after he walked on campus, he had taken one of the worst football teams in the country to within one game of a national championship.

When Bowden arrived in 1976, he inherited a team that had been 4-29 over the previous three seasons. He went 5-6 that first year, but his team won its last three games in dramatic fashion. Somehow, everyone could sense right then what this man was going to bring to FSU.

Bowden's Florida State record is 132-42-3 (.754) entering the 1991 season. That includes a 71-14-1 (.831) record in Tallahassee and a 61-28-2 (.680) mark away from home. He has built those numbers against some of the nation's toughest schedules. His road record alone includes a 2-0 mark at Ohio State, 1-0 at Notre Dame, 2-0 at Arizona State, 1-0 at Clemson, 4-2 against Nebraska and 2-0 at Syracuse, to name just a few.

The coach has been a man of his word. At his first FSU press conference in 1976, he said his biggest priority was to play arch-rival Florida on an even keel. The Gators, you see, had owned Florida State, leading the series 15-2-1. In 15 meetings, Bowden owns an 8-7 advantage.

Bowden achieved some impressive numbers in his previous coaching stops (31-6 at Samford University in Birmingham between 1959 and 1962, and 42-26 at West Virginia from 1970-75), but what he has done at Florida State is simply phenomenal. Seven times in 15 years his Seminoles have won 10 or more games in a season. Florida State had been to just eight bowls in the 29 years before him. Since his arrival, FSU has been to 12 bowl games, including a string of nine in a row and five New Year's Day trips. In his 15 years, the Seminoles have been a mainstayranked by the Associated Press poll in 161 weekly polls out of 215 possible weeks. An incredible 81 times under Bowden the Seminoles have been in the Top 10 on a given week. What about a Top 20 finish? Eleven times in 15 seasons!

Above all his coaching accomplishments, though, are his credentials as a man. Friendly and outgoing, Bowden is a devoted Christian and family man. He loves people. His personality and charm are bigger than life. He has become somewhat of a folk hero in the Deep South.

A polished speaker, Bowden is constantly in demand. Any free evening in the year will find him on the after dinner circuit. Every free Sunday morning will find him in the pulpit of a church somewhere in the South.

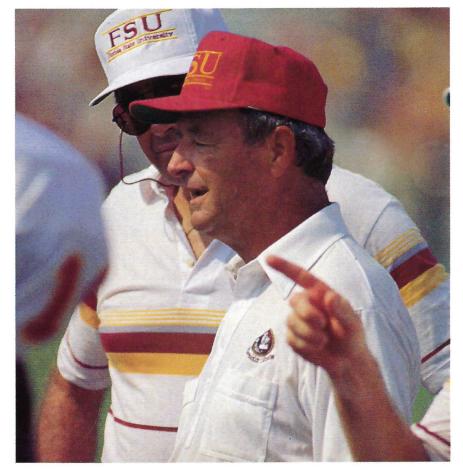

Bowden is truly adored and respected by the media. There is no football coach better with the press. Open and candid, he is intently aware of the role of the press and many times looks at situations through their eyes rather than his own. He is a student of the media, reading virtually every article written about the program and watching tapes of network features on his team. He actually seems to relish opportunities to meet with reporters.

Outside of football, Bowden has an intense interest in World War II history and reads countless books and articles on the subject. He has traced his ancestry to parts of Germany and had an opportunity to visit the country in 1988.

The coach is a golf fanatic, playing almost daily during the off-season. Interestingly, he never plays once football practice begins. He never even has the desire until spring recruiting is finished. He has a solid game which gets into the 70s by the end of the summers. Bowden also enjoys boxing, watching matches on cable TV religiously.

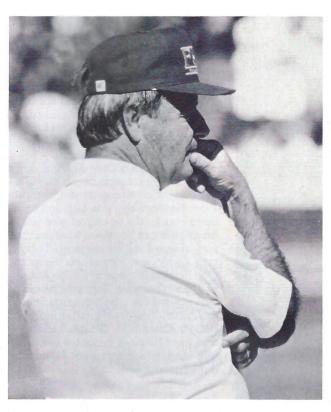

Bowden was born in Birmingham on November 8, 1929 and was an outstanding player at Woodlawn High School there. He went on to Alabama as a freshman quarterback, fulfilling a lifelong dream to play for the Crimson Tide. During one semester in Tuscaloosa, he found his childhood sweetheart, Ann Estock, and she was enough to lure him back to Birmingham. He soon married Ann and transferred to Howard College (now Samford University) in Birmingham.

Bowden was a Little All-American there and returned to begin his collegiate head coaching career there in 1959. His son Terry is currently the head coach. His youngest son, Jeff is an assistant at Southern Miss and his son-in-law Jack Hines is on Terry's staff. Oldest son Steve is on the faculty at Flagler College in St. Augustine, Fla. Another son, Tommy, recently was named the offensive coordinator at Auburn. His four sons, daughters Robyn Hines and Ginger Madden, and their families make up the Bowden clan, which numbers 24, including 10 grandchildren.

ASSISTANT COACHES

CHUCK AMATO
ASSISTANT
HEAD COACH
DEFENSIVE LINE
(NORTH CAROLINA
STATE '69)

huck Amato begins his 10th season at Florida State as defensive line coach and his seventh in the role of assistant head coach. He came to FSU in 1982 from Arizona as the line coach and was given additional responsibilities in the administrative area three years later. Since joining the Florida State coaching staff, Amato has helped return the Tribe defense to national prominence.

Among Amato's top former pupils are All-America noseguard Odell Haggins and NFL performers Alphonso Carreker, a 1984 first-round draft pick, and Eric Hayes of the Seattle Seahawks.

Amato coached linebackers for two seasons at Arizona before coming to Florida State. Prior to his stint at Arizona, Amato had done all of his coaching at his alma mater, N. C. State University.

Amato first joined the Wolfpack staff in 1968 as a student assistant and he remained at the school for the next 12 years, eventually working his way up to defensive coordinator. After serving as a student, and then a graduate assistant, Amato was hired as a full-time coach in 1971. In 1974, he was promoted to defensive coordinator, a post he held for the next six seasons.

A native of Eaton, Pa., Amato earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from N. C. State. He was a three-year letterman in football and wrestling, and was undefeated in dual matches. He claimed a pair of Atlantic Coast Conference titles in his weight class.

Amato and his wife, Peggy, are the parents of twin daughters—Lugina and Selena.

MICKEY ANDREWS DEFENSIVE

ince Mickey Andrews' arrival at Florida State in 1984, the Seminole defense has returned to the dominating form and success it enjoyed in the late '70s and early '80s. The resurgence of the FSU defense and emergence of the defensive secondary as a strong unit has helped FSU to 42 wins in the last four seasons and four consecutive top four rankings.

Andrews' skill as a defensive coach has not gone unnoticed as Athlon's Southeastern Football Magazine named him its Assistant Coach of the Year in 1991.

Andrews' most famous pupil is Deion Sanders, a first-round draft choice of the Atlanta Falcons in 1989 and the 1988 Jim Thorpe Award winner as the nation's top defensive back. LeRoy Butler joined Sanders as an All-America choice in 1989 and Terrell Buckley's selection to AP's second team unit last year gave Andrews four honorees in as many seasons.

Although Andrews came to Florida State from the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League, he was no stranger to the college game, having spent 17 years in the collegiate ranks before taking the Wrangler post.

Andrews made coaching stops at Eastern Kentucky, Livingston, North Alabama, Clemson and Florida during his career. He was defensive coordinator at Florida for two years (1981-83), and held a similar position at Clemson from 1977-80. His final year with the Tigers, Andrews added duties as assistant head coach.

From 1972-76, Andrews was the head coach and athletic director at North Alabama. It was his second head coaching job, as he spent three years guiding the Livingston University program from 1970-72. During his tenure, Livingston went 24-7 and won the NAIA national championship.

Andrews starred in football and baseball for Alabama from 1961-64, earning second team All-America mention as a wide receiver and defensive back. During his career, the Crimson Tide won a pair of national championships (1961, '64) and played in the 1963 Sugar and '62 and '64 Orange Bowls.

In addition to his football honors, Andrews was an All-Southeastern Conference choice in baseball. In 1964, he received the Hugo Friedman Award as the Tide's best all-around athlete.

Andrews and his wife, Diane, have two children—Ronnie and Shannon

WALLY BURNHAM

Inside Linebackers (Samford '63)

eteran linebackers coach Wally Burnham begins his seventh season on the Florida State staff in 1991 as the tutor of the Seminole inside linebackers. Like defensive coordinator Mickey Andrews, Burnham came to FSU from the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League.

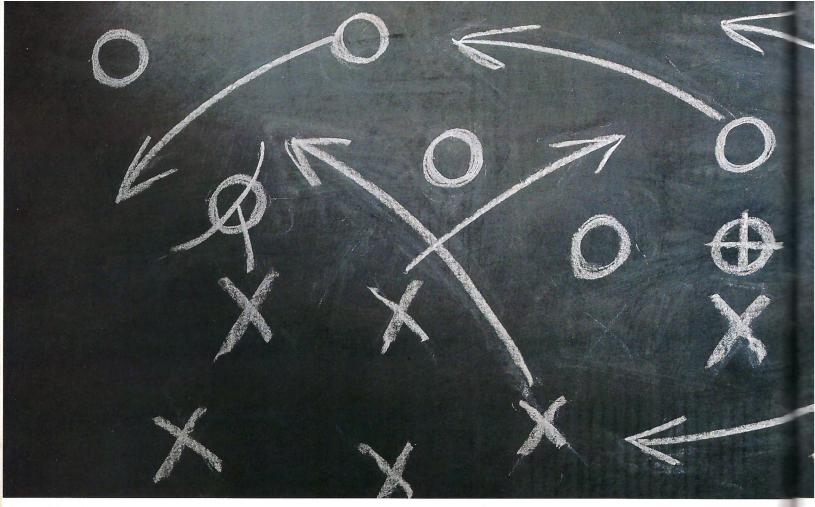

Burnham's star pupil at Florida State was Paul McGowan, the 1987 Butkus Award winner as the nation's top linebacker.

The linebacker coach for the Wranglers in 1983-84, Burnham helped Arizona's defense achieve number one status in the league. Before moving to the professional game, Burnham was defensive coordinator at Lamar University in Beaumont, Tex.

Prior to that, Burnham made coaching stops at Memphis State, Richmond, East Tennessee State and North Alabama. At East Tennessee State, he was defensive coordinator from 1977-79, while his stint at North Alabama consisted of five years as defensive line coach under then-head coach Mickey Andrews.

Burnham, like Bobby Bowden, played college football at both Alabama and Samford, playing for the late

JOHN EASON RECEIVERS (FLORIDA A & M

'ust as Penn State University earned a reputation as "Linebacker U." over its years as a collegiate football power, Florida State has become known as a wide receiver factory for the pros over the last decade.

Since 1981, the man responsible for developing those players at FSU is John Eason. Eason has coached some of the most talented athletes on the Florida State team during his tenure, including current pros Jessie Hester (Indianapolis Colts), Hassan Jones (Minnesota Vikings) and Ronald Lewis (San Francisco 49ers).

While they all had successful careers at Florida State, none enjoyed the collegiate success of Lawrence Dawsey, Eason's first Associated Press All-American, who earned that accolade following last season. Of all the wide receiver greats at FSU, Dawsey became only the third to earn first team AP All-America honors, joining Hall of Famers Fred Biletnikoff and Ron Sellers.

Eason is a native of Ocala, Fla., and joined FSU from Tallahassee's Lincoln High School, where he was assistant principal for student affairs for two years. He also coached on the Tallahassee high school scene, serving as offensive coordinator at Leon High School from 1973 to 1979.

A receiver and punter for Florida A & M University in Tallahassee from 1963-67, Eason earned All-America honors his junior and senior years. He was named MVP of the Rattler sauad in both those seasons.

Following graduation, Eason played two years of professional football with the Oakland Raiders. He began his coaching career at Vanauard High School in Ocala.

Eason holds a doctorate in Education Administration from Florida State. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Florida A & M.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have a daughter—Amanda.

IIM GLADDEN OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS (WILLIAM JEWELL

utside linebackers coach Jim Gladden began his coaching career at Florida State before the arrival of Bobby Bowden, giving him seniority among the FSU staff. He was hired as a fulltime coach in 1976, the same year Bowden started in Tallahassee. However, Gladden was a graduate assistant coach for the Tribe during the

Through his 16 seasons with the Seminoles, Gladden has been the outside linebackers coach. Gladden's most famous former pupil is Willie Jones, a second-round draft pick of the Oakland Raiders.

In addition to his on-field coaching talents, Gladden has been a proficient recruiter for the Seminoles. When assigned to Central Florida, Gladden signed some of the most highly touted players from that area. Gladden's move to the Tampa area four seasons ago was a factor in FSU's signing some of the top talent in that sector of the state over the past four seasons.

Gladden's responsibilities also include the punt return and punt block units. In 1984, the Seminoles blocked a school-record eight punts. Since 1976, Florida State has blocked 54 punts and earned a well-deserved reputation as one of the country's top units.

After graduating from William Jewell College in 1962, where he was chosen to the all-conference team, Gladden spent the next 15 years coaching in the high school ranks. He spent four years in Kansas City and St. Louis before moving to Kentucky. In 1970, he was the high school coach of the year in the Bluegrass State.

Following a year at Springfield High School in Tennessee, Gladden moved to Brooksville, Fla., where he headed the Hernando High program for two years. From there, he took the assistantship at Florida State, which led to his current full-time position.

Gladden, a native of Springfield, Mo., and his wife Patricia, have two children—Julie and John.

JIMMY HEGGINS TIGHT ENDS (FLORIDA STATE

immy Heggins, now in his sixth year on the FSU staff, returned to his alma mater in 1986. After four years of coaching the Seminole noseguards, where he was an outstanding player in the mid-70s for current boss Bobby Bowden, Heggins starts his second season as coach of the FSU tight ends in 1991.

During his time as noseguard coach, Heggins was instrumental in the transformation of Odell Haggins from linebacker to one of the top noseguards in the country.

Before the start of the 1986 season, Heggins came back to Florida State from Southwestern Louisiana, where he spent a year as an assistant coach. He also served as running backs coach at Eastern Michigan for two seasons and at Western Illinois for one year.

He began his collegiate coachina career as a graduate assistant at East Carolina in 1980, and filled the same role at FSU for the 1981 and '82 campaigns.

Heggins originally arrived in Tallahassee in 1974 from Salisbury, N.C., as a running back with impressive credentials. As a senior at North Rowan High School, he was named to the North Carolina all-state team after gaining 1,670 yards. After spending his first two seasons as a fullback, Heggins made the switch to noseguard in Bowden's first year. At the end of the 1976 season, he was named the squad's outstanding defensive player. A year later, he helped Florida State to a 10-2 record and the Tangerine Bowl championship.

Heggins and his wife, the former Winifred Parker, have two daugh-

n his second stint at Florida State, Mark Richt begins his second season as quarter-backs coach for the Seminoles. Richt also tutored the Seminole signal-callers from 1985 to 1988 in his capacity as a graduate assistant and then as a volunteer assistant. In 1989, Richt left FSU for East Carolina, where he served as the Pirates' offensive coordinator.

Under Richt's direction, Danny McManus and Chip Ferguson led Florida State to Fiesta Bowl and Sugar Bowl titles and back-to-back 11-1 seasons in 1987 and 1988. Peter Tom Willis, now with the NFL's Chicago Bears, learned the FSU system under Richt before breaking 15 school records in 1989. Overall, Florida State's most effective field generals directed the offense under Richt.

Richt was well-schooled in the passing game before coming to FSU as a graduate assistant coach in 1985. The Boca Raton, Fla., native was a quarterback at the University of Miami under former Hurricane coach Howard Schnellenberger. He was the backup quarterback to Buffalo Bills star Jim Kelly during his three seasons at UM.

Richt is married to the former Kathy Francis. Their son, one-year old Jonathan, appeared on the cover of the 1990 FSU Blockbuster Bowl Media Guide along with FSU coach Bobby Bowden.

rad Scott, who in his initial year as Florida State offensive coordinator directed the Seminole offense to a 10-2 season, will again handle that role, as well as that of offensive line coach, in 1991.

Last year's campaign was the first in seven seasons to feature a new man serving as offensive coordinator. Perhaps Scott's greatest achievement was in making the transition so smoothly that the change was barely noticed.

Scott made a name for himself as the Seminoles' recruiting coordinator and tight ends coach for five seasons prior to becoming offensive coordinator last season.

He gained a national reputation for his recruiting efforts as three of his five recruiting classes ranked among the nation's top five. Scott is given credit for laying the groundwork for current recruiting successes.

In addition, Scott was an effective tight ends coach who is credited with the development of Pat Carter, a former second-round draft pick now with the Los Angeles Rams.

Scott originally came to Florida State in 1984 as a graduate assistant coach in charge of the junior varsity squad and the tight ends. He was promoted a year later.

A football standout at Missouri-Rolla from 1972-76, Scott was chosen to play in the American Bowl All-Star Game following his senior season.

Upon graduation, Scott returned to his native Arcadia, Fla., as an assistant coach at DeSoto County High School. A year later, he moved to Hardee High School in Wauchula for one season. Scott's first taste of collegiate coaching came at the Citadel, where he served as head junior varsity coach in 1981 and '82. The following season, he returned to Arcadia as the head football coach and athletic director prior to coming to FSU.

Scott and his wife, Daryle, have two sons—Jonathan and Jeff.

illy Sexton, one of two FSU graduates on the coaching staff, has been associated with Florida State football as a coach since Bobby Bowden's arrival in 1976. A native of Tallahassee, Sexton begins his 15th season as a full-time coach, and his ninth year as coach of the running backs in 1991.

Over the years, Sexton has helped to develop some of the top runners in Florida State history, like All-American Greg Allen, who broke 26 school records during his FSU career, and Sammie Smith and Dexter Carter, first-round draft picks of the NFL's Miami Dolphins (1989) and San Francisco 49ers (1990), respectively.

In 1976, Sexton joined the Florida State staff as a graduate assistant. The next year, he became a member of the full-time staff as quarterbacks coach. He worked with the quarterbacks for five seasons until 1982, when he became the head junior varsity coach and handled scouting duties.

He took over the running backs in 1983 and has made the group one of the most effective components of the FSU offense. To Sexton's credit, FSU running backs did not lose a fumble on a rushing attempt during the entire 1990 season.

A standout at Leon High School in Tallahassee, Sexton played his first three years of college football at Alabama as a backup quarterback before transferring to Florida State. He was the Seminoles' starting quarterback for the opening half of the 1973 season.

Sexton earned a bachelor's degree in business from FSU and began his coaching career as assistant coach at Leon, where he worked for three years before rejoining the Seminoles.

He and his wife, Joy, have three children—Wyatt, Leslie and Taylor.

DAVE VAN HALANGER STRENGTH COACH (WEST VIRGINIA '76)

(ARKANSAS
STATE '86)

CLINT

ave Van Halanger begins his ninth season as Florida State strength coach this year. Van Halanger, who played for Bobby Bowden at West Virginia, has instituted a year-round strength program for Seminole football players which has paid huge dividends through the years.

Under Van Halanger's direction, the average student-athlete gains 20-25 pounds, adds 100 pounds to his bench press and 200 pounds to his squat during his years at FSU. In addition, FSU athletes get faster and more flexible. Each athlete can knock about two-tenths of a second off his 40-yard time and can jump four to five inches higher when he leaves Florida State.

Prior to his arrival at FSU in July of 1983, Van Halanger was head strength coach at his alma mater for five years. He is credited with starting West Virginia's first organized weight training program.

Van Halanger lettered four seasons under Bowden, and was a cocaptain of the 1975 West Virginia Peach Bowl team. An offensive tackle, he earned All-East honors his junior and senior seasons and was an honorable mention All-America selection as a senior. He played professionally with the Atlanta Falcons in 1976 before returning to WVU as a graduate assistant and head junior varsity coach. He was awarded full-time status there in 1978.

Currently, Van Halanger is the North Florida director (1991-95) and a member of the National Board of Ethics for the National Strength and Conditioning Association. In addition to his work with the football athletes, he teaches several classes on strength training to students and to the Tallahassee community. Van Halanger leads FSU's Fellowship of Christian Athletes group.

Some of Van Halanger's recent pupils currently hold positions as strength coaches at Ohio State, Syracuse and Samford.

Van Halanger, a native of Turtle Creek, Pa., and his wife Michele have two daughters—Danielle and Julie and a son, Matthew. lint Ledbetter returns for his fourth season with the Florida State staff in 1991, assisting offensive coordinator Brad Scott with the offensive line, especially working with the split side of that line. Ledbetter was elevated to the volunteer job before the 1990 season after two seasons as a graduate assistant under former offensive coordinator Wayne McDuffie.

A former standout player at Arkansas State, where he served one season as defensive line coach after graduation in 1986, Ledbetter earned four letters from 1982-86. He was named to the All-Southland Conference team as a senior and played on Arkansas State's national runner-up squad.

In 1988, Ledbetter gained acclaim following Florida State's "Puntrooskie" play against Clemson. Ledbetter introduced the play to FSU while coaching the scout team.

A native of Ft. Smith, Ark., Ledbetter is single.

annie Cottrell begins his second season as recruiting coordinator at Florida State in 1991. After just one season as a graduate assistant coach, Cottrell was promoted to the job as the Seminoles' top recruiter after assisting Brad Scott with the 1990 recruiting class.

Cottrell continued FSU's recent recruiting successes this past February. His first recruiting class ranked second nationally according to most analysts, and Florida State was the first school ever to ink both the nation's top offensive and defensive players when it signed Marquette Smith and Derrick Brooks. Overall, a school record seven Parade All-Americans chose Florida State in 1991.

A native of Brewton, Ala., Cottrell came to FSU with two years of coaching experience at the collegiate level, assisting at Troy (Ala.) State while attending school there in 1981 and 1982. He also held three high school head coaching jobs in Alabama in six seasons, at Kinston, Flomaton and East Brewton high schools. In 1986 and '87, he led Flomaton High School to a pair of perfect regular seasons, the first in school history.

Cottrell has served as an instructor at the Bobby Bowden Football Camp since 1985.

A 1983 graduate of Troy State, he and his wife, Rhonda, have two children—Kevin and Meredith.

FSU'S ALL-AMERICAN GUY

irls, this is the guy!

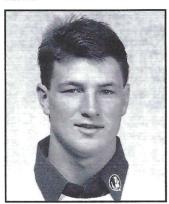

That's right Sorority Sue or Independent Eileen. Mothers - if you've got young daughters, just pray he'll wait for them. Because Brad Johnson is the guy every parent would like to see his little girl end up with.

We are talking true-blue All-American boy here. Handsome, athletic, conscientious, courteous, talented and committed. Johnson is like something out of a 1950's novel, complete with red hair and freckles. Sort of a Richie Cunningham who can slam dunk, throw the bomb and countless other things.

Johnson's career at Florida State was the stuff of folk legend when he began four years ago. A highly-recruited two-sport star out of the mountains of North Carolina (Black Mountain to be specific), Johnson was considered among the nation's top quarterbacks and a top-notch basketball recruit in 1987. North Carolina's Dean Smith offered him a basketball scholarship and football programs from around the country begged him to come.

"I really wanted to play at Georgia Tech if I went with basketball," said the extremely likable Johnson. "But Tech signed Dennis Scott and I knew if I wanted to play football, I was coming to Florida State. While it hasn't turned out like I planned, I certainly don't regret coming here."

So he settled on Florida State and embarked on a career that would take some unexpected twists and turns.

Ouarterback Brad Johnson

As the Seminoles' basketball season got underway in his initial year in Tallahassee, Johnson found himself unable to stay away from the sport he admits is his favorite. As a redshirt in football, Johnson obtained Bobby Bowden's permission and began to work out with both sports, sometimes practicing seven hours a day. It took him just nine games to work into the starting basketball lineup where he averaged nearly six points per game.

As a redshirt freshman on the football team in 1988, Johnson earned a letter as the all-important holder for extra points and field goals — proving to coaches he was reliable and steady.

Later that season, Johnson would earn national recognition by pulling an unusual doubleheader.

As the Seminole football team practiced for its January first date with Auburn in the Sugar Bowl, Johnson was needed in Orlando for the basketball team's appointment with secondranked Pittsburgh. After a morning workout at the Seminoles' football practice site in New Orleans, Johnson flew to the basketball game and scored a season-high 10 points. His contributions helped the Tribe fall just one point short of one of the great upsets in FSU history.

The next morning, it was back to New Orleans for practice that afternoon before playing a pivotal role in FSU's victory over Auburn.

"I always felt like the whole two-sport thing was blown out of pro-

With 130 yards and a pair of

With 130 yards and a pair of touchdown tosses this season, Brad Johnson has upped his career totals to 11 touchdown passes, and fittingly enough for FSU's number 14, 1,414 yards passing.

portion," said the modest Johnson. "It was not that big a deal to me, I was just doing what came naturally. But I guess if I was watching someone else do it on television or something, I would be impressed."

Impressed is how he left FSU basketball coach Pat Kennedy after two outstanding seasons at forward.

"We knew that Brad was a capable basketball player before he came to FSU," Kennedy said. "But he turned out to be a very fine college player. Such intensity, savvy and guts on the floor that we just had to have him in the lineup. He was crucial to some of our early success. And I've not been around a finer person."

Strength of character is a trait Johnson has had to lean on over the last two years at Florida State.

Entering spring drills prior to last year, he and best friend Casey Weldon were neck-and-neck in competition for the starting quarterback spot. After a lengthy battle that stretched into the preseason, coaches selected Johnson as the Seminole starter for the 1990 season.

After guiding the Seminoles to wins in the first four games, FSU ran into trouble at Miami and Auburn and coaches made a change.

"Of course the decision to go with another quarterback was extremely difficult," said quarterback coach Mark Richt. "Brad was sort of a victim of circumstance. He won the job because he was steady and didn't take too many risks. But as the chemistry of our team began to play out, we realized we needed a spark and it just worked out that way."

After finding himself in the spotlight during most of his career

An Evening of Excellence

new Florida State University tradition was unveiled last night in the Ross Oglesby Union University Ballroom as FSU's top student-athletes were honored at the first annual Golden Torch Gala.

The event, which honored outstanding academic achievements by the University's student-athletes during the 1990-91 academic year, was spearheaded by FSU Director of Athletics Bob Goin.

"We have banquets to recognize their accomplishments on the field, but this black tie affair is to focus on the student aspect of being a studentathlete," Goin explained. "This is our way of putting academics on a pedestal and a salute in the highest manner to the academic accomplishments of our athletes."

One athlete from each of FSU's 14 teams was honored (see list this page). Those recognized attained the highest grade point averages on their squad for the past school year.

The highlight of the star-packed evening was the naming of FSU's Outstanding Scholar-Athletes for 1990-91. The male and female student-athletes with the highest grade point averages won the night's highest recognition.

In the inaugural year of the Golden Torch Gala, swimmers Desmond Koh and Merrie Brennan walked away with the Outstanding Scholar-Athlete awards. As part of the awards, an endowed scholarship will be established in their names.

Brennan, a four-year letterwinner at FSU, currently teaches third grade at Robles Elementary School in her native Tampa after graduating from Swimmers Merrie Brennan and Desmond Koh received the Outstanding Scholar-Athlete Awards for 1990-91 last night at the inaugural Golden Torch Gala honoring the Seminoles' top student-athletes.

FSU with a degree in elementary education last spring. During the 1990-91 year, Brennan accumulated a 3.765 gpa. In her final season, Brennan advanced to the Metro Conference finals to help FSU's women's swim team to the title.

Florida State swim coach Terry Maul called Brennan, "A pleasure to work with. I wish I could have 50 Merrie Brennans on our squad. She did everything that was asked of her."

Koh, a native of Singapore, took three weeks off last fall to swim for his country's national team in the Asian Games. A freshman business major, Koh earned the highest grade point average of any Florida State student-athlete with a 3.972 mark. According to Maul, "Desmond is a very talented young man. I look to him to be a real team leader this year. He can excel in both the classroom and pool at the same time."

Both winners attribute the rigors of being a student-athlete to their academic success. "One of the biggest things I learned through being a student-athlete was how to budget my time," Brennan said. "It taught me to be self-motivated."

Those same thoughts were echoed by Koh. "I would not be where I am today academically if not for swimming," he said. "The time constraints of being a student-athlete forced me to use my free time efficiently."

In a truly first-class evening, dignitaries from across the campus and across the country were on hand at the event. In addition to University President Dale Lick, Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Gene Corrigan attended, while the keynote speaker at the Gala was NCAA Executive Director Dick Schultz.

"With the pressure on athletic programs to graduate athletes and the public concern about graduation rates, it is very important that we showcase the accomplishments of athletes in the classroom," Schultz said. "This event does just that."

Sponsored by the Seminole Boosters and held each fall, it is hoped the Gala will become the event of the season for supporters of Seminole athletics. Not only does support of this event send a strong message to Florida State's student-athletes, but it gives fans a chance to recognize and acknowledge the sacrifices made by the athletes.

Be sure to make arrangements to attend next year's Golden Torch Gala and let Florida State's scholarathletes know their classroom efforts are appreciated as much as their efforts on the field.

Michigan native Bob Burda received a master's degree in marketing communication from Florida State last summer.

Cool The Sun

Half the fun of planting a tree is imagining what it will be like in a few years. Our tree will branch out to shade us from the summer sun, help cool our home and the neighborhood, and conserve energy in the process. It will provide a home for songbirds, and will remind us of the special times we share together.

You can cool and beautify your home, too. Join me and plant a tree. For your free booklet, write: Conservation Trees, The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE

Great Comebacks and Other "Against All Odds" College Football Stories — presented by Rogaine.

Unbelievable Upsets

hey can talk of David and Goliath all they want, but college football had its own version in the 1950 Army-Navy game.

It was a "they-said-it-couldn'tbe-done" game and one which will forever be remembered as the time when the giant was laid waste. For here was an Army team which had gone 28 straight games without a defeat and had given up only 26 points in its last two seasons. Army was a clear favorite to beat Navy and conclude its second straight perfect season — the sixth in seven years.

The Midshipmen, coached by Eddie Erdelatz, were as woeful looking as Army was powerful, having lost six of their eight games, including two shutout losses. And so it was no surprise that Army went off a three-touchdown favorite in this, the fifty-first meeting of the two teams.

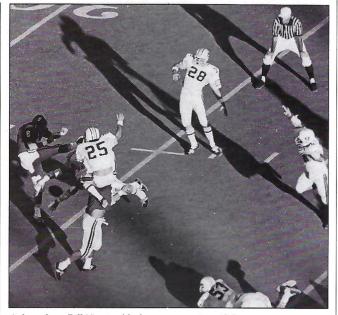

But this was no ordinary football game; it was Army-Navy, a one-game season. And Navy approached it just as that, an opportunity to redeem itself and its season against an Army team the Middies had not beaten since 1943.

Gang-tackling the fleet Army backs and smothering their offense, the Middies controlled the game almost from the onset. With quarterback Bob "Zug" Zastrow directing the offense - scoring the first touchdown on a seven-yard run and passing 30 yards for the second — Navy scored twice in the second quarter to take a 14-0 lead at halftime. Army caught Zastrow in the end zone for a safety in the third quarter and then spent the entire fourth quarter backing up the gallant Midshipmen. But Navy met the challenge, forcing two fumbles and intercepting three passes in the last 15 minutes and held on for one of college football's greatest upsets.

They say that "lightning never strikes twice," but don't tell that to any Alabama football fan. Especially after what happened back in 1972. For here was the "Crimson Tide," poised on the cusp of the national title with a record of 10-0-0 and facing state rival Auburn in the season finale. The "War Eagles" boasted an 8-1 record, but it looked like Alabama was going to preserve its perfect record. Ahead 16-0 after three quarters, even the visiting dignitaries from the Gator Bowl. there to watch their invitees, Auburn, had decided to depart to beat the post-game traffic. But before they could get out of the parking lot, Auburn put together its longest drive and. with fourth and 8 on the 'Bama 25, Gardner Jett kicked the longest field goal of his career, 42 yards, to make the score 16-3, with just 9:50 to play.

After the kickoff, 'Bama moved for three first downs and then was forced to punt from midfield. Auburn lined up in a ten-man rush, with linebacker Bill Newton inside David Langner on the right side. At the snap of the ball, Newton raced forward and blocked the kick and Languer, coming up on the outside, scooped up the ball on the bounce and raced into the end zone. The extra point made it 16-10 with 5:30 left.

Bama took the ensuing kickoff and was again stopped at midfield. Now it was their turn to punt again. What would have been a routine play before the first blocked punt now became a cause for concern. Once again, at the snap of the ball, Newton burst through untouched and again got his hand on the ball. In an instant replay of the first blocked punt, Langner swooped in from the outside, picked up the loose pigskin on the bounce and raced untouched into the end zone. The extra point gave Auburn the win, 17-16, and made Bill Newton the answer to one of those all-time "They-said-itcouldn't-by-done" trivia questions: "Who was the only player in college football history to block two consecutive punts?"

Medical studies reveal...

The earlier you use Rogaine, the better your chances of growing hair.

Rogaine is the only product ever proven to grow hair. And studies show that using it at the first signs of hair loss gives you the best chance that it will grow hair for you.

What are the early warning signs of losing hair?

Everyone loses a little hair. Fifty to 80 hairs a day is normal. If you're losing more than 100 hairs a day without normal replacement, the first sign will often be thinning of the "crown" at the top of your scalp. See your doctor when you first notice it, because this small bald spot can grow larger over time.

"I may not have grown any hair after 6 months, but most of my hair's stopped falling out. I'm glad I got to the doctor fast." —Luis Silva, 20

Two million men worldwide have tried Rogaine. In year-long clinical tests conducted by dermatologists at 27 medical centers nationwide, virtually half (48%) of the men who tried Rogaine saw at least moderate hair regrowth. Thirty-six percent had minimal regrowth and only 16% had no regrowth.

Doctors also found that it usually takes 4 months or more before you can begin to evaluate your use of Rogaine. Side effects were minimal:

only 5% of the men tested had itching of the scalp.

Will Rogaine work for you?

Only a dermatologist or other doctor who treats hair loss can tell you, so see one soon. The sooner you get your prescription for Rogaine (which is now available in an economical three-pack), the sooner you could be growing hair.

For more information, a list of doctors in your area who can help you, and a certificate worth $10 as an incentive to visit your doctor, call the toll-free number below.

"The first time I saw hair growing was at about 8 months. I hadn't lost much...but I'm not taking any chances."

DERMATOLOGY DIVISION

The only product proven to grow hair.

ROGAINE Topical Solution, discovered and made by The Upjohn Company, is a standardized topical (for use only on the skin) prescription medication proved effective for the long-term treatment of male pattern baldness of the crown.

ROGAINE is the only topical solution of minoxidil. Minoxidil in tablet form has been used since 1980 to lower blood pressure.

The use of minoxidii tablets is limited to treatment of patients with severe high blood pressure. When a high enough dosage in tablet form is used to lower blood pressure, certain effects that merit your attention may occur. These effects appear to be dose related:

Persons who use ROGAINE Topical Solution have a low level of absorption of minoxidil, much lower than that of persons being treated with minoxidil tablets for high blood pressure. Therefore, the likelihood that a person using ROGAINE Topical Solution will develop the effects associated with minoxidil tablets is very small. In fact, none of these effects has been directly attributed to ROGAINE in clinical studies.

How soon can I expect results from using ROGAINE?
Studies have shown that the response to treatment with ROGAINE may vary widely.
Some men receiving ROGAINE may see faster results than others; others may respond with a slower rate of hair growth. You should not expect visible growth in less than four months.

If I respond to ROCAINE, what will the hair look like?
If you have very little hair and respond to treatment, your first hair growth may be soft, downy, colorless hair that is barely visible. After further treatment the new hair should be the same color and thickness as the other hair on your scalp. If you start with substantial hair, the new hair should be of the same color and thickness as the rest of your hair.

Now long do I need to use ROGAIME?

ROGAINE is a treatment, not a cure. If you respond to treatment, you will need to continue using ROGAINE to maintain or increase hair growth. If you do not begin to show a response to treatment with ROGAINE after a reasonable period of time (at least four months or more), your doctor may advise you to discontinue using ROGAINE.

What happens if I stop using ROGAIME? Will I keep the new hair?

If you stop using ROGAIME, you will probably shed the new hair within a few months after stopping treatment

What is the desage of ROGAIME?

You should apply a 1 mL dose of ROGAINE two times a day, once in the morning and once at night, before bedtime. Each bottle should last about 30 days (one month). The applicators in each package of ROGAINE are designed to apply the correct amount of ROGAINE with each application. Please refer to the Instructions for Use.

What if I miss a dose or forget to use ROGAINE?

If you miss one or two daily applications of ROGAINE, you should restart your twice-daily application and return to your usual schedule. You should not attempt to make up for missed applications.

Can I use ROGAINE more than twice a day? Will it work faster?

No. Studies by The Upjohn Company have been carefully conducted to determine the correct amount of ROGAINE to use to obtain the most satisfactory results. More frequent applications or use of larger doses (more than one mL twice a day) have not been shown to speed up the process of hair growth and may increase the possibility of side effects.

What are the most common side effects reported in clinical studies with ROGAINE?

Studies of patients using ROGAINE have shown that the most common adverse effects directly attributable to ROGAINE
Topical Solution were itching and other skin irritations of the treated area of the scalp. About 5% of patients had these

Other side effects, including light-headedness, dizziness, and headaches were reported by patients using ROGAINE or piscebo (a similar solution without the active medication).

Diagnostic similar solution without the active medication).

What are some of the side effects people have reported?

The frequency of side effects isted below was similar, except for dermatologic reactions, in the ROGAINE and placebo groups. Respiratory (bronchitis, upper respiratory infection, sinusitis): Dermatologic (irritant or allergic contact dermatistic excerns hypertrichosis, local erythema, puritus, dry skin/scalp flaking, exacentation of hair loss, alopecia): Gastrointestinal (diarrhea, nausea, vomiting); Neurology (headache, dizziness, faintness, light-headedness); Musculoskelatal (fractures, back pain, tendinitis); Cardiovascular (edema, chest pain, blood pressure increases/eaphatanton, pulser ate increases/eacreases); Alergy (nonspecific allergic reactions, hives, altergic rhinitis, facial swelling and sensitivity); Special Senses (conjunctivitis, ear infections, vertigo, visual disturbances, including decreased visual acuity); Metabolic-Nutritional (edema, weight gain); Urinary Tract (urinary tract indections, renal calculi, urethritis); Genital Tract (prostatitis, epidinis, sexual dysfunction); Psychiatric (anxiety, depression, tatique); Hematology (lymphadenopathy, thrombocytopenia); Endocrine.

Individuals who are hypersensitive to minoxidil, propylene glycol, or ethanol must not use ROGAINE.

ROGAINE Topical Solution contains alcohol, which could cause burning or irritation of the eyes, mucous membranes, or sensitive skin areas. If ROGAINE accidentally gets into these areas, bathe the area with large amounts of cool tap water. Contact your doctor if irritation persists.

Your occord in Irritation persists.

What are the possible side effects that could affect the heart and circulation when using ROBAINE?

Although serious side effects have not been attributed to ROBAINE in clinical studies, there is a possibility that they could occur because the active ingredient in ROBAINE Topical Solution is the same as in minoxidil tablets. Minoxidi tablets or treat high blood pressure. Minoxidil tablets agreed to treat high blood pressure with move the blood pressure by relaxing the arteries, an effect called vasodilation. Vasodilation leads to retention of fluid and increased heart rate. The following effects have occurred in some patients taking minoxidil tablets for high blood pressure:

Increased heart rate.—some patients have reported that their resting heart rate increased by more than 20 beats per minute. Rapid weight again of more than 5 pounds or swelling (deema) of the face, hands, ankles, or stomach area; Difficulty in breathing, especially when lying down, a result of an increase in body fluids or fluid around the heart; Worsening of, or new onset of, anding eectoris.

Onset of, angina pectoris.

When ROGAINE Topical Solution is used on normal skin, very little minoxidil is absorbed and the possible effects attributed with minoxidil tablets are not expected with the use of ROGAINE. If, however, you experience any of the possible side effects listed, discontinue use of ROGAINE and consult your doctor. Presumably, such effects would be most likely if greater absorption occurred, e.g., because ROGAINE was used on damaged or inflamed skin or in greater than recommended.

in animal studies, minoxidil, in doses higher than would be obtained from topical use in people, has caused important heart structure damage. This kind of damage has not been seen in humans given minoxidil tablets for high blood pressure at effective

What factors may increase the risk of serious side effects with ROGAINE?

Individuals with known or suspected underlying coronary artery disease or the presence of or predisposition to heart failure would be at particular risk if systemic effects (that is, increased heart rate or fluid retention) of minoxidil were to occur. Physicians, and patients with these kinds of underlying diseases, should be conscious of the potential risk of treatment if they choose to use ROGAINE.

ROGAINE should be applied only to the scalp and should not be used on other parts of the body, because absorption of minoxidil may be increased and the risk of side effects may become greater. You should not use ROGAINE if your scalp becomes irritated or is sunburned, and you should not use it along with other topical treatment medication on your scalp.

Can men with high blood pressure use ROGAINE?
Individuals with hypertension, including those under treatment with antihypertensive agents, can use ROGAINE but should be monitored closely by their doctor. Patients taking guanethidine for high blood pressure should not use ROGAINE.

be monitored closely by their ductor. Fateways learning purpositions to the School any procautions be followed?

Individuals using ROGAINE should be monitored by their physician one month after starting ROGAINE and at least every six months afterward. Discontinue ROGAINE if systemic effects occur.

Do not use if in conjunction with other topical agents such as corticosteroids, retinoids and petrolatum or agents that enhance percutaneous absorption. ROGAINE is for topical use only. Each mL contains 20 mg minoxidil and accidental ingestion could cause adverse systemic effects.

No carcinogenicity was found with topical application. ROGAINE should not be used by pregnant women or by nursing nothers. The effects on labor and delivery are not known. Pediatric use: Safety and effectiveness has not been established

Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without a prescription. You must see a doctor to receive a prescription

TIPS ON SHOOTING SPORTS

It's third down with only seconds left. You're glued to your 20 yard-line seat. The 49ers have the ball. They're on the Giants' 30 yard-line, driving toward the end zone. Montana fades back, spots a receiver in the flank, and fires an out-pass. But Lawrence Taylor intercepts the ball, breaks three tackles and gets into the clear. He kicks in the afterburners and runs a full 80 yards for the game-winning touchdown, sending the Giants to the Super Bowl.

That's heavy action. And for a sports fan, there's nothing more exhilarating. But did you know that the right binoculars will let you follow that action closer than you ever imagined? They'll lift you out of your seat and put you right onto the field, with a player's eye view.

Recently, the photographic company that pioneered autofocus in SLR cameras introduced the only true continuous autofocus binoculars. For viewing sports action, nothing else compares to these. A simple touch of a button activates the continuous autofocusing, which tracks and maintains sharp focus even on fast moving objects. So the binoculars do all the work and eyestrain is virtually eliminated. Other types of binoculars called "permanentfocus" or "fixed focus," on the other hand, may force your eyes to do all the focusing work and are not recommended for extended use, since stress headaches are a possibility under these circumstances.

But true autofocus binoculars in 8x or 10x magnifications are so quick and precise, you'll feel like a big part of the action.

Selecting a good pair of binoculars is easy. Many standard and compact types featuring manual center-wheel focusing are surprisingly affordable.

But no matter which of these you choose, selecting an appropriate magnification is very important. Let's look at the numbers. Take an 8x22 binocular, for example. The number 8 is the magnification power. This means that the image you see will appear 8 times closer. The 22 refers to the diameter, in millimeters, of the front lens. For fast-paced sports action, a very high power binocular is not recommended. It's quite difficult to hold still for a prolonged period of time, and the image will be shaky. A good choice would be either a 7 or an 8 power. These are easily hand-held and will provide comfortable closeup viewing. If you have steady hands, a 9 or 10 power model will also work well.

Another important consideration is the size of the binocular. There are the full-size standard types which offer bright viewing in 7 through 10 power. For even greater versatility, standard zoom-type binoculars can give you magnification ranges from 7 through 21. But if you prefer to travel light, your best bet would be a compact or pocket model. They're small, lightweight, and offer excellent viewing with optimum magnifications.

If you're an outdoors person who doesn't mind wet weather, consider the full-size, waterproof binoculars. Many football games are played in the rain or snow, and the rubber coating and Oring seals will prevent water damage and let you really enjoy the game.

These few tips should help you select the binoculars that are just right for you. Go shopping. Look for quality. Handle them and try them out, particularly the autofocus models. Purchasing a good pair of binoculars is a long-term investment. Once you do, you'll experience the thrill of sports action like never before. The game will be a whole new experience; you'll no longer be a spectator, you'll be a player!

Florida State and Barnett Bank – a Winning Combination

Free First-Year Annual Fee

Now you can get a Florida State VISA or MasterCard, and they are both free — no annual fee for the first year.

When you have a Barnett FSU VISA or MasterCard, you're not only showing support for Florida State University you are giving it. Through your acceptance of this VISA or MasterCard the University will receive $7 a year from Barnett Bank each year your account is renewed. Additionally, each time you use your FSU VISA or MasterCard to make a purchase, Barnett will contribute 10¢ to the University. That's 10¢ for every purchase, for the life of the card.

For more information about the many features of the Barnett FSU VISA or MasterCard, call 1-800-323-6276.

All Barnett Banks are members of FDIC.

To apply, simply complete the application below and send to Barnett Bank. Florida State University and Barnett Bank — a winning combination!

Presenting the Power Vote Notebook Work Organizer

he PowerNote does virtually everything you need a computer for.

Think about it: it does word processing, spread-sheets, organizing, scheduling with alarm and calculating. It can also send faxes, interface with PC's and any printer, access on-line information services and play Tetris™. Plus, it has a 2-way switchable backlit LCD display and 3.5" disk drive for unlimited memory.

No experience is necessary because easy to use pull down menus tell you what to do in plain English.

It's notebook size, weighs 5 lbs. and operates on batteries or AC, so you can use it anywhere.

The PowerNote may look, act and think like a computer, but at under $500...you'll think it's terrific.

Listen for your Seminole Sweepstakes number and win!

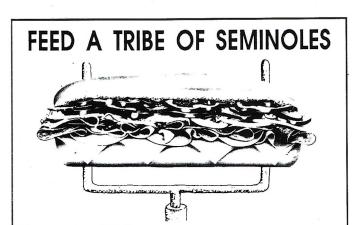

Seminole Sweepstakes is your opportunity to win gifts and prizes at many fine Tallahassee establishments.

Twice per game (once each half) the public address announcer will call out a lucky Seminole Sweepstakes number. If the number announced matches the number listed on the preceding page, you are a winner! To claim your prize, contact Terry Hume the week after the game at (904) 644-6799.

Prizes include gift certificates from the fine establishments featured on these pages.

No purchase is necessary to play the Seminole Sweepstakes contest. You may pick up a lucky number at the Athletic Ticket Office in Moore Athletic Center on Friday prior to home games.

CHECK YOUR PRECONCEIVED NOTIONS AT THE DOORS. The All-New Bonneville.

If you've always believed the only way to get an agile, aero-styled, high-performance sedan was to buy small, you're in for a big surprise. It's time to forget the past, and introduce yourself to the all-new 1992 Pontiac Bonneville.®

By its engineering specifications alone, the new Bonneville shatters that myth convincingly. Under its beautifully redesigned shape lurks a potent 170 horsepower 3.8L 3800 V6 with tuned port sequential fuel injection locked onto an advanced electronic 4-speed automatic. Available anti-lock brakes and a precision-engineered, road-gripping sport suspension for outstanding control, stopping or steering. Available advanced traction control for driver's-side airbag for additional safety assurance.

That's the technical side. But to really get the feel of the new Bonneville, you've got to get behind the wheel. Notice how the solid-feeling controls react smoothly to the touch. How the full complement of analog gauges are well-defined for quick, decisive reads. How the whole cockpit is driver-oriented, and designed for performance.

And by the way, the new Bonneville is a full-fledged, full-sized four-door that can easily carry six adults. Just thought we'd remind you.

The all-new 1992 Bonneville. Climb in and throttle one up. Just be prepared for an attitude adjustment to take place. Very, PONTIAC. We Build Excitement.

Getting high before takeoff.

If the thought of flying doesn't scare you, how about the thought of flying with a pilot who's addicted to cocaine?

According to a series of articles by a Pittsburgh newspaper, drug addiction among airline pilots is not at all uncommon.

The newspaper's series was the result of a phone tip from a frustrated doctor.

He told of a pilot who'd been rushed to the hospital near death from an overdose of cocaine.

A survey of the area's hospitals proved this was not an isolated incident.

Upon further investigation, reporters learned that screening flight personnel for drug use was forbidden. And that the FAA medical exams didn't mandate blood and urine analyses so drug use couldn't be detected.

They learned scores of pilots were receiving treatment for drug abuse.

The newspaper's story brought the problem to the attention of the public.

The public was outraged. And demanded immediate reform.

As a result, several reforms were initiated. Among the first, was the development of more extensive FAA medical exams.

Reforms that may never have occurred if it hadn't been for a couple of reporters pursuing a story.

Palmolive Softest Hands

A Six-Part Series Saluting College Football's Greatest Receivers

THE SOFTEST HANDS IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL HISTORY

By Bert Randolph Sugar

What is a great end, a great receiver, a man with soft hands who can turn a pass, no matter where thrown, into a reception, even a touchdown?

Like the blind men who tried to describe an elephant by researching different parts of its anatomy, a great receiver can be described in many ways.

It could be a Howard Twilley, who caught 134 passes in 1965 at the University of Tulsa. It could be a Tom Reynolds of San Diego State, who caught 18 touchdown passes in 1969. It could even be a Larry Kelley, the first end ever to win the Heisman Trophy, back in 1936 who was described by Allison Danzig in the New York Times as "A headline hunter who always got his ball and touchdown regardless of the odds."

But common wisdom, which is always at a disadvantage in any sports discussion, would hold that the softest hands in collegiate history belonged to Don Hutson, AKA "The Alabama Antelope."

When Don Hutson first arrived at the University of Alabama from his hometown of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, he was so frail he was all but overlooked by his coach, the legendary Frank Thomas. Standing an inch over six feet and weighing barely 160 pounds, Hutson might have been dropped from the squad on the opening day of practice except for one small fact: He could run the 100 in less than 10 seconds, fast enough to become the Southern Conference sprint champion.

His speed, coupled with extraordinary deception — so amazing that one opposing coach said of him, "Hutson is the only man I ever saw who could feint in three different directions at once." — made for one of the most dangerous receivers in college football history.

Almost immediately this skinny receiver, on the other side of the line from another Alabama legend, Paul "Bear" Bryant, began to make his name known. He was blessed with an outstanding Bama team, one which not only included himself and Bryant, but also one of the first passing wizards of the Southeast, Millard "Dixie" Howell.

With Howell pitching and Hutson catching, Bama put on an aerial circus. It was, according to Hutson, a perfect wedding of skills. "I just ran like the devil," Hutson once explained, "and Dixie Howell got the ball there." Hutson was All-American in 1934 and good enough to be elected to the All-Century team as its end.

Hutson was also an innovator of many patterns that still exist today. One of those, the post pattern, was invented by Hutson, with a minor twist. Literally, As Howell cocked his right arm back, ready to deliver.

Hutson took off down field from his left end position in that shuffling, deceptive gait, in a diagonal line for the right goalpost. Then, when the defender got close, Hutson would shift into high gear, racing hellbent for leather straight for the goalposts, which were then situated at the front of the end zone. At breakneck speed, Hutson would run directly at the goalpost and hook the upright with his left arm, his momentum spinning him back toward the field. And then, just as he wheeled around in the opposite direction to face the field, he would reach out with his right arm to grab the ball.

In the 1935 Rose Bowl game, playing against an undefeated Stanford team, the Howell-to-Hutson duo combined for six completions, two for touchdowns, and 165 yards, as Alabama won 29-13.

It was a fitting climax to the career of the greatest receiver in college football history, the soft-handed Don Hutson.

AFTER THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE OUR FOUNDING FATHERS WROTE SOMETHING EVEN MORE IMPORTANT.

Ten years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence our founding fathers created what historians have called the greatest single document struck off by the hand and mind of man.

Our founding fathers created the Constitution of the United States,

For the first time in history, power was granted by the people to the government, and not by the government to the people.

The freedom unleashed by the Constitution allowed Americans to develop their talents and abilities to the fullest. And attain what is now known the world over as the American Dream.

As we commemorate the Bicentennial of the Constitution, there is no better way for you as an American to reaffirm the principles for which our country stands than to learn more about the Constitution.

The words we live by.

Reading, writing, and responsibility.

An introduction to common sense, personal responsibility and having a good time.

Much of what's learned in college can be used throughout a student's lifetime. Learning to be a responsible adult is one of the most important of those lessons.

Anheuser-Busch is committed to developing and supporting grass roots programs that are designed to encourage responsible decision-making on college campuses by students of legal drinking age campuses by students of regardrinking age.

"The Buddy System" is one example. It's an awareness program that encourages you to help friends and strangers avoid drunk driving and other abusive drinking situations. If you can keep someone from drinking too much, or keep someone who's had too much to drink from driving, you'll be the best buddy anybody can have.

Anheuser-Busch is also a sponsor of the BACCHUS program, set up on over 430 campuses nationwide. BACCHUS gives you the chance to make personal and informed decisions about alcohol, as well as the opportunity to play a major role in encouraging other students to think about, talk about and develop responsible behavior. As always, Anheuser-Busch and BACCHUS promote as part of the decisions a respect for state laws and campus policies regarding alcohol consumption.

In BACCHUS, there are plenty of peers, but no pressure. Just plain talk in a relaxed environment. If there isn't a chapter on your campus, consider starting one. If there is, get involved. Because students like you can make the best teachers.

Obviously, there's no substitute for the safe and responsible drinking practices promoted by these programs. And they're practices that may someday make our Alert Cab program unnecessary. But, for the time being, and for those faced with a possible drunk driving situation, Alert Cab provides taxicab rides home from participating bars and restaurants.

If you need a ride, just let your bartender or server know. You'll be picked up by a cab. And participating Alert Cab bars, restaurants and cab companies may even pick up some or all of the fare.

Perhaps the most important way we help meet the demand for information about responsible use of our products is through our sponsorship of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week (NCAAW), coming to your school each October.

Featuring all kinds of enjoyable activities and educational presentations, NCAAW is about the health, safety and social issues you face when making decisions about drinking. It's about obeying state laws and campus policies and avoiding abusive drinking situations. And it's about adding to your margin of safety, and that of everyone else, by making responsible decisions.

It's also about concentrating on your reading, writing and responsibility. And coming away with something you can use in the real world.

These efforts represent the kind of grass roots programs that Anheuser-Busch has developed, or is supporting, to encourage responsible drinking by adult collegians. For more information, contact BACCHUS of the U.S., Inc., P.O. Box 100430, Denver, Colorado 80210; NCAAW, Fort Hays State University, 600 Park Street, Hays, Kansas 67601-4099; or your local Anheuser-Busch wholesaler.

STADIUM INFORMATION

RE-ENTRY POLICY

Fans are NOT permitted to leave and re-enter Doak Campbell Stadium once inside the gates.

RESTROOMS

Restrooms are located on the concourse and ground levels in both the east and west stands.

FIRST AID

The First Aid Station is located at the southwest corner of the stadium. The station is operated by the Tallahassee Chapter of the American Red Cross. A nurse is on duty at all times and emergency service is available. There will be a charge for ambulance service if transportation is required from the stadium to the hospital.

LOST CHILDREN

Lost children should report to the Police Station in the stadium's southeast corner or to the First Aid Station for assistance in locating their parents.

CONCESSIONS

Concessions are available from vendors in the stands as well as from concession stands under the east and west concourses.

PUBLIC TELEPHONES

Public telephones are located on the ground levels of both the east and west stands.

PUBLIC ADDRESS

Announcements will be made only in cases of emergency.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

Alcoholic beverages are prohibited in Campbell Stadium. Violators will be asked to leave the stadium. Bottles, coolers and cans are not allowed in the stadium.

FIELD REGULATIONS

Regulations prohibit unauthorized persons on the playing field before, during and after the game. Please exit the stadium by the ramp and section exits.

WHEELCHAIRS

Wheelchair areas are located at the front of Aisle 9 in the stadium's west stands and Aisle 28 in the stadium's east stands. Wheelchair access restroom facilities are located near gates 2 and 5 entry areas.

LOST AND FOUND

Items may be turned in or claimed at the Police Station, which is in the stadium's southeast corner.

There's an epidemic with 27 million victims. And no visible symptoms.

It's an epidemic of people who can't read.

Believe it or not, 27 million Americans are functionally illiterate, about one adult in five.

The solution to this problem is you...when you join the fight against illiteracy. So call the Coalition for Literacy at toll-free 1-800-228-8813 and volunteer.

Volunteer Against Illiteracy. The only degree you need is a degree of caring.

Florida State's oldest and most prestigious academic donor club is The Presidents Club. It was established in 1977 to focus attention upon the critical importance of the academic assistance provided by alumni and friends of the University. The generous aifts of alumni and friends have supplied the resources for a margin of excellence at Florida State. The success of The Presidents Club concept is evident when one realizes that this organization, which began with 80 members, now has grown to more than 1100 individuals dedicated to the academic excellence of Florida State University. We would like to thank all of our members for their continued support of The Presidents Club and Florida State University.

For more information about The Presidents Club please contact The FSU Foundation, at 644-6000.

Now high-performance can be experienced in a different kind of vehicle.

The new Toshiba 32-inch Super TUBE™ TV with Super Carver Sonic Holography.®

The Super TUBE™ does for TV what turbocharging does for engines.

The power comes from increased voltage, via a dual path electron gun and eight larger lenses.

Perhaps, a few quotes from the February 1990 issue of Video Review will help put all this technology in its proper perspective.

When judged against seven other big screen TV's, the new 32-inch Super TUBE, TV was unanimously voted as having "...the best picture..." As well as being "...more than 50% brighter than other sets..." with "...great focus, superb edge sharpness, and fine brightness..."

And it comes loaded with features, all standard of course, that make it easy to control and incredibly responsive.

Including remote-controlled swivel motors that allow the TV and two of its six speakers to each turn 15 degrees left or right.

Finally, there's a television for people who want high-performance in their living-room, as well as in their garage.

THE GREATEST SHOW IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL

rom the pregame ritual to the fourth-quarter fanfare, from the opening kickoff to the last tick of the clock, nothing can compare to the pageantry and excitement of Seminole football. On a warm September night or a sunny November afternoon, fall Saturdays in Tallahassee mean only one thing — Florida State football.

The fun of FSU football Saturdays has become a tradition for Seminole fans, just as winning has become a tradition for their Seminole football teams. The excitement begins with the pregame tailgate parties and builds as game time gets nearer.

Minutes before kickoff, the drama comes to a fever pitch. Every eye is riveted on the north end zone. Suddenly, FSU mascots Chief Osceola and Renegade burst out of the tunnel onto the playing field, followed by Head Coach Bobby Bowden and the Seminole team.

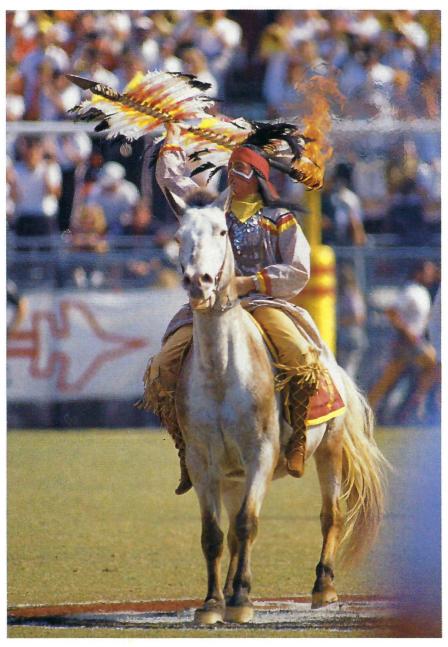

Renegade, a beautiful Appaloosa horse owned by Tallahasseean Bill Durham, gallops the length of the field. Riding Renegade, holding a 10-foot flaming spear, is Chief Osceola. The Chief, an FSU student carefully chosen and groomed for this moment, wears an authentic costume designed specifically for Florida State University by Seminole Indians. His face is covered with grease-based makeup with garnet and gold stripes added in FSU fashion.

Meanwhile, the nationally-ranked Seminole cheerleaders encourage the packed and frenzied Campbell Stadium crowd and the Marching Chiefs, FSU's 400-strong marching band, out an intimidating beat. The fans move their arms in unison to the now familiar and much-imitated Scalp 'Emcheer, following the beat of the drum. Renegade fidgets and shakes his head, awaiting the end of the coin-toss proceedings. Chief Osceola shakes the still-flaming spear over his head and the crowd roars its approval.

The game captains and referees leave midfield. The excitement reaches a crescendo. Renegade and Chief Osceola gallop to the middle of the field, where the huge Seminole head is painted. The horse rears up on his hind legs and Chief Osceola plants the fiery spear into the turf.

The roar of the crowd is deafening. A thrill goes through the crowd. The moment the spear hits the ground, an even larger cheer goes up while the Marching Chiefs start the FSU fight song in the background.

Unique to Florida State, this opening show has become a trademark of Seminole football, featured on national television and recognized by fans across the country. Nothing can compare.

FSU MARCHING CHIEFS AND CHEERLEADERS

or all the pageantry, excitement and tradition of collegiate football, nothing tops a Seminole Saturday. Every fall weekend, led by the Marching Chiefs, Renegade and Chief Osceola and the FSU Cheerleaders, raucous Seminole crowds cheer their Florida State team to victory after victory.

The Marching Chiefs, almost 400 members strong, are the band behind the Florida State fight song. They are as much a part of college football in Tallahassee as the game itself. Since 1951, the Chiefs have provided football fans with the best in musical entertainment in their pregame and halftime shows.

Through their colorful and exciting presentations, the Marching Chiefs have earned international acclaim with their performances.

The Chiefs', whose entourage includes feature twirlers, majorettes and flag girls, represents every school and college in the university. In addition to home game performances, the Chiefs travel to many out of town games to provide the Seminoles with the sounds of home.

In 1991, Patrick Dunnigan will serve as director of the Chiefs under the direction of James Croft, FSU director of bands, and the Acting Dean of the School of Music, Jon Piersol. Charles Carter will again serve as associate director and arranger while Bob Thurston will help both in his role as graduate assistant. The 1991 drum major is Robert J. Evans and the assistant drum major is Greg Johns.

Florida State's 16-member cheerleading squad promotes the FSU football team wherever it goes, which lately has included trips to national competitions. Annually one of the top squads in the nation, their enthusiastic cheers and precision stunts bring out the Seminole spirit in every fan.

ALMA MATER

High o'er the towering pines our voices swell,

Praising those Gothic spires we love so well,

Here sons and daughters stand, faithful and true.

Hailing our Alma Mater, FSU.

FIGHT SONG

Music by Thomas Wright Words by Doug Alley

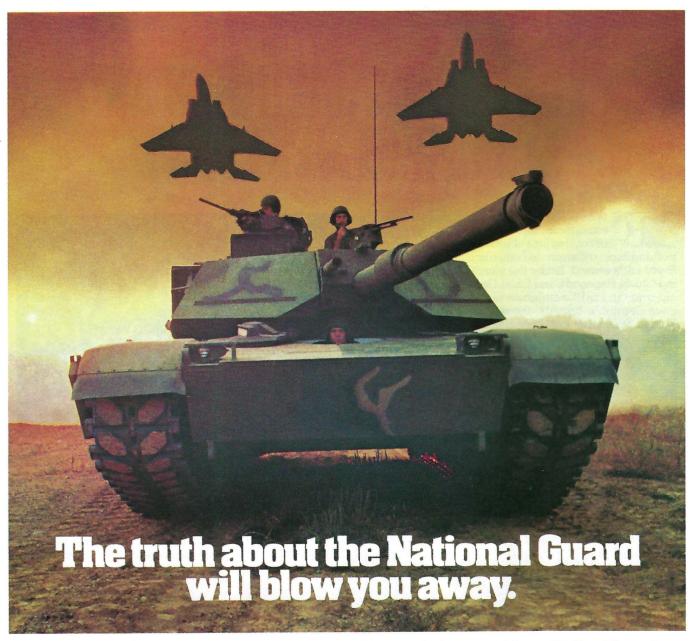

You've got to fight, fight, fight for FSU. You've got to scalp 'em Seminoles. You've got to win, win, win this game and roll on down to make those goals.

For FSU is on the warpath now and at the battle's end, she's great. So fight, fight, fight to victory, our Seminoles from Florida State. (Yell) F-L-O-R-I-D-A S-T-A-T-E Florida State! Florida State! Florida State!

(Repeat Song)

We live next door to you.

We work with you. We teach your children. Build your homes. Pilot and maintain commercial airlines. Even repair your automobiles.

We're from all walks of life. And while we're really no different from you, something very important sets us apart.

We're America's citizen-soldiers. Dedicated to coming to your aid at a moment's notice. To protect your home. And defend our homeland. Yet, most Americans are unaware of just how many ways they depend on us.

On the frontline in Operation Desert Storm. On the frontline in the War on Drugs. On the frontline in local and state emergencies. On the frontline in nation-building efforts around the world. The Guard is there, defending the National interest, protecting our citizens and adding value to our states and nation.

The truth is that almost half the Army's combat units belong to the Army National Guard. You'll find us using the latest technology and equipment. From state of the art artillery units in Desert Storm to engineering and medical units helping our international neighbors.

And the Air National Guard? Today, we're a major contributor in all Air Force missions. From frontline fighter aircraft, medical evacuation and engineering units, to tactical and strategic airlift, and aerial refueling aircraft. We were airborne in the first hours of Desert Shield and Desert Storm.

We face other enemies, too. Fighting alongside the U.S. Border Patrol and U.S. Customs Service, we help keep millions of dollars worth of illegal drugs from ever reaching our children.

The National Guard was formed to protect our colonies over 350 years ago. Close to 186,000 Guardsmen were killed or wounded overseas during World War II. Almost the same number were called to action during the Korean War. In Vietnam, Guardsmen received over 1,700 medals for bravery. In Operation Desert Storm, 72,000 Guardsmen were called to duty with over 40,000 serving in the Gulf.

Unlike other branches of the Armed Forces, the National Guard's charge is two-fold. Times of disaster, strife and need find the National Guard always ready to lend a hand—whether it's halfway around the world or right in our own backyard.

The National Guard is the finest men and women of your hometown. We're skilled. Capable. Intelligent. We're Americans at their best.

And that's the truth.

Americans At Their Best. GUARD

IF YOU THINK THE SEMINOLES ARE HAVING ANOTHER GOOD SEASON, JUST WAIT 'TIL NEXT YEAR.

Florida State football fans have come to expect great things from the Seminoles, and this season is no exception.

But come next year, things will get even better. That's because Jefferson-Pilot Sports, the producer of ACC Football for television the past eight years, will be presenting all of the excitement of ACC Football, including the Seminoles. This season, you can get a taste of ACC Football in all the major markets in Florida. Just check local listings for the station carrying the games you want to see.

So, if you can't watch the Seminoles play at Doak Campbell Stadium next year, the next best thing to being there is watching the total television coverage of Jefferson-Pilot Sports.

COACH BOBBY BOWDEN SCHOLARSHIP XI $50,000

FSU: A RESEARCH INSTITUTION

In addition to teaching and service, Florida State University's faculty conduct research in diverse fields in search of answers to the mysteries and problems of our world. Below are three examples of research ongoing at Florida State, condensed from news stories produced by the FSU Media Relations Office.

Biologist wants to know why plants look like they do

Assistant Professor Tom Miller

Since the 19th century, scientists have known that plants and animals survive by adapting to their environments. But scientists still know little about how plants adapt to changing conditions. Funded by a National Science Foundation grant, FSU Assistant Professor Thomas E. Miller wants to change that.

"Unfortunately, we can't see plants capture and take prey, so we don't know which traits are related to being competitive," said Miller. "Because of that, we don't know what traits evolved in just trying to obtain resources like water and nutrients. We don't know why plants look like they do."

To help him find out, Miller is growing Brassica rapa, a relative of the Brussels sprout commonly called "rape." Once the plants flower, he takes the healthiest, cross-pollinates them and replants the seeds they produce. He can then compare the new plants with characteristics found in the original ones.

Perhaps more importantly, Miller is depriving some of the plants of soil nutrients and water to understand how they adapt. He is also taking the experiment a step further by growing some of the rape in competition with Raphanus sativus, the common radish, work that could have implications for agriculture.

"What should happen is that the plants should become better competitors for resources," he said.

The questions are which plants do what, when and under what conditions. In fact, Miller said, the diversity of possible strategies of competition may help explain why we have so many plant species around us.

Chaos changing conceptions of health

A relatively new field of science called "chaos" may change radically man's understanding of how the human brain works, says a Florida State University professor.

"It's not fair to say that the existence of chaos in the brain is firmly concluded, but the research is very suggestive," said Dennis Duke, an associate professor of physics in FSU's Supercomputer Computations Research Institute, "It says that old models in which the brain was more like a computer are likely to be limited at best—and probably just flat wrong."

The idea of the brain as a chaotic system means that the brain responds to stimuli — tastes or math problems, for example — not along a single linear path, but in a more complicated and unpredictable manner.

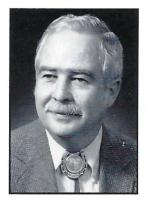

"It's reasonable to think that the more variables there are at work, the more powerful and the healthier your brain would be," Duke said. "What chaos allows you to do is to quantify that statement — to measure how many variables are at work on a given task or under a certain condition."

Work by Duke and his colleagues has shown a link between chaos and Alzheimer's disease. Other possible uses for measuring chaos, Duke said, include determining what happens in the brain when someone is asleep or under anesthesia.

El Nino: A Friend for Smokey Bear

State and federal officials may save thousands of acres of Florida's forests each year by monitoring weather phenomena in the Pacific Ocean, say researchers at Florida State University.

Cathy Stephens, a recent graduate of FSU's meteorology department, found the number of acres burned in south and central Florida decreases after a weather phenomenon called El Nino, and increases after a related event named El Viejo.

"If we have an El Nino, we have cold wet winters with fewer acres being burned," she said. "But if we have an El Viejo, we tend to have a warm dry winter and a lot of acres being burned."

El Nino, Spanish for "The Child," is the term used to designate periodic unusually warm sea-surface temperatures off the western coast of South America. El Viejo, discovered in 1986, is just the opposite. Spanish for "The Old Man," it describes the periodic unusually cold sea-surface temperatures in the same region.

Lasting only a few months, both events occur generally every three to seven years and last six to 18 months.

Meteorology and oceanography Professor James J. O'Brien, who directed Stephens' research, said the El Nino moves warmer water eastward toward Ecuador and Peru, pushing the subtropical jet stream across the Gulf of Mexico and onto the Florida peninsula, resulting in a decrease in the number of acres burned in a given year.

O'Brien, an internationally known expert on El Nino, heads one of three teams in the nation that forecast El Ninos and El Viejos.

A CLASSIC ACHIEVER

e is not your prototype noseguard. He is too short and too light, according to the experts. But at 5-11, 244 pounds, James Chaney is not an overachiever; he is simply an achiever. Since starting for North Fort Myers High as a freshman, Chaney has been attaining the goals people tell him he cannot reach.

Chaney, now a senior at Florida State, started at noseguard for four years in his native North Fort Myers. He capped off his prep career with first team 4A all-state honors. Yet, despite a successful high school career, colleges backed off.

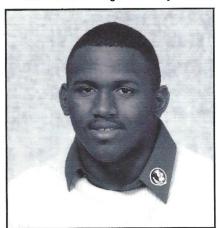

Defensive line coach Chuck Amato remembers recruiting Chaney.

"We had no interest in James because of his size," Amato said. "He came to the Bobby Bowden Summer Football Camp and just sold himself to us. He possessed exactly what you're looking for: good character, a hard worker, and a winner."

How did Chaney overcome his size to become a two-year starter and a standout on the nation's topranked team? Simple, strength and smarts. Chaney is one of the Tribe's strongest players. He is an avid weightlifter, maxing out with a 460-pound bench press. James also possesses great football sense. He is a thinker out on the field.

Chaney's rise to the starting position was anything but easy. James was one of only four members of his freshman class to letter.

"The coaches figured they would find another noseguard, so there was no need to redshirt him and keep him around for five years," Amato recalled. "After the second or third game, we needed him. James responded well. He played quite a bit for a true freshman."

Chaney benefited from backing up All-American Odell Haggins his sophomore season. Hampered by an ankle injury most of the year, he entered the 1990 season banged up a bit. Nevertheless, Chaney expected to begin 1990 as a starter.

Well 1990 came, but Chaney wasn't starting. The coaches, looking for bulk, inserted Joe Ostaszewski into the starting lineup. Ostaszewski went down with a knee injury. It appeared Chaney would get his chance, but Bowden and company opted for the bigger John Nance. Nance suffered the same fate as Ostaszewski. The coaches were forced to play Chaney. Since then, the coaching staff has been trying to replace him, but James just won't let them.

Chaney remembers the beginning of that 1990 season all too well. "I was really down in the dumps," he said. "But I just kept working and working. Once I got in there, I'd prove to them I belonged on the field, not the sideline."

Chaney certainly proved he belonged as a starter. James played possibly his best game in his first start of the season. Nobody can take his starting role now.

"We won a lot of games with that youngster out there," Amato said. "That shows James is something special."

Chaney does add something special to this Seminole team. Besides overcoming doubts to become a starter, James emerged as a personality leader. He is the team jokester.

"I feel I'm an outgoing person. I get along well with everybody on the team," Chaney said. "My team-

James Chaney's consistent play at noseguard has provided the opportunity for stellar linebackers like Marvin Jones and Kirk Carruthers to rack up their impressive tackle totals.

mates can come and talk to me about everything."

Chaney can certainly break the monotony of any tense situation. "Last season, I'm not quite sure which game it was, we were getting driven against pretty easily. The guys started getting on each other," James reminisced. "Well, Kirk (Carruthers), he's our captain and calls the huddle. Being the noseguard, I stand right in front of him. He barked out the play and I threw back at him, 'Kirk, why don't you go to the sideline and take a Scope break!' We loosened up and stopped the drive."

Chaney will receive his degree in criminology this summer. By then James' football career will probably be over. Ten to fifteen years from now people will never believe he played noseguard for FSU. But Chaney has faced those doubts before.

"I think I'm known as a guy who plays good football. My teammates don't view me as an overachiever—just a noseguard that can get the job done," Chaney declared. "I've been successful and its commonplace now."

Yes, it's commonplace to see James Chaney playing well. After all, he is an achiever.

at Florida State, Johnson was forced into the background during the time most are reveling in glory.

"I know it's tough for Brad, but he has handled it so well," Bowden said. "That's a case of having his priorities in life."

There is more to life than football and Johnson realized that long ago.

"That's the chance you take when you come to a school like Florida State," Johnson said of his limited role as a senior. "But when I made my decision to attend Florida State, I asked myself if I never played here would I be happy in Tallahassee? All things considered, I'm very happy here."

Not your average student, or athlete, Johnson's summers follow that same trend.

"I know this sounds funny, but playing sports can be boring," Johnson admitted. "Maybe monotonous is a better word, but you just go through the same routine. When I have some time, I like to do something exciting."

What excites a man who has starred in two sports at the top level? Climbing the equivalent of the Empire State building and the Sears Tower on the school's Stairmaster? Try white water rafting? Or camping in the Grand Canyon? Not enough? How about skydiving?

That's how Johnson's "How I Spent My Summer Vacation" essay would read. Two years ago, he went white water rafting down the roaring Colorado River. That was a step up on the excitement meter from the previous summer, when he camped and paddled down another western tributary. But even the most seasoned outdoorsman would admit that last summer's adventure took the cake.

"Well, you've got to qualify for a free fall dive and I didn't have time to do that, so I was strapped to an experienced sky diver," Johnson said.

As Brad Johnson sees his career at Florida State wind down, he is certainly not one who could say he left anything undone. In fact, he has a new idea in mind.

"I saw a special on hang gliding the other day..."

Just another experience for Florida State's All-American boy.

Although he hasn't played basketball for Florida State in two years, following graduation this spring Brad Johnson plans to return to his first love, basketball, to embark on a career as a coach.

set high. His first goal is to win the national championship, "As a team we have a great chance at doing it (winning). That's first and foremost in my mind." Next is becoming an All-American at the end of the season, then becoming a candidate for the Outland Award, and eventually getting drafted to the National Football League.

When asked about his most memorable moments at Florida State, Mancini stated that all of the years he's played here have been memorable. The numbers back up that claim. Since 1988, Mancini has been involved in a program consistently ranked in the top 10 nationally. Each year, the Seminoles have had a chance to win the national title, only to fall short.

During Mancini's tenure, the Seminoles are a stellar 31-5.

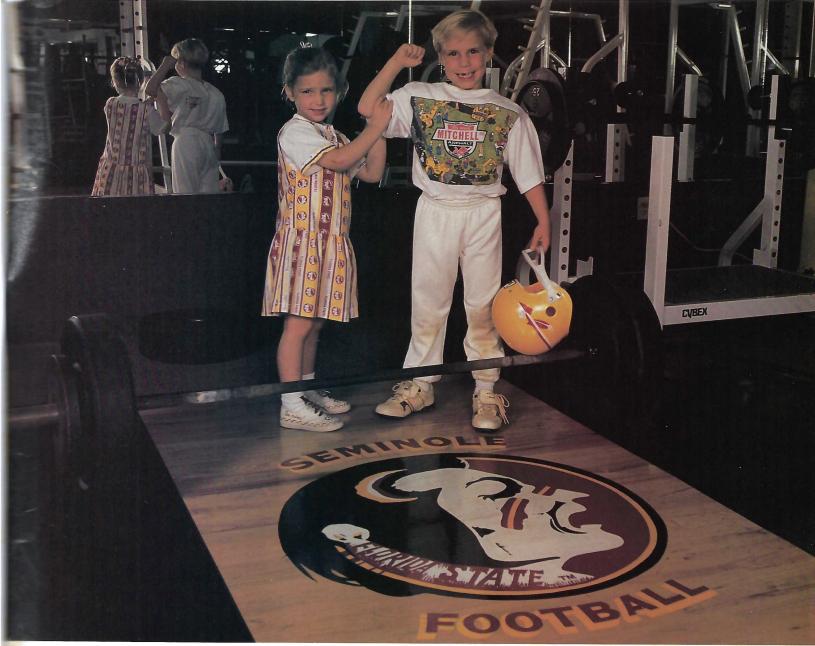

"We've been in the hunt at one point during every season (for the national championship)," Mancini said. "Unfortunately we've always done something to miss. The seniors on this team are hungry for the national championship. We've been there and we've blown it the last three years. This is our year to show what we're made of and to show that we can win this thing."

Mancini takes one game at a time, and this year, "if we beat every opponent we'll have that ring at the end of the year."

Florida State's Kevin Mancini is many things. But he is no "ordinary football player", if indeed there is such a thing. He is extremely interested in life as it comes. He cares for his parents and family. His education is important, and he sees in our future what many do not. He is a person who has felt like quitting, but refuses to do so. He is a distinguished senior leader of the Seminole football team deserving of All-America honors. He already has the characteristics of a great role model for children because of his insight to life in general.

Truly, in the case of Kevin Mancini, the old axiom is true. You really can't judge a book by its cover.

An English major at Florida State, Jessica Reo is in her third year as a student assistant in the FSU Sports Information Office.

Strategic Questions in FSU Football

What Southeastern Conference football team has FSU beaten 6 out of 7 games? (Hint: This team's stadium — even its nickname — strikes fear into the hearts of opposing teams.)

FSU has beaten the LSU Tigers six times since the two powerhouse teams began playing in 1979. Nicknamed "Death Valley," Tiger Stadium — generally considered to favor LSU — has been the site of five of FSU's wins over LSU.

What infamous play — involving strategy, execution, research, timing and sheer determination — did FSU use to win a surprise victory over this ACC rival?

This is a tough one. The answer is too long to print here, but we'll fax it to you. Just call 904/386-6161 and Don, our resident Seminole expert, will send you the answer the same day.
