FROM THE PRESS BOX

By Rob Wilson, Associate Athletics Director of Communications

CHARLIE WARD, FSU's first Heisman Trophy winner back in 1993, will be honored prior to the game on his 25th anniversary of winning the award.

Welcome to the Florida State vs. Boston College game.

Among the many ancillary events today, including a fly-over by a B52 Stratofortress whose wingspan is just a few feet short of the width of Bobby Bowden field, is one that will make us all feel a bit older.

Just before kickoff, representatives from the Heisman Trophy Trust will join interim athletics director David Coburn on Bobby Bowden Field to honor Charlie Ward on the 25th anniversary of his Heisman Trophy season.

Twenty five years since Charlie won the Heisman? Twenty five years since the 1993 national championship season? Twenty five years since FSU football joined the nation's elite?

It just can't be, can it?

If the calendar is not proof enough for you, the flecks of grey in Charlie's beard should be.

But let's go back 26 years before basking in that anniversary season.

It was a simpler time for certain in 1992. The Seminoles were playing their first season ever as members of the ACC, and the sports world was blissfully free of social media. Imagine the outrage of today's "keyboard quarterbacks" when we closed the 1991 season with a loss at Florida in which we scored just nine points (14-9) and "squeezed by" Texas A&M 10-2 in a frigid Cotton Bowl game.

Optimism was high entering the 1992 season with the Noles sitting at fourth in the preseason polls and FSU fans were eager to cheer on what was predicted to be a nearly unstoppable offense.

We dispatched Duke easily in the opener despite Ward suffering four interceptions. The next week would be even more concerning when he again threw four interceptions in an edge-of-your-seat 24-20 win at No. 15 Clemson. Now, what do you think the message boards would be like in today's environment? Most would have already written off the new starting quarterback who, by the way, would go on to become the most decorated player in the history of college football, just three games into his career as FSU's starting QB.

The 19-16 loss at Miami in game five of 1992 was a crushing blow even though it was a match-up of No. 2 vs. No. 3, which to be fair is one of the positive aspects of today's game. At least the college football playoff has made losses like that less impactful by providing both the winner and the loser of a match-up like that a chance to compete for the national title.

So we wrap up 1992 with a 27-14 win over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl for an 11-1 record and final AP ranking of No. 2, which set up a season for the ages for the Seminoles and their revered quarterback.

Last week's game at Notre Dame brought memories for so many. That 1993 game, of course, was tabbed the "Game of the Century" and NBC spent quality time on the broadcast skillfully portraying just how significant the game was to all of college football.

And in the middle of all that was Ward.

Doug Flutie, who called last week's game for NBC and is a Heisman winner himself, admitted on air that he was "a Charlie Ward fan" in 1993. Flutie went on to mention how much he loved to watch him play.

Ironically, on Nov. 6 our men's basketball team opened the season with a rout of Florida (81-60), and former Virginia point guard Cory Alexander was the TV analyst. I'll paraphrase here, but he said that he was a huge Charlie Ward football fan as were many of his teammates. He said they all loved to watch Charlie play, but the difference was that he would have to play against him on the basketball court just a few weeks later.

I wonder if a transcendent player that can change the course of an athletics program, if not an entire institution, would be given a chance to grow into that role in today's atmosphere.
